

OBERLIN Alumni MAGAZINE

KOCN

590 on your dial

NOVEMBER 1950

Losses in the Oberlin Family

1890

On June 1, 1950, James M. Ackley passed away at his home in Chicago, Illinois.

After receiving a B.A. degree from Oberlin, Mr. Ackley went to Chicago where he was in the real estate business for three years. He then moved to Cripple Creek, Colorado, where he was in the book and stationery business and did some mining. For a number of years, Mr. Ackley farmed near Canisteo, New York.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Grace Leavitt Ackley, '90, and daughter, Mrs. Helen Ackley Sauer, x'16.

1891

Dr. James B. McCord, distinguished veteran Congregational Christian medical missionary of the American Board of Foreign Missions in Africa for over 40 years and founder of the McCord Zulu Hospital, the first hospital for Africans in Natal Province, died October 5, 1950, in his home at Oakham, Massachusetts.

Dr. McCord not only established in 1909 the first hospital for the inhabitants of Natal, but later introduced the training of African nurses, midwives and medical aids.

Dr. McCord was a graduate of Northwestern University (M.D. 1894) and practiced medicine in Lake City, Iowa, for several years prior to his going to Natal.

In 1940, he retired to his home in Oakham, Massachusetts.

Survivors are his wife Mrs. Margaret Mellen McCord, '93; his daughters, Mrs. Mary M. Parsons, '22, and Mrs. Margaret M. Nixon, '39; and two sons, William, '28, and Robert, x'23.

Mrs. William G. Frost (Eleanor Marsh) died in College Hospital, Berea, Kentucky, on July 17, 1950.

Mrs. Frost graduated with a diploma of the literary course and was married to William G. Frost, '76, soon after her graduation. At that time Mr. Frost was a member of the Oberlin faculty.

She went with her husband to Berea in 1892 when he became president of Berea College and made her home there for the rest of her life.

In recognition of Mrs. Frost's untiring efforts in behalf of the college and its students, Berea College presented her with an honorary degree of doctor of laws in 1945. The citation read in part:

"I have the honor of presenting for the doctor of laws Mrs. Eleanor Marsh Frost, believer in the common people, friend of the Southern Mountains, educator, guide of youth and benefactor par excellence of Berea College.

"An alumna of Oberlin College . . . heholder of visions for Berea College through service of husband and children . . . friend and counsellor of the cultured and privileged donor and of the underprivileged freedman and mountaineer . . . sponsor in the inauguration of Sunday evening chapel service . . . pioneer in the training of women in the economics of the art of home-making . . . founder of the Women's Industrial of Union Church and of the Country Homes of Berea College . . . confidante of the mother in the cabin and of her children in college."

Mrs. Frost is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Edith Colbert and two sons: Wesley, '07, and Norman, '09.

1896

On August 26, 1950, Freeman P. Phipps passed away at his home in Salem, Oregon.

Mr. Phipps received the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy from Oberlin and taught in a small college in Fairfield, Illinois, during his first year out of college. As principal of the high school, he was in Anoka, Minnesota, for two years, and in 1899 he became the Superintendent of Schools in Farmington, Minnesota. From 1906 to 1910 he held a similar position in Winnebago, Minnesota.

During five summers he taught in the Minnesota summer training schools for teachers.

In 1910 Mr. Phipps moved to Oregon where he was a fruit farmer in Hermiston; later he grew filberts at Salem.

Surviving is a daughter, Mrs. Fred Klaus.

1899

Anna G. Brightman, veteran teacher, passed away at her home in St. Louis, Missouri, August 16, 1950.

For many years, Miss Brightman taught in Ohio schools: Lorain, Norwalk, Mansfield, and Cleveland. She also taught in the public schools of LaPorte, Indiana, and St. Louis, Missouri.

Miss Brightman spent the latter part of her life, after retiring because of ill health, in St. Louis.

She is survived by one sister, Mrs. Rachel B. Rawdon, '04.

Mrs. Wilfred H. Sherk (Bertha Doane) died at the home of her son, Wilfred, in Park Forest, Illinois, June 26, 1950.

Mrs. Sherk was married soon after her graduation from Oberlin and lived in Oberlin until 1904. Her husband taught in the Academy, while for two years she was an assistant in the College Library.

Following short stays in Chicago and Akron, the Sherks moved to Buffalo, New York in 1906. Mrs. Sherk continued living there even after her husband's death in 1929. For the year prior to her death, Mrs. Sherk had been living with her son.

In addition to Wilfred, a daughter, Mrs. Miriam S. Smoot, x'32, survives.

1901

On October 5, 1950, Rev. Noble W. Conkle, t. died in a Rhinelander, Wisconsin, hospital from complications resulting from a stroke.

In 1896-97, Rev. Conkle was enrolled in Oberlin College as a special student and for the next four years he was enrolled in the Theological Seminary. He was graduated in 1901 with a diploma but with no degree.

He retired in 1940 from the active ministry after serving Congregational pastorates in North Dakota and Wisconsin. For the last ten years of his life, he made his home in Three Lakes, Wisconsin, his last charge.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Myrtle Conkle, and a daughter, Mrs. Harold Rafoth.

1922

Mrs. Earle B. Adams (Dorothea Thompson) died in Wilton, Maine, on July 19, 1950.

Prior to her marriage in 1929, Mrs. Adams taught high school in Pestone and Rochelle, Illinois, and Port Jarvis, New York.

She and her husband made their home in Portland, Maine. Following his death in 1939, Mrs. Adams clerked in a dairy for a year and then took a course at Valparaiso University. From 1942 on, she lived in Wilton and taught high school in Jay, Maine.

She is survived by two daughters, Earlene and Mary Ellen.

Necrology

1881 Rev. William J. Turner, October 10, 1950, Geneva, Ill.

1895 Mrs. Charles H. Adams (Margaret Jones), November 18, 1950, Oberlin, Ohio.

1896 Rev. H. William Stiles, September 21, 1950, Elgin, Ill.

1908 Mrs. Courtland L. Booth (Juanita Snyder), October 31, 1950, Portland, Ore.

1910 T. Bronson Jewell, Jr., November 5, 1950, New York, N. Y.

1911 Lee M. Terrill, October 23, 1950, San Antonio, Texas.

1916 Mrs. Donald M. Hetler (Rossleene Arnold), November 1, 1950, Missoula, Mont.

1923 Dr. Edward Capps, h, August 21, 1950, Princeton, N. J.

1928 Theodor I. Weiss, September 2, 1950, Hamilton, Ohio.

1937 Dr. Stephan Duggan, h, August 18, 1950, Stamford, Conn.

WE AIM TO GIVE COMPLETE
BANKING SATISFACTION

The
OBERLIN SAVINGS BANK COMPANY

The Convenient Bank on the Corner
Member F. D. I.C. and Federal Reserve System

OBERLIN ALUMNI

VOLUME 47

MAGAZINE

NUMBER 1

Member, American Alumni Council

LUELLA MCCALL A, '48

Editor

C. ROBERT KEESEY, '45
General Alumni Secretary

MRS. STELLA S. KNIGHT
Advertising & Circulation

In This Issue

LOSSES IN THE OBERLIN FAMILY: Death Notices	2
REPORT FROM PUERTO RICO	3
HORSE AND BUGGY DAYS, by Robert S. Fletcher, '20, Illustrated by Roger W. Brucker, '51	4,5
UNDER THE ELMS, by Ella C. Parmenter, '15	6-8
THE CAMPUS COMMENTATOR: Student Views of Oberlin News, by Roger W. Brucker, '51	9
FACULTY NEWS, by Ella C. Parmenter, '15	10,11
ATHLETICS, by William I. Judson	12
MING HSIEN GOES HOME: A Report on Oberlin-in-China	13
CLASS OF 1950 IN REVIEW: Class Directory, Compiled by Dorothy M. Smith, '29	14-31

Cover Photograph by A. E. Princeborn

590 ON YOUR RADIO DIAL

... is a campus byword since November 5 when KOCN, new Oberlin College network went on the air. At the initial program, the radio audience went "behind the mike" to see just how a pre-broadcast hour sounds. A special feature presented President Stevenson, Bill Thurber, '52, chief engineer, (at left) Bob Chamberlain, '51, station director, and other campus leaders.

Already, Bob and Bill and their fellow radio enthusiasts have rendered many special services to campus listeners including the tabulations of election returns and presentation of campus opinion.

Campus listeners agree that the station's ambitious plans for future programs promise students uniformly good listening at 590!

Report from Puerto Rico

Box 198

San Sebastian

Puerto Rico

September 25, 1950

"Having definitely decided graduation week to head for Puerto Rico, I set sail July 13 sans job for Destination Dubious. An almost universal comment, when no other could be found was, 'Well, it will be an experience anyway.' I have this week finished eight weeks of experience—teaching in a Puerto Rican rural grade school. I teach English in three grades—second, fourth, and fifth—and am officially in charge of the fourth (aritmética, Educación física y arte). Because of lack of facilities, these grades meet only half a day. I began with nary an instruction in English or Spanish nor even an orphaned text-book to console me, but the medium of instruction has never been a problem. The kids don't understand English. The consequence is too obvious to mention; I teach in Spanish!

"Life at the little school has been simply—a Riot. In fact, I have had many problems—(which are entirely unrelated to Progressive Education, or so it would seem.) Discipline has been a Constant Struggle, though I must admit, even when I am being my fiercest and the disorder is at its wildest, I sometimes burst out laughing. (Which doesn't help at all.)

"I am located in the mountains of the west end of the island. The setting is lush and tropical. Red earth and green hills—covered with banana and palm trees, sugar cane, coffee, orange, pana and bamboo trees fill the landscape. The roaring river and the song of the tiny birds or the sound of a heavy tropic rain in the day alternate with the cool night sounds of a continual chorus of frogs and crickets—operating at an astonishing volume.

"I am one of nine young people at El Guacio, a church-sponsored project of many aspects, aimed towards an integrated rural community. Our finca or farm is devoted in part to experimental agriculture and animal breeding. We have an organized consumer coop, Women's Sewing Cooperative, and an embryo bamboo industry. The health program and clinic service is impressive (about 80 to 90 per cent of the people are infected with parasites and malnutrition is extensive) and our social worker is in contact with about 250 families among the hills. I am working with the club and recreation program.

"Ruth Bowers Latimer, '37, was my first contact in Puerto Rico. The first week here I met Bob Mosher and his friends from the Mayaguez work camp and later spent several days with Nan Nichols, '50, and Paul Schmidt, '52, living very much the simple life at their summer work camp at Las Cabezas.

"To me, Puerto Rico is a curious mixture of American and Latin culture. 'Twas with considerable reverence and not a little nostalgia that I buried my literary Spanish and carefully-cultivated Mexicanisms to convert myself to a Jibara. Still it is gratifying to have personal contact with the political thought and economic and social problems of this unusual Latin-American Isle, inhabited by a Spanish-speaking people, themselves U.S. citizens but their country only a U.S. Territory.

"Yesterday, I went with my roommate to Lares, for the celebration of the revolutionary outbreak there of 1868. I heard (and met) Albizu Campos, the Nationalist leader, now three years returned from his federal imprisonment after the Ponce Massacre. The Insular Police and the F.B.I. were in evidence, but the crowd, though cheering his contempt and denouncement of America, was not impressive."

—CAROL WESTERMAN, '50

Carol, a 1950 graduate of Oberlin, is teaching in the public school system in San Sebastian, but her services are provided by the Mission. Otherwise, the schools would not have enough teachers for the student population.

Horse and Buggy Days

By Robert S. Fletcher, '20

Illustrated by Roger W. Brucker, '51

THE OLD STONE watering trough in the little park on Vine Street now holds petunias in season. There is one lonesome hitching post on East College, one on South Professor and another on Forest. Elm Street still has three. The more numerous mounting blocks have become rather stumbling blocks. Originally intended to help the ladies climb into carriages, they reach about half way up the windows of some of the swankier automobiles. These are the fast-disappearing archaeological remains of our horse and buggy days.

With wooden sidewalks, mirey, unsurfaced streets and no running water, the Oberlin of the seventies and eighties presented a rather unsightly appearance, especially in winter and early spring. A disillusioned student from Colorado wrote home to his parents in January, 1883:

The weather is awful nasty here at present, freezing and thawing all the time . . . The town can get up more and worse stench than any town that I ever saw. The streets abound in dead cats. . . . I shall not stay here through the spring, for it would be a near approach to hell.

But both town and college were proud of the material progress being made. A stone pavement was laid in the early nineties in the middle of East College. Citizens were warned not to use it except in muddy weather. Driving on it in dry weather, they were told, would wear out the pavement, damage the carriage and injure the horse. About the same time the hay scales were removed from under the historic elm, and an electric trolley was built from Elyria. After that, for over thirty years, the high, green cars plunged and bucked, rattling and flashing, down College Street and screamed around the curve at the Main Street corner.

A city water system was installed, the water being pumped up from the reservoir on Morgan Street into a tank in the top of Warner Hall. The standpipe near the pumping plant came into use near the end of the century. Professor A. A. Wright was the special sponsor of the waterworks, and Director Rice of the Conservatory was the head of the board of sewer commissioners.

Lighting with manufactured gas was introduced before the Civil War, but Oberlin had a long, dark spell in 1889 after the gas plant on Plum Creek blew up. New gas works were built south of the railroad, and, early in the next decade, electricity arrived, and Oberlin citizens immediately began talking about a municipal power plant—a prime subject of conversation ever since. Long distance telephone wires were run into town in 1895. The first phone book was issued in 1899. The News Printing Company's phone number was one. The Conservatory Office was 58. Talcott Hall was 47, and Lord was 75.

Students, of course, were not allowed to own horses and buggies, but they could have bicycles. In 1883 the Review reported that "the ten bicyclists in town" had organized the Oberlin College Bicycle Club. A certain Walter Stone was elected "Captain and Bugler." Ten years later everybody was riding: students, delivery boys, ladies, and professors. "They are allowed free use of the sidewalks," said the town paper, and advised pedestrians: "If you hear a bell behind you, jump."

On August 14, 1894, three professors rode to Cleveland and back in the morning, then took another ride in the afternoon. The next year the Oberlin Cinder Path Association was organized and built a bicycle racing path around the square and other paths to Elyria and the lake. That spring the Cook Brothers held the grand opening of their bicycle shop, and fifteen wheels were sold in the first week. George Cook was a little late for the ceremony, having been delayed somewhat bicycling up the 1700 miles from New Orleans.

This was one of the great construction eras in the history of the college plant. You may not believe it, but none of our present buildings has been in college use for more than seventy years.

In the early eighties the ladies' literary societies collected enough money for the erection of Sturges Hall, dedicated from the beginning to various kinds of broadcasting. Shortly after one midnight in January, 1886, the only women's dormitory burned down. The assistant dean of women wrote of the event in a letter to a friend:

Our young ladies behaved themselves beautifully—they neither screamed nor fainted. The young men were very gallant, and after the girls had left their rooms, rescued what was left.

Talcott, which replaced the burned dormitory, Peters, Warner and Baldwin were all built in the eighties. Of these, Peters, Talcott and Baldwin were designed by the firm of Weary and Kramer of Akron, who described themselves on their letterheads as architects of "courthouses, prisons and jails." Lord Cottage, dating from the nineties and planned primarily for self-supporting co-eds and the daughters of missionaries, was also the work of the prison architects. The close of the period was marked by the erection of the chemistry laboratory and Warner Gymnasium.

Oberlin had its purple moments, like the time the circus approached the outskirts of the village, and when the constable was shot to death. But both town and college did their best to set limits to sin, especially billiards and card playing, tobacco, alcohol and having fun on Sunday. When a billiard parlor was started the ladies set up a picket line. In 1895 a distinguished alumnus listed among the five most important Oberlin traditions: "exemption from the use of tobacco"; and the founding of the Anti-Saloon League was one of Oberlin's proudest achievements. Some people, it is true, thought that the college girls ought to be allowed to take walks on Sunday afternoon, provided, of course, they were not escorted by young men. One Sunday in the spring of 1883 some boys were caught playing baseball. The next Friday at a general assembly in the chapel the punishment determined upon by the faculty was announced: two were suspended for a year, three for the remainder of the semester, and eight were publicly reprimanded. A co-ed wrote of the event to her father: "Hardly one of that long row of professors on the platform but was overcome and wiping his eyes . . . It has worn on them severely." "I think," she added, "it will do some of the boys good."

But, at least on week days, it was the rah-rah age of college sport, when the lack of trained coaches, stadiums, press agents and organized recruiting was made up for by the superfluity of personal and institutional animosity. Oberlin was right in there pitching and carrying the ball.

Baseball became a national and local craze after Appomattox. The Michigan-Oberlin game was a high point of each year, and apparently the losers always charged the winners with trickery, mayhem or bribing the referee. One of the most effective pitchers left Oberlin and turned up the next year on the Michigan team. Football rivalled baseball in the nineties, when long-haired students were not intellectuals but athletes who were cheating the barber in order to grow natural helmets. That the local team did pretty well is evident from the fact that in 1893 the Columbus daily paper charged the Oberlin boys with brutality in a game with Ohio State.

Oberlin shared with the rest of the nation in various new sport enthusiasms. There were public roller rinks available in the eighties, and in the next decade John D. Rockefeller, a well-to-do kerosene manufacturer from Cleveland, gave one thousand four hundred and fifty dollars and forty cents for a college women's roller skating floor. If it hadn't been for the Harkness gift it would probably still be with us. And tennis arrived too, though it was looked upon as a pretty sissy sort of business. The town paper thought the thirty courts on Morgan Street were the best tennis grounds in America.

The intercollegiate competition that came the nearest to rivalling baseball and football was in the art of oratory. Every year Oberlin's champion spellbinder crossed hyperboles with the champions of other midwestern colleges and universities before a panel of distinguished judges from the political, legal, and academic world. There was considerable disappointment in 1879 because the local representative was rated second to Wisconsin's Robert Marion La Follette. In 1890 Oberlin was one of the charter members of the Northern Oratorical League along with Northwestern, Wisconsin and Michigan.

Most students were deeply conscious of their social responsibilities, and many of them did something about it on the local, national or international level. A large percentage of the teachers in the schools and colleges for colored freedmen in the South were Oberlin-trained. Oberlin graduates made a notable contribution at institutions like Fisk and Talladega. A number of Oberlinians went to Utah as missionaries, where thirteen of them were engaged at one time in showing the Mormons the error of their ways. An anti-polygamy plank usually turned up in mock convention platforms.

It was in these horse and buggy days that the so-called Oberlin China Band started on the road which led through the Memorial Arch to Shanshi and the present work of Oberlin-in-China. Other students participated in anti-tobacco meetings, worked in the temperance cause, signed up for the Rest Day League to promote Sabbath observance, or joined the Oberlin Spelling Reform Association. Stimulated by the courses in economics and sociology, some directed their attention and their zeal to the solution of the increasingly pressing problems peculiar to our newly industrialized and urbanized society. A number went into city missions and social settlement work. One theolog founded a Christian communist society in the South.

Conscience as well as habit kept the great majority within the ranks of the political party which had saved the Union and freed the slaves. A straw ballot taken among the seniors in 1883 showed: 20 Republicans, 6 "Independent Republicans," 4 "Independents," 3 "On the Fence," 1 "Republican Prohibitionist," and 1 "Republican Forever." No Greenbackers and no Democrats. When Garfield was elected, 700 students and townsmen climbed on a special chartered train and rode to Mentor to congratulate the successful candidate. Later, Oberlin students participated in the formation of the American Republican College League. All mock conventions were Republican.

The original founders of Oberlin College objected on principle to the granting of prizes and honors or the recording of term grades. The college should not appeal, they felt, to such low motives.

In June of 1876 the Western Reserve baseball team came to town, and Oberlin beat them unmercifully. The losers' excuse for their sorry showing was final exams. The local batsmen inquired what these might be. Upon having it explained to them, they immediately started a campaign to introduce the institution at Oberlin. The Review took up the crusade, calling upon the faculty to institute regular

(Continued on Page 11)

Under the Elms

By Ella C. Parmenter, '15

Eleven of Faculty Will Have Offices in Service Building

Construction work is underway in the Service Building, adjoining the Heating Plant, to provide new office space for faculty and for the stenographic service. The rooms are expected to be ready for occupancy by the end of the year.

Eleven faculty members, from the departments of economics, political science, and sociology and anthropology will have offices there, permitting expansion of the crowded West Lodge quarters for history, philosophy, and Romance languages faculty members.

In addition to the individual offices, storage and seminar rooms will be located in this building. These moves partially fill the need for more faculty office space.

Mock Senatorial Election Shows Students Favor Taft

Despite what some students call "general apathy toward the outside world" and public affairs, there was lively political discussion on the campus preceding election day. The Young Republicans and the Students for Democratic Action joined forces from time to time to present debates, panel discussions, and speakers on the issues of the senatorial contest in Ohio. "Our Readers Write—or Wrong," letters' column in the Review, has carried running commentary on the issues and men involved in the election just past. A mock Senate ballot cast on election day found 601 students favoring Taft in the Ohio election, with 284 voting for Ferguson, 64 voting Vegetarian, and 10 protesting a lack of desirable candidates.

Hindemith Cycle Is Performed On Pi Kappa Lambda Concert

Marie Simmelink Kraft, mezzo-soprano, performed Hindemith's song cycle, Das Marienleben, early in October. She was assisted by Marianne Matousek Mastics, pianist. Herbert Elwell, music critic of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, a distinguished composer, and part-time instructor in theory in the Conservatory, presented a summary of Hindemith's preface to the work.

The recital was sponsored by the Theta Chapter of Pi Kappa Lambda which brings some outstanding musical programs to the campus each year.

Oberlin Candidates for Rhodes Scholarships Have Been Named

Five seniors have been nominated as candidates for Rhodes Scholarships. They are F. John Brinley, Toledo, Ohio; Charles Hoffmann, Knoxville, Tennessee; Karl Johnson, New Brunswick, New Jersey; Philip McFarland, Birmingham, Alabama; and William Vobach, Watervliet, Michigan.

Jack Brinley, a chemistry major, is president of Forensic Union and was a section leader in last year's Class of 1915 debating contest. Charles Hoffmann is majoring in German. Musical Union, the marching band, and the Educational Policy Committee are extracurricular groups to which he belongs. Phil McFarland, a history major, has been dramatic director of KOCN, art editor of the Hi-O-Hi, and poetry and short story editor of the Yeoman. Bill Vobach's major is economics. He has been active in Forensic Union, KOCN, the Review, and the Foreign Students Committee of the YMCA. Karl Johnson is captain-elect of the baseball team and has two letters in that sport. He is on the Men's Board and participated in the last Stageroo. His major is botany.

All five men have been on class honors lists and Phil McFarland was one of the top ten freshmen four years ago. They were nominated by a faculty committee of which Arthur Campbell, '38, is chairman. A national committee will make the final selections within the next two months from a large number of men nominated by committees all over the country.

Emery Thomas, '50, of North Dakota was the most recent of six Oberlin men winning Rhodes Scholarships. The others were Theodore Wilder, '18, James Childers, '20, William Helmbold, '38, Frederick Ficken, '31, and James Nelson, '36.

Student Council Elects Four New Members to Men's Board

New members of the Men's Board, elected by the Student Council, are William Dumitru, '53, Detroit; Charles McClintock, '51, Madison, New Jersey; Stuart McLean, '52, Columbus; and William Willmott, '53, Chengtu, China. The collective extracurricular interests of these four include sports, Musical Union, dramatics, and YMCA work.

CRD-sponsored Panel Considers Problems of Displaced Persons

At a recent required assembly program in Finney Chapel, four DP students presented a panel discussion on the problems displaced persons face. Sponsored by the Consolidated Relief Drive to explain the value in allocating a large percentage of CRD funds for displaced persons, the forum covered various phases of the DP situation, both in Europe and in the United States. Members of the panel were Peter Schliesser, '53, Vienna, Austria; Laina Partel, '54, Estonia; Ivan Brychta, m'51, Czechoslovakia; and Ivan Piscalnikow, '51, Czechoslovakia.

In the discussion it was pointed out that although a large percentage of the inhabitants of DP camps are men who were once engaged in a profession, they are unable to continue in those professions in their host countries in most cases; this is due to difference in requirements and study and language barriers. This situation is a real hindrance to permanent assimilation of the displaced persons and contributes to the hostility which often exists between the host country and the displaced persons. Further hostility may result from the imposition of DP's on an over-crowded community.

Miss Partel talked about the crowded conditions in DP camps where cramped quarters, inadequate facilities for study, and lack of books make education a very precious commodity. Many of the DP's must make their homes in communities and countries where farm labor and factory help are at a premium, so they are forced to adapt themselves to the needs of their host and continue their studies as an avocation.

Another insoluble problem facing the displaced person is legal status. He has no citizenship and is therefore denied the rights of a citizen. "Favors" are granted him by foreign countries and consuls, but favors can neither be protected nor violated. He has no legal right to ask for a hearing or an explanation, and no opportunity to appeal a decision.

Members of the panel felt that it is important that displaced persons have an opportunity to study in a country such as the United States. Here they have a chance to explain the problems facing those countries who are bound by the double iron curtain of fear and lies. This will lead to a greater understanding of international problems of our present age and may help American students to play a more sympathetic, wiser, and understanding role in steps which will lead toward world peace and international understanding.

Contemporary Affairs Will Be Studied at Wednesday Soapbox

A new voluntary assembly series has been initiated by the Chapel Committee. Called Wednesday Soapbox, these sessions will be held at noon, in Finney Chapel, on Wednesdays. Their major purposes are to bring to students authentic background information about other parts of the world and to afford student organizations or other college groups opportunity to express themselves in programs which they sponsor and plan.

The series opened on October 25 with a program sponsored by the Oberlin Council for the United Nations. It presented a documentary film on Mexico. The second, a week later, presented by the Young Republicans and the Students for Democratic Action, was a discussion of the issues in the Ohio Senatorial election campaign.

This series is similar in type to previous Current Events assemblies and the "Invasion Insight" programs which began on D-Day and ran for some months.

Committee Studies Need for New Courses in Theater Arts

A sub-committee of the Student-Faculty Educational Policy Committee has been conducting a study of the need for theater arts courses in the college curriculum, and the relation of such courses to a liberal arts program.

The committee, with a membership including representatives of Mummies Club, the Gilbert and Sullivan Players, the Oberlin Dramatic Association, and the Educational Policy Committee, began its study in early November with an all-campus poll to ascertain student interest and opinion. Results of this poll indicated that of 1113 students who voted, 95.7 per cent favored inclusion of new drama courses in the curriculum.

Before presenting its report to President Stevenson and the General Faculty in December, the committee hopes to study plans used in other colleges and to hold an open forum for consideration of the need.

First Forum Discusses Arts And the Artist in Society

Olin Downes, music editor of the New York Times, Dr. Benno D. Frank, theatrical director of Karamu House in Cleveland, and Mr. Irving Howe, free-lance writer and literary critic, were guest speakers at Forum Board sessions on November 14.

At the first session, a noon assembly, Mr. Downes discussed "The Function of Art and the Artist in Society." In the afternoon and evening there were meetings at which the other speakers expressed their viewpoints and one at which all three men, at a round-table meeting, discussed the significant points brought up during the day and summarized their conclusions.

College Red Cross Sponsors Program at Veterans' Hospital

Thirty-five women and five men students go on the second Sunday of each month to Crile Veterans' Hospital, near Cleveland, to provide an evening of entertainment for mentally-ill veterans. The project is sponsored by the Oberlin College Chapter of the American Red Cross. Students travel in the athletic department's bus and in four cars driven by Mrs. W. E. Stevenson, Dean Mary Dolliver, and Professors Louis D. Hartson and Ralph H. Turner.

The women students are instructed by the Red Cross Field Director at the beginning of each year to act naturally, not to pry into a patient's illness but to listen quietly, without comment, if he chooses to talk about it. The men students assist by moving chairs or setting up tables, serving refreshments, and making themselves generally useful.

The patients who participate in these programs are men who are well on their way to recovery. Most of them soon are at ease and seem to enjoy the evenings. This is the fourth year students have been carrying on the program.

Dr. Bunche Is Keynoter at Brief Armistice Day Chapel

Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, director of the department of trusteeship of the United Nations, recent winner of the Nobel Peace Prize, and member of the Board of Trustees of Oberlin College, spoke at a noon assembly in Finney Chapel on November 11.

In addition to Dr. Bunche's talk, the brief commemorative service included presentation of the United Nations flag by William Willmott, '53, chairman of the Oberlin UNESCO, and David Jacobs, '51, chairman of the Oberlin Council for the United Nations. The flag will be on permanent display in the Chapel. Miss Anne Heitkamp, '51, spoke briefly on behalf of the students interested in United Nations, and the chapel choir sang the United Nations Hymn.

Denison Plays Host to Four College Intercollegiate Day

Students of Denison University, Oberlin College, Ohio Wesleyan University, and the College of Wooster have organized the Four-College Conference for the purpose of sharing ideas and arranging joint activities. One of the latter will be the Mock UN Convention which is set for March 10 at Oberlin.

On December 2 the four will hold Intercollegiate Day at Denison. At that time representatives from campus organizations will exchange ideas with representatives of similar groups from the other colleges. Oberlin delegates will include representatives of every campus organization and club.

FOLLOWING A FAMILY TRADITION

... Helen Day Stevenson, daughter of President and Mrs. William E. Stevenson, has chosen to join the American Red Cross for foreign service. Mrs. Stevenson is shown "capping" Helen shortly before she left for duty in Korea

Alumni Represent College At Fall Inaugural Ceremonies

Apparently inaugurations were "the thing to do" this fall, since at least 13 alumni have represented Oberlin at anniversary celebrations and inaugurations held by various colleges.

On September 25, Charles G. Wilder, '28, Director of the Kansas City Museum, represented Oberlin at the fall convocation of Park College's Diamond Jubilee celebration, Parkville, Missouri.

Dr. Henry A. Mosher, '33, president of Boston-Oberlin Alumni Club, attended the 150th anniversary of Middlebury College, Middlebury, Vermont, on September 29 and 30.

Frank H. Koos, '11, represented Oberlin at the inauguration of Milton S. Eisenhower as president of "Penn State" on October 5. Mr. Koos is professor of educational administration at Pennsylvania State College.

Margaret H. Aylard, '17, represented the College at the inauguration of Val H. Wilson as sixth president of Colorado Women's College, Denver, on October 14.

Acting as a delegate of Oberlin, Alice Harlow, '07, attended the Centennial Convocation of the Woman's Medical College of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, on October 14.

Also on October 14, William H. Schutt, '30, minister of music at Grace Covenant Presbyterian Church, Richmond, Virginia, represented the College at the inauguration of President Robert P. Daniel at Virginia State College, Petersburg.

October 20 marked the silver anniversary of Texas "Tech," and A. Hunter Dupree, '42, assistant professor of history at Texas Technological College, Lubbock, represented Oberlin at the celebration.

On October 28, Donald C. Gilley, '28, organist and choirmaster at the United States Naval Academy Chapel, Annapolis, represented Oberlin College at the inauguration of President Richard D. Weigle at St. John's College.

Mrs. Alton C. Hall (Ruth Badger, '21), assistant professor of modern languages at North Carolina State College, Raleigh, represented Oberlin at the inauguration of Denton R. Lindley as president of Atlantic Christian College, Wilson, North Carolina, on November 1.

On November 4 Oberlin was represented at the inauguration of Dr. George W. Gore, Jr., as president of Florida Agricultural and Mechanical College, Tallahassee, by Sheppard R. Edmonds, '26. Mr. Edmonds is a member of the faculty of Florida A. and M. College.

Walter H. Delaplanc, '29, head of the department of economics at the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas, represented the College on November 9 when Marion T. Harrington was inaugurated as president of Texas A. and M. Another Oberlinian, Joseph J. Woolket, '24, served as chairman of the inaugural committee for this occasion.

Mrs. Robert N. Montgomery (Ruth Kelly, '22) was the official Oberlin representative at the celebration of the Centennial of Heidelberg College, Tiffin, Ohio, on November 11. Her husband, Dr. Montgomery, president of Muskingum College, New Concord, Ohio, and of the Ohio College Association, presided at the afternoon symposium on "Emerging Possibilities of Higher Education in a New Century."

Conservatory Plays Host To Visiting European Conductors

Two young European conductors were visitors in Oberlin for two days in October. Sponsored by the Institute of International Education, a cultural exchange agency under the Rockefeller Foundation, Huldrych Hoch of Switzerland and Piero Bellugi of Italy have had wide experience as performers in and conductors of orchestra and chamber groups. While in Oberlin, the two gentlemen visited Conservatory classes, attended concerts, and met with faculty members.

The purpose of the special International Arts Program under which the I.I.E. brings such men to America is to promote world understanding through such exchanges and to provide American artists with an opportunity to meet and exchange ideas with their colleagues from other parts of the world. Our significant accomplishments in art, including music, are not so well known abroad as are our technical advances. It is hoped that the visiting artists will inform us of their countries' art and will carry home a better understanding of ours.

Conservatory Schedules Many Programs for Current Semester

Musical events are numerous this semester. A Calendar of Events published by the Conservatory of Music early in the semester lists, in addition to the eight artist recitals, weekly student recitals, and the regular production of the Musical Union, a series of seven faculty recitals, two faculty chamber music recitals, two orchestra concerts, a symphony band concert for the public school children of Oberlin, and one for which Percy Grainger will be guest conductor, and several brass and woodwind ensembles.

British Team Wins Debate on Medical Care at Public Expense

"That this house approves a program of medical care to be paid for at public expense" was the topic debated on October 26 by the Combined British Universities Debate Team, for the affirmative, and a Forensic Union Team, for the negative. Rules for parliamentary style debate were followed, which meant that, at the appointed time, anyone could speak from the floor, interrupting the debaters.

The visitors, Ernest Alwyn Smith, from the University of Birmingham, and John Gwynn Williams from the University College of North Wales, won the decision, as much for their skillful speaking and personal charm as for their arguments. An overwhelming majority moved to the affirmative's side of the house when a "division of the house" was taken.

The Forensic Union debaters were F. John Brinley, '51, candidate for a Rhodes Scholarship, and William Honan, '52.

Religious Discussion Groups Are Organized by YM and YW

"Operation Y" is the name of a new YMCA-YWCA religious group started this fall. It was set up to meet the widely-expressed need for religious discussion in small groups.

Following the organization meeting, some ten groups, averaging six members each, have formed. These groups choose their subjects and handle their meetings according to their own needs.

The head committee will continue to meet, including leaders of all the small groups if they wish to attend, and will be ready to give advice or leadership when asked.

Dosia Carlson, '52, from Toledo, Ohio, and Philip Perkins, '52, Tampa, Florida, head the Operation Y Committee.

Varied Programs Offered By Visiting Speakers in November

Dr. Halford E. Luccock of Yale University, preaching on the theme, "On Trial for Your Life," introduced the 1950-51 Sunday Vespers Series on November 5. Other November speakers from outside Oberlin were Cornelia Otis Skinner, who was sponsored by the Oberlin Dramatic Association; Mrs. Dorothy Burr Thompson who spoke under the auspices of the Archaeological Institute of America; Charles P. Taft, civic leader of Cincinnati, Ohio; and John W. Gibson, former assistant secretary of labor, both of whom spoke at regular Assembly programs. At another Assembly, Mr. Henry Cornhlsen, Jr. spoke on "Atlantic Union."

—Spotlight on—

The Campus Commentator

REPORTING THE STUDENT SIDE OF OBERLIN NEWS

—by Roger W. Brucker, '51—

Early in October President Stevenson went before the faculty requesting permission to search for a Reserve Officer Training Corps unit to invite to the Oberlin campus. The faculty took no action on the request, pending further examination of the reasons for and against the move. Immediately, student discussions sprang up about the effects of an ROTC on campus, but there was none of the fiery reaction that followed when the faculty considered inviting an ROTC in January, 1949. This was a new and different problem presenting some angles that had not yet been explored. Let's go back to January.

At that time, the president appeared before the faculty and announced that Oberlin had the opportunity to secure an Air Force ROTC unit, if it so desired. The executive committee of trustees had already approved the invitation and the decision lay with the faculty. As soon as students heard of the proposal, several petitions began to circulate. The Student Council and the Y's opposed it, as did many members of the faculty who felt that education in the Oberlin sense and the military do not mix. At that time no national emergency was seen. To invite an ROTC would be to admit to the world that Oberlin had lost faith in world peace. The faculty voted not to extend the invitation and the matter was dead. That was a year ago last January.

Korea and Oberlin . . .

Toward the last part of the summer many Oberlin men became acutely aware that the selective service machinery was beginning to move. "Being drafted" was of real concern to college and prospective college students all over the country. Many received questionnaires, some took physical examinations, and all asked questions about deferments. Right now, the policy is that all college men, regardless of grades, will receive a postponement of induction until June. No definite deferment policy has yet evolved.

With the full-scale war in Korea, together with the draft situation, the College had just cause for concern. Would all its male students be drafted? Would any men be able to enter as Freshmen? No one knew (or even at this time knows) the answer to these questions. Rumors flew about not drafting men in the upper half of their class. How many men would apply to Oberlin knowing that less than five percent of the Oberlin student body would be in the lower half of their class in some other institution?

The answer to this problem of how to keep up the enrollment seemed to lie in the easy solution of bringing an ROTC unit to the campus which both upper classmen and entering Freshmen could join to insure an uninterrupted college career. A little publicized factor that enters in is that an ROTC unit might go a long way toward balancing the budget, which currently carries a deficit of more than $100,000. Few members of the unit would need financial aid since the government pays salaries. This would free a considerable amount of money for other uses.

The Other Side . . .

The lure of Oberlin's scholastic reputation, together with a commission as an officer, may go a long way toward attracting high caliber draft-harassed high school students. Oberlin would at the same time be performing a vital service to the nation by devoting a part of her facilities to the preparedness program. It is felt that an ROTC will better prepare the Oberlin man to take his place in military service.

The arguments against inviting an ROTC to the campus were slow to be formulated because of the seeming undeniability of the arguments for it. The arguments which are now heard against the proposal maintain that most of the arguments for the plan are based on conjecture and not on fact. At this time there are no ROTC units available for parceling out to colleges, hence the need for quick action is not necessary. Since the selective service system has formulated no policy on students and the draft, we are not sure at all that the College will be faced with an enrollment problem. Rumors are in the air about a standardized educational test for college students. If this plan were adopted, all Oberlin students would be able to pass it.

Concerning the matter of patriotism, let us remember that the military is not asking the College to take a unit. If the invitation were extended by the College, Oberlin would be but one of the many colleges in the scramble to get the few units available, IF and WHEN they are parceled out. Other colleges would like to balance their budgets too. These units, if issued, will be of the permanent type which will probably not be discontinued with the end of the draft. It is clear that the army will not give a unit to a school which has the remotest intention of dropping it when things calm down. This means we'll have to want it permanently in order to get it at all.

If we have the best interests of the country at heart, we cannot ignore the testimony of some veterans on campus that ROTC officers are not necessarily the best persons for the job. The army is usually better able to train and indoctrinate officers within its own system. It is true, however, that some units utilize technical or business students.

ROTC and Tradition . . .

One of the greatest arguments against the ROTC is that it runs counter to Oberlin traditions. It should be remembered that Oberlin has always participated in ventures of this sort only after war had begun. It is further a violation of the academic tradition for which Oberlin is proud. Here one receives an intensity and breadth of study unequalled in Ohio, and seldom equalled in the United States. This is and must be based on the right of free inquiry and free speech. Under this tradition, friction would no doubt develop between the unit and sections of the College. Military tradition is founded on unquestioning obedience and the respect for authority per se. These simply are not compatible. Conflict must develop if the Oberlin tradition of respect for all points of view (albeit, subject to open debate) is to survive. Is this worth risking?

Even if the deferment laws are such that high school students might not want to enter for fear of being drafted, there is some merit in the observation that two and a half years of military service will make them more mature as students, hence better able to benefit from an Oberlin education. Experience with veterans shows that they make more serious-minded and discerning students. In the long run it appears that most young men who wish a college education must count on six and a half years of army and education. Whether the military service comes first, last, or during the

(Continued on Page 11)

Faculty News

By Ella C. Parmenter, '15

PRESIDENT W. E. STEVENSON was one of a panel at a session of the National Recreation Congress which met in Cleveland early in October. The topic was "Recreation at the turn of the century." Chief Justice Carl V. Weygant of the Ohio Supreme Court was the moderator. Other participants were P. F. Douglass of American University, J. L. Knight of Baldwin-Wallace College, F. L. Hovde of Purdue, and D. D. Henry of Wayne University.

President Stevenson also attended meetings of the American Council on Education in Washington, D. C. Representatives from many colleges and universities gathered to consider current developments in relation to the present emergency and to assist governmental agencies in planning for the most effective use of higher education in meeting the emergency and long-range needs of the total national economy.

A paper entitled "The Early Treatment of Common Colds with an Antihistamine—Histadyl," was prepared by DR. R. H. BROWNING, and has been accepted for early publication by the New England Journal of Medicine. In this paper, Dr. Browning discusses the findings of the College Health Service in its experiment with last year's freshman class in the treatment of the common cold.

ARTHUR CAMPBELL was elected chairman of the division of chemical education at the September meeting of the American Chemical Society in Chicago. At the invitation of Governor Lausche of Ohio, Professor Campbell participated in a Radiological Institute at Ohio State University, October 10-14, in connection with the Civilian Defense Program being set up by Ohio. He conducted a workshop on best methods available for carrying out a program of public education aimed to minimize the effect of radiological warfare, threatened or actual.

DEAN BLAIR STEWART represented Oberlin College at the inauguration of President Gordon Gray of the Consolidated University of North Carolina on October 8, 9, and 10. He also spoke to the Oberlin Alumni Club at Chapel Hill.

PROFESSOR EMERITUS HOWARD ROBINSON, after brief visits in Oberlin and with relatives in other parts of the country, has returned to England in order to write a book requested by the Oxford University Press. The book will deal with the British post office but will differ from his work, The British Post Office, A History, which the Princeton University Press published in 1948. That book received wide acclaim in the United States and in Great Britain and led to the request for this second work.

Professor and Mrs. Robinson will live again at 88 Redcliffe Gardens, London, S.W.10, and will be happy to see any Oberlinians who come to London and to help them in any way possible.

PROFESSOR and Mrs. CHARLES PARKHURST and PROFESSOR WOLFGANG STECHOW attended the opening convocation banquet and preview of the 20th anniversary exhibition at the Columbus, Ohio, Gallery of Fine Arts early in October. Among the pictures in the exhibition is Turner's "View of Venice," which was lent by the Allen Art Museum.

J. JEFFERY AUER had an article in the September, 1950, issue of Southern Speech Journal. Entitled "A Northern Whig and the Southern Cause," the article reviewed the position of the old line Whig moderates in the Republican campaigns of 1858-60, and their attitudes on the issue of slavery, as typified by Tom Corwin, famous Ohio orator, congressman, governor, and senator.

Director of Admissions ROBERT L. JACKSON attended the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the College Entrance Examination Board in New York City on October 24 and 25, including an invitational conference on admission to American colleges.

PROFESSOR WOLFGANG STECHOW gave a lecture-recital on November 5 at the Bach Festival of the Milwaukee Teachers' Association. He lectured on, and illustrated at the piano, the Two and Three Part Inventions of Bach.

On December 6 he will give a lecture at the Art Institute of Chicago in connection with the showing of the art treasures from Vienna museums. His talk will deal with Italian painters from Titian to Tiepolo.

Educational Psychology, by DR. LAWRENCE E. COLE, collaborating with Dr. William F. Bruce of Oneonta State Teachers College, was published in October. The book is a synthesis of the research and practice of the past half century in the psychology of human development.

MARGARET SCHAUFFLER, '18, assistant professor of fine arts at Oberlin, has recently completed a sketch of First Church, built in 1842 and the oldest building in the village of Oberlin. The picture appears on stationery being sold by the Women's Association of that church. Other drawings of this type have been made by Miss Schaufler for use in Current Religious Thought, a monthly magazine published in Oberlin.

Inquiries about the stationery may be addressed to the Women's Association, First Church, Oberlin, Ohio.

"HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO US"

...sounded at the Stevenson home when these members of the faculty and administration observed their fiftieth birthdays en masse. Left to right: Dean Blair Stewart, Paul Rogers, Luke Steiner, Alfred Schlesinger, President William Stevenson, Andrew Bongiorno, Ben Lewis, Hayden Boyers, John Frazer, Robert Fletcher, and Ralph Singleton.

PAUL B. ARNOLD, ROBERT F. REIFF, and MISS MARGARET SCHAUFFLER submitted drawings which were accepted and hung in the exhibition of Drawings by Midwestern Artists, sponsored by the Midwestern College Art Conference and the University of Kentucky. The exhibition was hung at the J. B. Speed Art Museum, Louisville, Kentucky, during the conference and, from November 1 to 20, at the Art Gallery, University of Kentucky.

Mr. Arnold also has two pictures in shows of the Ohio Watercolor Society. One, "Remnants of Delight," is in a travelling show. The other, "Backyard Draper," is on view in a Columbus exhibition.

MISS HELEN MERSON was elected secretary-treasurer, MISS ELIZABETH WAGNER chairman of the athletics policies committee, and MISS LERA B. CURTIS chairman of the teacher-education committee, of the Women's Physical Education Section of the Ohio College Association. Seven members of the Oberlin faculty attended the meetings held at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, late in October.

On October 31, 1950, PROFESSOR CLARENCE H. HAMILTON of the Graduate School of Theology was guest lecturer at Bradley University, Peoria, Illinois. The university's commission on religion has planned a series of lectures on comparative religions to be given by different speakers throughout the year. Approximately 500 students and faculty heard Professor Hamilton's lecture on "Buddhism: The Universal Religion of East Asia."

Hall Instructor Named

An appointment confirmed in October by the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees was that of NATHANIEL M. WINSLOW to be Charles M. Hall Research Instructor in Chemistry. Mr. Winslow has a B.S. and Ph.D. from the University of Chicago and, since 1936, has been research analyst with the National Carbon Company in Cleveland, Ohio. He is a member of the American Chemical Society, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi, and the Electrochemical Society. He was chairman of the organic division of the last-named society, 1946-48, and is now a member of its board of directors.

Mr. Winslow is married and has two children. His home is in Lakewood, Ohio.

Commentator . . .

(Continued from Page 9)

college career, this period of time will remain fairly constant. This applies to ROTC students as well.

It seems to me that one's policy on ROTC depends on one's view of what Oberlin College is and what it stands for. If the College is a business institution in which a balanced budget is of paramount concern; if our object is to pack in as many students as possible; if we feel the presence of the military is no great risk to Oberlin's search for truth; then in all probability we will be for the ROTC proposal.

If, on the other hand, we feel that Oberlin's freedom of intellect will be in jeopardy; if we feel it is primarily a budgetary concern, if we feel that it is hasty to act on conjectures; we will probably not be for the ROTC at this time, at least. You may have detected my bias by this time. I am in the latter category. As the Alumni Magazine goes to press, the faculty and trustees have voted in favor of ROTC. It should be the duty of Oberlin to watch out for its own principles when an ROTC unit is installed.

Horse and Buggy . . .

(Continued from Page 5)

final examinations at Oberlin like those given at Reserve. The next catalogue advertised examinations at the end of each term, but the Review said that this was an egregious misrepresentation. The fear was expressed that any exams that were given were a mere formality and not sufficiently difficult.

In the mid-nineties the attack was resumed. In a two-page editorial the Review declared that grading standards were too low; the professors were altogether too "kind-hearted in passing students." The faculty, the editor felt, was not cooperating. But finally the professors came around, and you know the result.

And it is quite apparent that the new faculty of this period gave the Review crusaders some aid and comfort. Their higher scholarship complemented and made worthwhile the higher standards of student achievement. Their erudition and teaching ability placed them in the front rank among college teachers of their generation, and in training they far surpassed their predecessors. It is because of their coming that the eighties and nineties constitute the time of the real founding of Oberlin as an institution of higher learning.

Charles E. St. John, a Harvard doctor, introduced modern laboratory methods and classroom procedure in physics. A. A. Wright, Oberlin graduate and son of a pioneer, did the same for zoology. Frank Fanning Jewett, who studied at Yale and Göttingen, taught the chemistry of aluminum and other substances to Charles M. Hall and other students.

John R. Commons, J. W. Black, and T. N. Carver introduced the new social sciences of the recently-founded graduate schools. All three had studied at Johns Hopkins, the first real American university.

Henry Churchill King, an Oberlin graduate, was trained at Harvard and in Germany. He laid the groundwork for the twentieth century departments of philosophy and psychology, and was a leader in the faculty long before he became president.

Azariah Root began his career when he was an undergraduate as caretaker of the book collections of the literary societies. He became one of the outstanding American librarians and created our excellent library almost out of nothing.

Dr. Delphine Hanna and Dr. F. E. Leonard were national leaders in the field of physical education. Edward Dickinson became the chief American authority on the history of church music. Madam Johnston, dean of women, and Charles B. Martin laid the invisible foundations on which the fine arts department still rests.

They were an able group. And, remember, they worked at a time when the institution was almost bankrupt financially. We owe much to their innovating courage and enthusiasm. Perhaps these are the qualities which they would most desire us to emulate, yet they never forgot the importance of the contribution of Charles H. Churchill, Fenelon B. Rice, James H. Fairchild, James Monroe and others who prepared the way for them. They knew the value of that nice balance of the old and the new which is the secret of healthy institutional growth in any field. The hitching posts may be pulled up; the watering trough and the mounting blocks may be carried away; Peters Hall may be torn down; but the work of these men and women will endure.

Soon we, too, will go before the bar of historic justice, where our grandsons and our great-grandsons will sit in judgment on us. Then the Oberlin of the twenty-first century will consider the foibles, the absurdities, the taboos, the ignorance and the achievements of our proud atomic age. It would be to the advantage of our common humanity if there should then be some among our successors who would add to their justified contempt and Olympian laughter a seasoning of sympathy and understanding.

Athletics

By William I. Judson

Successful Season Chalked Up By Gridiron Players

REGARDLESS OF THE outcome of the last game against traditional rival Wooster, Oberlin's 1950 grid season will go down in the books as the best season since the undefeated eleven of 1945.

In racking up victories over Wittenberg, Allegheny, DePauw, Hamilton, Rochester, and Denison and one setback to Wesleyan, the Yeomen have scored a total of 171 points to 75. They have gained 644 yards through the air as against 320 for their six opponents and lead in total offense, 1635 to 1336. Only in rushing yardage have they been slightly edged, 1016 to 991.

Four of the Yeoman pace setters through this successful season have been sophomores. In rushing, Bob Burnham with 141 yards against his father's Rochester team, took over the leadership in this department with 294 in 49 carries. Rog Michael has 213 yards in 64 and Larry Foulk, another sophomore, 198 in 35.

Oberlin's passing attack, one of the best in the Ohio Conference, has again been spearheaded by Kev O'Connor. Kev has completed 36 of 83 for a total of 576 yards and seven touchdowns.

Bob Horst, the fourth sophomore, has snared 10 of Kev's aerials for 131 yards, Burnham 6 for 121, and Bart Harrison, 6 for 109.

Paul Veazey has pilfered the most opponent passes—four of them—and has returned 101 yards with the interceptions. He has also returned five punts for 60 yards and Chet McPhee, four for 38.

Burnham has been the kickoff returning specialist, averaging nearly 20 yards with 154 yards on eight returns.

In the punting department, Burnham has an average of 36.4 on 21 boots and O'Connor, 32.8 on 16. Kev's average was above 38 until the Rochester game, when a stiff north wind and driving rain made kicks of more than 20 yards the exception.

Burnham is also the scoring leader with 36 points; he is followed by Michael with 24 and senior Dave Crispin with 18.

NOTE—Oberlin defeated Wooster 58-2.

Basketball Team Looks Strong In Pre-Season Report

In less than two weeks, as this is written, the football season will be over and Coach Bob Clark will have held his first basketball practice sessions of the 1950-51 season on the Jones Field House court.

The Yeoman quintet has fashioned quite a reputation for itself during the past two seasons on its new court, dropping only one each season for the brilliant record of 17 out of 19 here at home.

As if that weren't enough for the new team to live up to, last year's five compiled the best winning percentage in the Conference and in the State as well, except for Ohio State University. The Yeomen had a 5-1 Conference record and an over-all final standing of 15-3.

Coach Clark will have five lettermen back but must replace four who graduated—Charley Blackwell, Carter Donohoe, Ben Lancashire and Dick Studer.

Leading the team this season will be Co-Captains Robie Shults from Alma, Michigan, and Dick Kuusela from Staten Island, New York. The other monogram winners are Harold Erlenbach, New London; Bob Bent, Kenilworth, Illinois; and Bill Gerhold, a native of Huntington, West Virginia, who lettered in the 1948-49 season but was out of college last year in the Navy V-5.

Returning also from last year's squad are Fred Harshbarger, a 6-foot-4 pivot man from North Liberty, Iowa; Art Miller from Milwaukee, Wisconsin; and Stuart McLean from Columbus.

Two of the most promising sophomores from last year's strong freshman team are Bob Burnham from Rochester, New York, and Bob Horst from Toledo. Both have been playing first string on the football team.

Some of the team, not out for other fall sports, have been working out in Warner Gym since the first of October but official practice in the field house will not begin until November 20, just three weeks before the season opener at Hiram on December 9th.

Oberlin fans have seen some great basketball here during the past two years and prospects seem rather bright for this season. The answer lies in how well last year's reserves and freshmen fill the shoes of the graduates.

Swimming Team Misses Stars

Coach Ralph Bibler's swimming team also faces the new season with a great reputation to uphold—two straight undefeated seasons. They too must face it without the services of four graduated stars—Bruce Kinsey, Dick Burkert, Howie Curtis and Bill Lux. Those who have followed Oberlin's swimming success over the past four years will realize what a serious loss this is.

Leading this year's squad will be Glenn Carter, ace backstroker from Akron, and Dick Ohmann, junior freestyler from Shaker Heights. Other veterans include breast stroke Harry Hunsicker, Oberlin; and Martin Haurowitz, Bloomington, Indiana; diver Dave Fisher, North Jackson; and freestylers Marsh Nottingham, Belmont, Massachusetts; Dave Staley, Columbus; and Lee Sonneborn, Bloomington, Indiana.

Outstanding among the sophomores who must take the places of the departed stars are Rog Michael, Sycamore, Illinois, Garry Ackerson, Washington, D. C., and Bob McDougal, Chicago, in the free style events; Charles Gorham, Atlanta, Ga., in the breast stroke; and Alan Wadsworth, Chicago, in the back stroke.

Fencing Team Lacks Veterans

Facing a stiff 11-meet schedule, Paul Arnold's fencing team must have quite a rebuilding before the opening match with Fenn on December 9th. Six veterans were lost by graduation, leaving only five lettermen from last year to form the nucleus.

Two sabre men are co-captains this year, John Culberson from Akron and Dick Crout from Columbus. Other veterans include sabremen Bob Hanson, Fred Volbach and Dave Clark. John Mallet is a two-year monogram winner, also in sabre, but plans to compete in the foil division this year.

Returning reserve members of last year's squad are Frank Long, Bill Bunney and Benson Scheff in foil; and John Brinley, Wilfrid Shaw and Dave Gibbons in epee.

Kinsey Men Win 200th Meet

Coach Dan Kinsey's harriers won their 200th run under his coaching in the opening meet of the season against Baldwin-Wallace, and although still undefeated in Conference competition, dropped two to Bowling Green and that old nemesis Wheaton, this year coached by the nationally famous distance runner, Gil Dodds.

The 42-19 defeat by Wheaton was the worst suffered by the Yeomen since the 50-15 defeat by Miami in 1946. Oberlin has won five and lost two.

Ming Hsien Goes Home

Ming Hsien has returned to Shansi! After thirteen years as a "displaced school" in Chengtu, Szechuan, China, Oberlin-in-China has made the return trip to T'aiiku, Shansi, where the middle school was originally founded.

On October 9, 1950, twenty five-ton trucks, loaned to the schools by the Chinese government, started for T'aiiku. The trucks carried equipment, household goods, 313 faculty and students from both the college and middle school.

In a letter written October 9, day of the move, Herb Van Meter, '37, who has been assistant to the president of Ming Hsien, wrote: "The gang is now off on its way north. The baggage was inspected yesterday so that loading began last night—and went on most of the night. About midnight it became clear that fifteen trucks weren't going to be enough. The government kindly let us have five more. All personal baggage and personnel reported this morning at seven. The trucks began to move just after twelve. Tough as it was to be saying goodbye to all these old friends, it made a good picture as they pushed off, and it is good to think that this is the last stage of the wanderings that began so many years ago. The trucks all had bright banners and signs pasted to their sides.

"All of our faculty have promised to report to T'aiiku, so it will assure us of a complete staff in the north.

"It is satisfying to learn that at a conference on higher education in Chungking, Ming Hsien was cited for its high scholastic standing among the three schools listed in Chengtu."

On October 24, Herb wrote:

"I got back shortly after two o'clock this afternoon after seeing the last two truckloads of our folk off. They were to have gone yesterday, but last-minute delays prevented their getting away. Now they have gone. I wish you could have seen the trucks. They were packed full and flowing over. In addition to humans, they carried four small Yorkshire hogs, four kids, and four geese, all a part of the Animal Husbandry Department future. These, plus the cattle we have waiting for us at Yenching, plus whatever animals remain in T'aiiku, will form the nucleus of our future in that field. (The cattle were an UNRRA gift to the schools and have been cared for at Yenching until the schools would be in a position to take them.)

"Don got away last Thursday (October 19) with one of the students, aboard a postal truck. (Word since received from the school indicates that Don and the students had arrived at T'aiiku. Don Farley, '48, will be the Oberlin, Ohio, representative at Ming Hsien during the coming year.)

"Ginny (Stark, '49) and Harry (Howes, '48) are scheduled to get away this Thursday (October 26.) Jo and I will be leaving on the 29th, if our plans work out. We will certainly overtake Harry and Ginny in Chungking and make the remainder of the trip to the coast with them. Meanwhile, we've all moved away from the Ming Hsien campus.

"We're all making the trip to Chungking by postal truck. Presuming we do get off on schedule, we'll be there by the turn of the month or shortly thereafter. It is impossible to say how long we will be delayed; we're hoping it won't be long, but some have waited a month or more. Once we reach Hankow we can move ahead, for the trains to Canton run regularly. (A cable has notified the Oberlin office of Ginny's arrival in Hong Kong on November 14. By this reading, both the Van Meters and Harry Howes should have joined Ginny.)

"Word has been received here that all of the first group has reached T'aiiku safely and that the junior middle school has already started work."

Future plans for the campus program of sending representatives to Ming Hsien are dependent on current developments, of course. However, the Board of Trustees of the Oberlin-In-China Memorial Association voted at their November 12 meeting to approve the recommendation (reprinted below) of the Student China Committee for the appointment of representatives. This will insure the continuity of campus interest in the Far East and the problems which she is facing today.

The statement of the student committee reads: "Ever since the founding of Oberlin-in-China, there has been a strong bond between Oberlin-in-Ohio and her sister school. This bond has continued despite the numerous world conflicts that have threatened to interfere. Even during the war years representatives were chosen, despite the fact that it was impossible for them to reach China. At the present time we face the danger of U.S.-China hostilities. Never in the history of the two schools have we been faced by a similar situation. Yet, this is all the more reason why now is no time to put an end to this international experiment, which has continued for almost a half century. In a time when U.S.-China suspicions are intense, any force working to break down these suspicions is of utmost importance . . . In the event that it is impossible for us to send representatives to China, we would like the Trustees to consider the feasibility of the appointment of one or two representatives to the Far East, who would serve in a short-term association with some school similar to Ming Hsien . . . Such appointments would in no way imply a breaking away from Oberlin-in-China. At the earliest possible date we would wish to return to our original function of appointing representatives to Oberlin-in-China."

Class of '50 in Review

By Dorothy M. Smith, '29

Acting Director, Bureau of Appointments

THE OCCUPATIONAL distribution of the class of 1950 is somewhat different from the classes of 1948 and 1949. As might be expected, military service has called (or soon will call) some 16 men, while a larger number than usual report plans unsettled (due in part to waiting for draft classification and in part to summer vacation trips before making occupational plans.)

Post-graduate professional and vocational study again is the most popular occupation in the College of Arts and Sciences. However, the percentage of men in graduate study has dropped from 61 per cent in 1949 to 52 per cent in 1950, while it has increased from 21 per cent to 26 per cent for women. Once again, 39 fields of study are represented — medicine (27), law (11), theology (8), social work (6), science (physics, chemistry, biology) (29), psychology (9), economics (7), secretarial study (7), mathematics (6), and political science (6). Other academic subjects include engineering, architecture, occupational therapy, photography, educational guidance and music.

Twenty-five per cent of those in graduate study, representing some 20 fields of study, hold scholarships ranging from tuition to all expenses or assistantships ($550-$1,400 plus tuition). A shift from previous years when awards were evenly divided between scholarships and assistantships is indicated by the fact that two-thirds of the group have assistantships. In addition, a number of the men are studying on the G.I. bill.

Oberlin Forever . . .

Although the class scattered to 54 colleges and universities and seven secretarial schools from coast to coast and in four foreign countries, over half (83) went to eight institutions. Harvard, Michigan, Oberlin and Ohio State had 12 each, Western Reserve and Columbia 10 each, Yale eight and Chicago seven.

Seventy-three men and 80 women are employed and 17 others (11 men, six women) are holding temporary jobs or "looking for work." Sixty of them (36 men, 24 women) are employed in business — sales and sales promotion (seven), retailing (eight), insurance (three), management training (three), telephone Service representative (three), secretarial and office work of many kinds (20). Eight men are working in family businesses, in training for later responsibilities. The others are employed as accountants, bank clerks, air lines agent, television service and salesman, personnel assistants, restaurant hostess, etc.

Forty-four (13 men, 31 women) are teaching. Reflecting the demand for elementary teachers, half (22) are teaching at the kindergarten and primary levels, three others in upper elementary grades. Nine are teaching at the junior-senior high school level, most of them combining several teaching fields (such as science, mathematics, social science and coaching). Three men and four women are teaching physical education in public and private schools and a junior college.

Other Fields . . .

Eleven (six men, five women) have work in science — five of the men in industrial and production chemistry, the others in government and medical research. Nine others have gone directly into social work in settlement houses in this country and abroad, five are Y.W.C.A. secretaries, four newspaper reporters, and three have factory jobs looking toward later production and management training. Other occupational fields include library work, art museum work, commercial art, religious education, psychological research, recreational therapy, attendant in a mental hospital, acting, industrial recreation, and community chest organization.

From the Conservatory of Music, 20 (15 men, five women) are continuing study, all but two of them in music. The fields of study include piano, music education, voice, music history, conducting, musicology, organ, cello, and liberal arts. Nine of the group are studying at Oberlin, three at Michigan, and others at Ohio, Indiana, Syracuse, Columbia, Colorado, Ohio State and at Juilliard. One-third of them (seven) have graduate assistantships or scholarships ranging from $250-$800 in value.

Sixty per cent of the Conservatory graduates have gone directly into music positions. Thirty-seven are teaching — 22 in public school music education, seven in colleges, three in private schools, and five in their own studios or in the public schools, but on a private basis. Other music occupations include church music (eight), symphony orchestra player (two), radio station musician, accompanist for a singer, and music shop manager. Two others are trying out for professional singing positions. Four women are in non-music jobs — cashier, library work, teaching sixth grade, and dancing instructor; three men are in military service and several others expect to be called soon.

Beginning salaries for the class of 1950 vary widely. In general, they range from $2100-$4400 for men and $1800-$3300 for women in business jobs; from $2000-$2700 in teaching, and $2700-$3600 in industry.

The world wide interests of Oberlinians are indicated by the 18 who spent the summer abroad (Europe, Guatemala, Puerto Rico), the seven who returned to homes abroad (Hawaii, Guatemala, Mexico, China, Philippines), and the 16 abroad this winter. Those spending the year abroad include students in Canada, France, Norway, England and Scotland, travelers in Central America and Italy, three workers with the Italian Service Mission in Naples, a teacher in France, and three teachers under mission boards in Japan, Puerto Rico and Chile.

"Aisle-ward" Bound . . .

For the past three years, over a quarter of the class has been married by November 1, and the class of 1950 continues this trend. Already 73 men and 42 women are married, while several others will be married by the first of the year. Thirty-three found partners among class mates (including three girls who married former classmates), 40 others (30 men and 10 women) married Oberlinians from other classes, and 42 (28 men, 14 women) married non-Oberlinians. Nine of the women report themselves as not seeking employment, but the others are, or expect to be, combining jobs or study with homemaking.

The occupational picture given in this summary is likely to be out-of-date at this reading. By December we estimate that 16 men are (or soon will be) in service. Fourteen more are in Army and Navy Reserves, at least 30 have 1A classification and another 20 have not yet been classified. The chances are, therefore, that a number of them will be called for military service in the next few months.

NOTE — The class notes compiled on the following pages are accurate as of November 1. Events which have occurred since that date are recorded in the future tense.

College of Arts and Sciences

Allen, Kenneth C.—822 Bryant Ave., Winnetka, Ill. Ken is studying at the Graduate Teachers College of Winnetka, Ill. The program includes an internship at the Skokie School and "four seminars a week—each in a different field—taught by people who teach children during the day but who spend time working with us after then school day is over, so theory and practice should jibe well."

Allen, Phillip M.—431 Vanderbilt Hall, 107 Ave. Louis Pasteur, Boston, Mass. Phil spent the summer working at the Champion Paper & Fiber Co. in Hamilton, Ohio. This year he is a student at Harvard Medical School.

Alvord, Emily A.—2000 Ridgeview Ave., Los Angeles 41, Calif. Emily is a secretary at the Queen of Angels Hospital in Los Angeles. "The work is very interesting and the hospital is a wonderful place to work. At present I'm living with friends. I've acquired a '36 Plymouth coupe!"

Arakawa, Ada A.—Lihue, Kauai, T. H. After studying at the summer session of the University of Hawaii, Ada is teaching seventh grade at Lihue School.

Arsanian, Nazareth—2666 Shaker Rd., Cleveland Hts. 18, Ohio. (Home). We have no information on Nat's plans.

Austin, Donald H.—1132 Lakeview Rd., Cleveland, Ohio. Don is a group worker at the East End Neighborhood House in Cleveland and is also taking some work at the Western Reserve School of Social Work.

Bacon, JoAnne—803 Tenth St., Beloit, Wis. After a summer as counsellor at Camp T-Ledge in Maine, JoAnne headed for Wisconsin, where she is teaching first grade in Beloit.

Bain, Carol Lou—4955 Marathon St., Los Angeles, Calif. "This summer my parents and I drove to California, where we plan to live permanently. We find swaying palms and sunshine a welcome change from Oberlin's mud puddles. But even this far away, I've seen many Oberlin friends. . . . Probably few college graduates 'end up' in Junior college, but that's what I've done. I'm taking a secretarial course at Metropolitan Junior College, and plan later on to do some graduate study in English at either UCLA or USC."

Bair, Raymond L.—2526 Piedmont St., Berkeley, Calif. Ray is studying the Russian language at the University of California.

Bair, Robert A.—Keen Mountain, Va. Bob took the summer course of the Yosemite Field School of Natural History, and then spent a couple of weeks working for the Dartmouth Outing Club. In October he began teaching at Garden High School, Oakwood, Va.—"general science, biology, mathematics, health, physical education, driving and assistant coach."

Barnett, John W.—61 Perkins Hall, Harvard U., Cambridge, Mass. After a summer job at a filling station in Cleveland, John headed for Harvard Law School in September. "Oberlin men of '50 have already gained some notoriety at the Harvard Law School. Both Jim Frech, my roommate, and Dick Kropp appeared in pictures on the front page of recent issues of the Harvard Crimson. Jim happened to be standing in front of the registration desk when the Crimson photographer recorded the historic registration of the first woman in the Harvard Law School; while Dick was snapped lugging his suitcase into one of the new dormitories in Harvard's spectacularly modern new Graduate Center."

Bauer, Maynard N.—453 Baxter St., Medina, Ohio. Maynard is teaching science, math, and sociology and coaching at the high school in Homerville, Ohio, which is close enough to his home in Medina so he can commute.

Bcan, David W.—7½ S. Main St., Oberlin, Ohio. Dave decided to continue his piano study and is enrolled at the Conservatory of Music this year.

Beehtel, Mary Jo—177 Gillette St., Painesville, Ohio. Mary Jo took a course at the University of Buffalo during the summer to complete her graduation requirements. She is teaching health and physical education at Harvey High School, Painesville, Ohio. "Painesville is treating me fine. I was surprised to discover that Janet Brown, '49, is teaching at Mentor, about five miles away, and that Glenna Oschier, '52, is studying at Lake Erie College, which is right down the road from the high school."

Beckstrand, Robert G.—Lutheran Theological Seminary, Gettysburg, Pa. Bob is studying for the ministry at Lutheran Theological Seminary. He and Dorothy Wade are to be married on November 9. (See Conservatory news for details.)

Behrens, Robert H.—104 E. Main St., Penn Yan, N. Y. No direct report from Bob, but we hear that he is working as a cost accountant for a construction company in his home town of Penn Yan.

Bender, Donna M.—1340 W. 65 St., Cleveland 2, Ohio. Donna studied typing and shorthand during the summer at Gregg College in Chicago. In September she moved to Cleveland where she is doing secretarial work in the office of the Ohio Committee for Fair Employment Practices Legislation. She is sharing an apartment with Skipper Wolfe.

Bent, Robert D.—1912 Bolsover St., Houston, Texas. Bob has started work on his Ph.D. in physics at Rice Institute.

Berting, Frances M.—Fort Hill House, Northampton, Mass. Since July, Fran has been an assistant in physics at Smith College. She is studying half time and is "a Research Fellow under the Office of Naval Research, working in spectroscopy in particular." During the summer she did full-time research work. "The work is fascinating and I'm enjoying it immensely. . . . There are 28 graduate students here in Fort Hill, including three from England, one from Sweden and one from Finland; and a girl from Brazil and another from Korea eat here. The cosmopolitan atmosphere is wonderful and made even more interesting by the various accents!"

Bickford, Ralph L.—35 Elk St., Hempstead, N. Y. Ralph had the tough luck to get an infected foot during the summer and has been in the hospital for several weeks and still on crutches when he reported. It meant that he had to give up his plans for study at Yale Divinity School this year. Future plans are not yet settled, but he is hoping to get a YMCA position before long.

Blackwell, Charles A.—Charlie has just left Oberlin to study modern dance at the New School in New York City. During the fall he "held down three jobs"—steel mill, trucking company and country club—while he and Dave Bean shared an apartment in Oberlin.

Bodell, Bruce—274 Forest Ave., Glen Ellyn, Ill. Bruce spent the summer as an orderly in surgery at the Presbyterian Hospital in Chicago. This year he is taking graduate courses in biochemistry at Northwestern University, strengthening his preparation for Northwestern Medical School to which he has been admitted for 1951.

Bonar, M. Ann—45 Crescent St., Cam bridge, Mass. After a summer job in Philadelphia in the Internes-in-Industry project of the American Friends Service Committee, Ann began work in September as research assistant to Dr. Janet MacArthur, Children's Medical Division, Massachusetts General Hospital. They are working on an endocrinological research project under the sponsorship of Harvard Medical School. Ann and Pat Lewis are living at the same place.

Braun, Mary Lou—26704 Greenleaf St., Roseville, Mich. Mary Lou had a summer trip to California and then returned to Michigan to teach physical education in one high school and two elementary schools in Roseville.

Broder, Arthur M.—47 Pleasant Ave., Passaic, N. J. Art is learning the family business, Broder's Shoes, Inc., a retail shoe store.

Brown, Janet E.—44 Mill St., Binghamton, N. Y. During the summer, Janet worked as typist and file clerk at the Locomotive Division of the General Electric Co. in Erie, Pa. In September she became Young Adult Program Director at the Y.W.C.A. in Binghamton, working particularly with the business and industrial girls groups.

Brown, O. Dwight—366 S. Mead St., Zanesville, Ohio. Dwight plans to stay in Zanesville permanently and has a job as assistant to the executive director of the Community Chest and Community Service Council. "I am finding Zanesville an interesting place in which to live. I am associated with the Democratic Party here as well as the Zanesville Council on Human Rights. This latter is a real live organization which is doing some important work. . . ."

Bruckheimer, Alan D.—Journal Publishing Co., Gilbertsville, N. Y. Al is owner and publisher of five weekly newspapers which he bought a year ago. "Dave Fowler and his wife Mickey (Natalie Cook) (both '48) took over these papers for me last October and have done a wonderful job. I joined them after graduation and we have been working together since then. There is a bit more involved here than on the 'Review,' but some aspects are remarkably similar. . . . There's something pretty wonderful about rural journalism. It's rather exciting to have even an indirect part in every wedding, every birth, every death, every happiness, every sadness of small town folks. . . . There is no place I've seen that can touch Otsego County in natural beauty. From Lake Otsego, along the Susquehanna, into the highlands of the Adirondack-Pocono plateau region. . . . stretches the grandeur of this historical countryside."

Buchanan, Irene—Calle 58-A, No. 500C, Merida, Yucatan, Mexico. Irene spent the summer as counsellor at the Dayton Girl Scout Camp Whip-Poor-Will Hills at Morrow, Ohio.

AT THE WEDDING

. . . of Mary Jean Daly, '50, and Robert Masters, '48, these Oberlinians were present: John Welker, '51; William McKeon, '49; Mrs. Elizabeth P. McKeon, '49; Collier Altman, '48; Mary Jean and Bob; Mrs. Judy L. Moyer, '50; David Moyer; and Patricia Helms, '52. John Haylor, '50, and John Bradshaw, '47, are kneeling in front

LOU
SANDERSONHOPE
JENSENPHILIP
THOMASBETTY
BURNSDONALD
AUSTIN

... teaching grade school music; studying in Paris; doing graduate study in economics; teaching music in college; doing group work in Cleveland

She left for home in mid-August, planning to stop in Monterrey, Saltillo, Guanajuato and Mexico City, visiting relatives and friends. Future plans were unsettled, but she hoped to secure a teaching position.

Buck, Daniel C. — 27 Mt. Prospect Ave., Verona, N. J. Dan is living at home this year and is studying electrical engineering at the Newark College of Engineering. During the summer he "had several visits to Sand Lake, Ont., in the Redau District — catching bass, pike, perch, and muskellunge."

Buckley, Wendell D. — 183 N. Professor St., Oberlin, Ohio. Wendell began work on his M.M. in Singing in the summer session and is continuing his study at the Oberlin Conservatory this year. He is also continuing his job as organist-choir director of the Congregational Church at North Ridgeville, Ohio.

Bulock, James G. — 4121 Halldale Ave., Los Angeles 62, Calif. During the summer Jim worked for the Eastman Kodak Company in Rochester, N. Y. Then in August Jim and Marie (Marjorie Losch, '48) "leisurely toured the country for about three weeks," heading for graduate study at the U. of Southern California. But on arrival in Los Angeles they "discovered that the Veteran's Administration in Los Angeles wouldn't accept me as a student under Public Law 16 with the training objective of sociologist. So — after getting over the shock we started job hunting and I landed a job as teller at the Bank of America."

Burgeson, Duane A. — 4537 Mayfield Rd., Cleveland 21, Ohio. Duane spent the summer travelling in Europe, returning to the States in late September. When he reported, his future plans were still unsettled.

Burgoon, David W., Jr. — International House, University of Chicago, Chicago 37, Ill. Dave is attending law school at the University of Chicago.

Burket, Richard E. — 513 Columbus Ave., Sandusky, Ohio (please forward). Dick was inducted into the Army on Oct. 6, and we hear that he and Bruce Kinsey have both landed at Fort Knox for basic training. On Sept. 3 his engagement to Carolyn Anne McMillan, x'52, was announced.

Burkholder, Dorinthe A. — 60 Summit St., Newton 58, Mass. Dorinthe spent the summer as a unit leader in a Girl Scout camp in Connecticut, and is now taking a secretarial course at the Hixcox Secretarial School in Boston. "I find secretarial school full of last year's college graduates who've found the world is interested, not in what you know but in what you can do. I'm also delighted to find Boston full of classmates."

Burnett, Kathryn E. — Fort Hill House, Northampton, Mass. Kathryn spent the summer as a merchandise record clerk at the J. C. Penney Co. in Amarillo, Texas. This year she has a teaching fellowship (assisting in the music library) for graduate study in musicology at Smith College. "So far as I know, Frances Eberting and I are the only ex-Oberlinians here at Smith — but the grounds are lovely, the students and faculty very friendly, and I am looking forward to two wonderful years here."

Burns, Robert F., Jr. — 5901 Gregory Ave., Hollywood, Los Angeles 38, Calif. Bob and Annabelle ("A.B.") Plicanti, '49, were married on June 17 at the Woodstown Friends Meeting House, Woodstown, N. J., with Dick Studer a best man and Edith Savage, '49, bridesmaid. The wedding brought a real Oberlin reunion with Pat and Wes Simon, Dorothy Frey, '49, Mary Jo Clark, '49, Connie Atwater Bowser, '49, Ben Mercer, Allison Le Pontois, Dave Mead, Fran Kraft, '49, and Alan Bobbe, '49, all present. In July, Bob began work as a salesman for the Union Oil Co. of California, and in September, A.B. started teaching physical education at the Marlborough School for Girls, a private school "only ten minutes on the bus" from their apartment.

Butterfield, Joanne — 5 Fernwood Ave., Bradford, Mass. Jo spent the summer as head tennis counsellor at Aloha Camp, Fairlee, Vt. This year she is instructor in physical education at Bradford Junior College, teaching golf, tennis, swimming, and archery during the fall term. "One of the summer's highlights was a three-day trip climbing the Presidential range. The first night out I discovered Jean Daly, '48, at the Mt. Madison hut — quite exciting to find another Oberlinian on top of a mountain! Now I'm enjoying tremendously being on the other side of the academic fence — even though I've often been mistaken for a student!"

Callomon, I. Ruth — 2006 N St., N.W., Washington 6, D. C. Since July Ruth has been working at the National Bureau of Standards, doing laboratory work in electronics.

Candor, Leslie Ann — R. 7, Box 351, Munger Rd., Dayton 9, Ohio. Leslie began work in June at the Frigidaire Division of General Motors Corp., Dayton, in the cost estimation department. Her engagement to William Farquhar, '43, has just been announced. They are to be married on Nov. 18 in the Westminster Presbyterian Church, Dayton.

Carhart, John S. — 616 Lippincott Ave., Riverton, N. J. John is assistant to the head of the freight traffic office at the Pennsylvania Railroad, Philadelphia, Pa., and is living at home this year.

Carnegie, Dorothy E. — 5487 Greenwood Ave., Chicago 15, Ill. Dorothy spent the summer as a waitress in a summer resort on Cape Cod, and in September began work for a doctor of osteopathy degree at the Chicago College of Osteopathy.

Carrigan, Mrs. Robert L. (Janet L. Shelton) — 1100 S. Goodman St., Rochester 7, N. Y. Janet and Bob were married on Aug. 18 at the Lakewood Congregational Church, Lakewood, Ohio. Janet's sister, Lois Catherine, '41, was maid of honor, and Sylvia Babb, '49, Patricia Schraub, and Alice Louise Babeock, '54, were bridesmaids. Other Oberlinians present included her parents, Mr. '17 and Mrs. Elbert M. Shelton (Carolyn Klinefelter, '18), Mrs. Eugene Babeock (Esther Shelton, '21), Mr. '12, and Mrs. J. Hall Kellogg (Hannah Witkop, '16), Mrs. Howard Meermans (Pearl Long, '14), Audrey McQuilkan, Mr. '17, and Mrs. Harrol W. Baker (Virginia Baker, m'20), Mr. '12, and Mrs. Ralph T. Hisey (Anna Billington, '22), and Earl Dredge, '16. Bob is a student at the Colgate-Rochester Divinity School and Janet is teaching first grade at No. 8 School in Rochester. They are living in an apartment house for divinity school students.

Caton, Charles E. — 528 Elm St., Ann Arbor, Mich. After a summer working in the factory of the Brown Lipe Chapin Division of General Motors in Elyria, Charles is studying for his master's degree in philosophy at the University of Michigan.

Catton, William R., Jr. — 4168 Union Bay Lane, Seattle 5, Wash. Bill finished his Oberlin study last February and since then has been a graduate student in sociology at the University of Washington. Nancy (Lewis), x'51, is carrying full time study and will receive her A.B. next June in Sociology. She made the honor roll for her first two quarters work.

Child, William C., Jr. — 167 N. Prospect Ave., Madison, Wis. Bill studied French in the summer session at Hiram College (Ohio), and is now a graduate assistant in physical chemistry at the University of Wisconsin.

Clark, Evelyn M. — 41 Bowdoin St., Apt. 23, Cambridge, Mass. In September, Evelyn began work as an assistant librarian at the Harvard Graduate School of Education. On the side she is taking a course in French at Harvard. "I'm sure that one-fourth of the class of '50 is in Cambridge! Last Saturday, as an instance, eight of us gathered in Harvard Square within an hour — of course, we've spent hours exchanging bits of Oberlin news."

Clark, John H. — 156 S. Professor St., Oberlin, Ohio. John is assistant to the Alumni Secretary, Oberlin College, and is also editor of the Alumni Bulletin. His wedding to Joan Gunther, '51, was reported in the August "Alumni Magazine." Joan is completing her senior year.

Cleland, W. Wallace — 1300 E. First St., Bloomington, Ind. Wally is enrolled at Indiana University as a "special graduate student," taking courses in biology in preparation for later work in biochemistry.

Clemence, John L. — 320 Claremont Ave., Montclair, N. J. Jack is teaching English, French, mathematics, music, and physical education in the sixth grade of Short Hills School, Millburn, N. J., and on the side is beginning work on his master's in education at the Newark State Teachers College. "My teaching situation is ideal. Like the town and my kids. As you can see, I'm teaching just about everything, but I love it all. Lee Bosshart, '42, is head of the music department in Millburn and we are hoping to do some violin and piano work together . . . I've moved into my own apartment in Montclair and have already had several Oberlinians in to pass on it — Jack Diercks, '49, Max, '49 and Carrie Robrock Greeff, '48, who live only a few blocks away, Roy Bair, '49, Betty Anne McMullen, all of whom seem to be doing well . . ."

Cochran, Richard W. — 403 McCauley St., Chapel Hill, N. C. Dick is a graduate student in social work at the University of North Carolina.

Colbrunn, Fred H. — 312 9th Ave., Columbus, Ohio. Fred is taking further pre-med work at Ohio State University this year and is rooming with Chuck Lahar. However, he has a 1-A draft classification and isn't sure when the Army will call him.

Collins, Arthur L. — 607 West Ave., Elyria, Ohio. Since last February, Art has been working for his father, who is a manufacturer's representative. He recently passed his pre-induction physical and is waiting for his draft call.

Collins, Robert E. — 12 Hyde Pl., Toledo 10, Ohio (home). No word from Bob, but we assume he is teaching biology in the high school at Holland, Ohio, near Toledo, as that was his plan in June.

Collinson, James A. — 95 Howard Ave., New Haven 11, Conn. Jim and Yolanda Costanzo were married Aug. 23 (see next item for the details). Jim is a graduate assistant in physics at Yale University. "Yolce and I are living in a Co-op house, located on the opposite side of town from the University. Despite the inevitable aspects of living closely with a number of people randomly selected, life is pleasant and agreeable in this group."

Collinson, Mrs. James A. (Yolanda Costanzo) — 95 Howard Ave., New Haven 11, Conn. Yolce and Jim were married on Aug. 23 at Fairchild Chapel, Oberlin, with Charles Caton acting as best man, and Yolce's sister, Gloria, as maid of honor. After a wedding trip to Bermuda, they settled in New Haven. During the summer, Yolce took a secretarial course at the Dyke School in Cleveland and now has a secretarial position in the office of the dean of the Yale Divinity School.

Collister, Mrs. Robert G. (Nancy Durand Collister) — 158 W. Lorain St., Oberlin, Ohio. Nancy is teaching first grade in the Oberlin public schools.

Conner, Theodore W. — 7045 Oleatha Ave., St. Louis, Mo. "This summer Kathryn (Wahlgren, '48) and I travelled for six weeks through the west and northwest and have decided we would like to settle in the great northwest someday." At present, though, Ted is working in the planning division of the Ralston Purina Co. in St. Louis and is taking night school courses in office management at Washington University.

Conover, Florence S. — 503 W. 121 St., New York 27, N. Y. Connie is a secretary in the television films department of the National Broadcasting Company. "Pat Peacock and I have an apartment (2½ rooms) and are enjoying city life. My studying is limited to shorthand at Columbia — convenient since we live almost in the middle of the Columbia area."

Conover, Robert J. — 2734 Yale St., New Haven, Conn. Bob is a graduate assistant in zoology at Yale University, and is assisting in two labs per week.

Cook, Mrs. William R., Jr. (Anne D. Johnson) — 3929 49th St., Long Island City 4, N. Y. Anne and Bill, '49, were married on Sept. 23 in the Sunnyside Community Church of Long Island City. Her former roommate, Mrs. Jack N. Gadel (Marguerite Seeley, '49), was matron of honor, Harry Easter, '49, best man, Bob Kingdon, '49, an usher, and Dave Johnson, organist. "Bill finished work for his master's at Columbia in July and had just gotten a job when the Army became interested in him, so he didn't even get started on the job. He has had his physical exam and is in the October draft quota, though we don't know what date he will have to go. I'm studying for my master's degree in mathematics at Columbia and we're living with my parents. . . . Nelly Trocme (gr. '49-'50) (my roommate last year) and Janine Quillen (gr. '49-'50) spent a week with me in June before they sailed for France. Janine was married on Sept. 19 to Jean Salou in her home town of St. Quay Portrieux. Nelly is engaged to Henry Blackburn, a young American doctor who is now in Europe doing public health work."

Cooper, Douglas H. — 494 Wolf's Lane, Pelham Manor, N. Y. "Plans for graduate study at Chapel Hill have been postponed, at least until mid-years. My father had a stroke on July 3 and since then I have been trying to manage his business (crossword puzzle building). At present I am living and working at home. If all goes well, I'll start work for my master's degree in February."

Corfman, Philip A. — 1615 Tremont St., Roxbury Crossing, Mass. Phil and Eunice (see below) waited table at the Three Village Inn in Stony Brook, L. I., N. Y., during the summer. They are now settled in the Boston area, while Phil attends Harvard Medical School.

Corfman, Mrs. Philip A. (Eunice Luccock Corfman) — 1615 Tremont St., Roxbury Crossing, Mass. Eunice is combining graduate study in philosophy at Radcliffe College with study in voice at the New England Conservatory of Music.

Corson, Geoffrey A. — 1711 Race St., Philadelphia, Pa. Geoff took a summer course in quantitative analysis at the University of Pennsylvania and then entered Hahnemann Medical College in September.

Craig, Peter S. — 379 Temple St., New Haven, Conn. Pete and Lois (Achor, x'52) worked for ten weeks during the summer at the Star Lake Inn in the Adirondacks. This year he is studying at Yale Law School and Lois has a job in the University department of health. They are centrally located in an apartment three blocks from the law quadrangle.

Crawford, James W. — 14914 Talman St., Harvey, Ill. After spending the summer as attendants at the Toledo, Ohio, State Hospital, Jim and Mary (Hohart, '49) are living in Harvey while Jim attends the Medical School at the University of Chicago and Mary works at the Arthur Anderson Co. (an accounting firm in the Loop.) "We're in process of buying a lot on which to house our trailer — we're quite isolated here in Harvey, almost like living in the country."

Crew, John K. — 5842 Deane Rd., Toledo 13, Ohio. John has been working temporarily as a truck driver for the du Pont Co. in Toledo, while he waits draft orders. He is 1A and "expecting order momentarily."

Curtis, Howard M. — 262 E. 19 St., Columbus, Ohio. Howie has a graduate assistantship in physical education at Ohio State University, helping with service classes and acting as lacrosse coach. He spent the summer as waterfront director at the Canton, Ohio, Y.M.C.A. camp.

Dalgaty, William D., Jr. — 1573 Winnetka Ave., Northfield, Ill. "After a brief six weeks at the University of Michigan business administration school last spring, I decided to get a job — and haven't regretted it a bit. I'm working as a sales trainee at J. T. Ryerson & Son, Inc., Chicago and find the steel industry fascinating. Right now I'm trying to learn some of the 10,000 odd items our warehouse stocks. Gloria (Clay, '49) is working as a bookkeeper-typist at the Northwestern University library in Evanston. We are staying with my parents until we find an apartment. 'Yogi' our orange tomcat given us by John Miethke is thriving."

Danforth, Theodore S. — R. 7, Lancaster, Pa. (please forward). Ted and Sue (Kessler, x'51) left in September for a horseback trip from Mexico City to Lima, Peru, some 6,000 miles. They travelled to Mexico City in a jeep station wagon, camping out on the way. There they planned to buy four horses and to ship the station wagon to Lima. They expect the trip to take them about six to seven months, and to carry them through ten countries. They will ride roughly parallel to the partly completed Pan American highway through Mexico, Guatemala, El Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua, Costa Rica, Panama, Colombia, Ecuador, and Peru, staying close to the Pacific coast. When they get to Lima, they plan to stay for a couple of years, while Ted takes a course in Spanish literature and Sue finishes her fourth year of college at the University of San Marcos.

Daniels, Robert H. — Euclid Branch P.O., Box 3055, Cleveland 17, Ohio. Bob started work as a ticket agent for Pan American World Airways last summer but because of an attack of acute infectious mononucleosis had to drop the job. He is still recovering and so future plans are uncertain.

Darmstadt, Quentin A. — Room 60, Perkins Hall, Cambridge 38, Mass. Quentin is a graduate student in mathematics at Harvard University this year.

Davies, William O. — 50 Revere Rd., Drexel Hill, Pa. No report from Bill. We think he may be in Akron working but are not certain.

Davis, Edward H. — US 52004242, Hdq. Battery, 703rd AAA, Camp Stewart, Ga. Ed was inducted into the Army on September 15 and is at Camp Stewart for his basic training.

Davis, James C., III — 4128 Third Rd., N., Arlington, Va. Since last March Jim has been working in the circulation department of the Washington Post, having been promoted to circulation area manager in May. "I supervise the home delivery of some 1,500 Washington Posts in an assigned territory — my area happens to be a part of Alexandria, Va., one of Washington's many suburbs. The job is supposed to be a 40 hour, 5 day week, but it usually ends up by being a 60 hour week. I do enjoy the work. Since I have 18-20 carrier boys working for me, ranging in age from 10 to 17, never does everyone of them do everything right at the same time! . . . On November 13 Gay Ries and I will be married in Wilmington, and with the combination of trying to keep up with the job, find an apartment and move in, it's been a busy fall."

Dean, Donald E. — 4317 Parsons Blvd., Flushing, N. Y. (home). No report from Don since last spring. At that time he was planning on grad study in chemistry in the fall, but no one here has heard how plans worked out.

Denison, William C., '49 — 204 N. Professor St., Oberlin, Ohio. Bill was nature councillor at Camp Woodland, Phoenicia, N. Y., during the summer. This year he and Margo (Mellinger) '48, are back in Oberlin where he is a graduate assistant in botany and Margo is teaching kindergarten in two schools in Elyria (mornings at one and afternoons at the other).

Dent, Robert J. — 10 N. Chestnut St., Norwalk, Ohio. Bob is working as a production chemist trainee at the Brown-Lipe-Chapin Division of General Motors Corp. in Elyria.

Derby, Eleanor F. — 3665 Olentangy Blvd., Columbus 14, Ohio. Since June Chris has been director of education at the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts. In September she took time out for "a wonderful month's vacation. Mother, Dad and I drove almost 7,000 miles through the mountain states and the southwest. We saw everything there was to see and maybe a little bit more! It was a trip I'll never forget."

Dettman, John W. — 6501 Bartlett St., Pittsburgh, Pa. John spent the summer working in the testing department of the Eastman Kodak Co. in Rochester, N. Y. This year he is a graduate assistant in mathematics, teaching college algebra and trig, at Carnegie Institute of Technology. (For further news of the Dettmans, see Conservatory report.)

Diehl, Henry H. — 70 E. 15 Ave., Columbus, Ohio. Henry has a teaching assistantship in mathematics at Ohio State University, "trying to teach college algebra to freshmen — trying at times but fun."

Dimon, Garth F. — 305 Marshall St., Syracuse, N. Y. Garth is a student in business administration at Syracuse University. No report on what Sally (Eysenbach), '49, is doing.

Dodge, Phyllis E. — 8606 N. Ida Ave., Portland 3, Ore. Phyllis had a summer job at Camp Robinson Crusoe in Sturbridge, Mass., then headed west to teach kindergarten in Portland, "a fine place in a beautiful part of the country."

Doege, Theodore C. — 205 Pomander Rd., Mineola, N. Y. "Tom Scott, '52, and I worked for a month and a half for the C. B. & Q. railroad on steel and surfacing gangs in Illinois, Iowa, and Nebraska, bumming all the way to Denver and Rocky Mountain National Park. The trip covered 5,000 miles, all hitchhiking, and was a tremendous experience!" This fall, Ted is working as a clerk in the accounting department of the New York Central railroad in New York City and taking night courses in biology at Hofstra College. Since he's 1A in the draft, plans are uncertain.

Donohoe, Carter H. — 28 Mellen St., Cambridge, Mass. Cart is studying at the Harvard Law School and Jo is working at the Howard Johnsons at Harvard Square, "meeting many Oberlin people as they drop in for snacks." "The six of us from the class of '50 at the Law School are busy with study, with not too much time for Oberlin get-togethers as yet."

Dorn, Ellen — Graduate House, 58 E. College St., Oberlin, Ohio. Ellen decided to do graduate work in psychology, and returned to Oberlin this year to complete the necessary undergraduate major in that field.

Dorsey, Beverly R. — Carver Hall, 211 Elm St., Washington, D. C. Beverly is a student in the College of Medicine, Howard University.

Downie, Douglas — 131 Wesley Ave., Youngstown 9, Ohio. Doug married Rita Rauch at the Mahoning Methodist Church,

BELDEN
PAULSON

EDWARD
DAVIS

NANCY
SUTTON

JANET
GRAHAM

BEVERLY
DORSEY

... doing volunteer social work in Italy; taking basic training in Army; studying and working as a graduate assistant; working as personnel assistant; studying medicine

MR., '50, AND MRS. G. MORGAN
GIBSON

(Barbara Browne, x'52)

*... cut that first slice at their
August 31 wedding*

Youngstown, on August 12. Chet McPhee, Raymond Wolff, '51, Joan Trott, '51, and Jane Deschaux, '53, represented Oberlin. Doug is teaching junior high school arithmetic at Poland, a suburb of Youngstown, and Rita is a secretary in an insurance agency.

Drummond, Sgt. Robert H., '49 - ER 364-68991, ERC-TC, Ft. Lewis, Wash. Bob started the year as a graduate student in organ at Eastman School of Music. But he was in the Army reserves and was called for active duty after two weeks of school.

Duggan, Mrs. Richard W. (Jean C. Mitchell) — 226 Thompson Blvd., Watertown, N. Y. Jean and Dick were married on June 17 at the Stone St. Presbyterian Church, Watertown, N. Y., with Phyllis Dodge maid of honor and Katrina Shrader bridesmaid. "Dick is from my home town and graduated from the U.S. Naval Academy in June. He reported for duty on June 30 and was sent to the Mediterranean and from there through the Suez Canal to the Pacific where he is now with the 7th Fleet off the coast of Asia. In the meantime, I'm living with my parents and have a job as Teen-Age Program Director for the Y.W.C.A., which is keeping me mighty busy. Dick is aboard a destroyer and his home base is Newport, R.I. Eventually we'll be moving there but just when, no one knows."

Dunton, Barbara J. — St. Agnes School, Albany 4, N. Y. Barbara is teaching fourth grade at the St. Agnes School, a private school. She spent the month of July as assistant teacher in the Children's School at Vassar Summer Institute, working with the 7-8 year old division.

Dyck, Norman P. — 276 Forest St., Oberlin, Ohio. Norman spent the summer at home helping on the family farm. In late September he started work in the electroplating department of the Brown-Lipe-Chapin Division of General Motors in Elyria. He's rooming at Professor Dan Harris' home.

Ebbott, Peter C. — 588 Huron Ave., Cambridge, Mass. Pete is working for his master of arts in teaching at the Harvard Graduate School of Education.

Eby, Donald A. — 154 E. Maplehurst, Ferndale 20, Mich. Since June Don has been working for Chrysler Corp. in Detroit, working until October as a welder making fluid drive couplings, and since then as a timekeeper in the accounting department of the engineering division. These are the first steps in a training program. "Dick Pergler, '51, and I drove to Washington Labor Day week end and attended the wedding of Bobb Stevens, '45, and Shirley Chapman. We brought Marilyn Stevens back with us to her teaching position in Royal Oak."

Ecker, Jane K. — 34 Governor Long Rd.,

Hingham, Mass. During the summer Jane worked as an artist in a needlework shop in Boston. She is now enrolled for secretarial study at the Hickox Secretarial School in Boston.

Eddy, Melissa J. — Army YMCA, Fort Monroe, Va. Melissa is teaching second grade in Fort Monroe, her home town.

Enfroy, Henri L. — 518 N. Broadway, Baltimore, Md. Henri is a student at the Medical School, Johns Hopkins University.

Felch, Q. Roger, '49 — Box 402, State College, Pa. "Bud" received his degree in '50, but belongs more closely to the '49 class, as he was not in Oberlin last year, but teaching physical education at the Warren School in Olney, Md. This year he is a graduate student in physical education at Pennsylvania State College.

Ferreira, Richard L. — 13 Highland Ave., Maplewood, N. J. Dick is interested in public opinion polling and during the month of October gained experience in political interviewing for the American Institute of Public Opinion. "I'm ringing doorbells six days a week trying to learn how the people feel about the coming election." He has been working on the mid-west — Ohio, Indiana and Illinois in particular. Future plans are unsettled.

Firestone, Richard F. — 167 N. Prospect Ave., Madison, Wis. Dick has a teaching assistantship in general chemistry at the University of Wisconsin. He and Bill Child are rooming at the same place.

Fisher, Stanley M. — 801 Princeton Ave., Ann Arbor, Mich. After his marriage last February, Stan and his wife settled in Cleveland for the spring and summer while he worked as floor supervisor at the May Co. In September they moved to Ann Arbor, where Stan is studying at Michigan Law School.

MR., '50, AND MRS. RICHARD UTLEY
(Virginia Curtis, '50)

... are shown after their August 13 wedding

Fishman, Erwin — 3 Convent St., Providence 8, R. I. Erwin is a graduate assistant in chemistry at Brown University. (For further news, see Conservatory reports.)

Fletcher, Norman F. — 1505 Cordova Ave., Lakewood 7, Ohio. Since July, "Bud" has been sales promotion man for Standard Brands, working out of their Cleveland sales office.

Fox, Richard F. — Lawyer's Club, Ann Arbor, Mich. Dick is another student at the Michigan Law School, taking the same classes as Stan Fisher.

Frech, James A. — 12 Walker St., Cambridge, Mass. Jim is also a law student, enrolled at Harvard Law School.

Frederickson, James A. — Central YMCA, Philadelphia, Pa. "After taking a short vacation trip through New England and the East with John Wenrich and Fred Colbrunn after graduation, I was fortunate in obtaining a job as student manager trainee with the Stouffer Corp. (restaurants) late in July. Things were going nicely until mid September when I passed my draft physical, so while continuing to work, I'm waiting for orders to report for induction, and expect to receive them before Christmas."

Fry, Barbara — 1747 Cambridge St., Cambridge, Mass. After a summer job as waitress at Old Fort Inn in Kennebunkport, Me., Barbara is now a graduate student in psychology at Radcliffe College, working for her master's degree.

Gallo, Samuel E. — 1431 Lincoln St., Toledo, Ohio (please forward). Sam planned to leave for Rome, Italy, in October. He expects to be there for a year or so, "writing, and perhaps studying a little."

Galloway, Mrs. Robert L. (Virginia Sawhill) — 1235 E. 14 St., Denver 6, Colo. Ginny and Bob, '49, were married on June 25 in St. Francis, Kansas — a church wedding, followed by a reception at Ginny's home. Bob graduated in February, 1949, and is employed at the Colorado National Bank. Ginny is teaching second grade in University Park School in Denver.

Gates, Anne D. — 424 Second St., Elyria, Ohio. Andy spent the summer as one of two travelling representatives to youth conferences for the Congregational Christian Church. She is teaching kindergarten in Elyria this year and living at home.

Gehring, Philip K. — 205 E. First St., Kannapolis, N. C. In July Phil became minister of music at the Kimball Memorial Lutheran Church in Kannapolis and is also doing some private piano teaching. "Kannapolis is the country's largest unincorporated town, about 25,000 population, most of it owned by Cannon Mills. . . . Louise Ankeny, '48 and Betty Burns are 45 miles from here at Statesville. Once in a while Henry Cook comes over from Rocky Mount and the four of us have a great old reunion."

Geibel, Nancy J. — The Grier School, Tyrone, Pa. Nancy studied at the University of San Carlos, Guatemala City, this summer and was there during the minor revolution of July 20-27. At present she is teaching Spanish I, French I, Latin American history, 8th grade English and health at the Grier School, a private school for girls.

Gerlach, John D. — 24854 Florence Ave., North Olmsted, Ohio. John is one of the six Oberlinians in the first year class at the Western Reserve Medical School.

Geyer, James R. — Abbott Hall, 710 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago, Ill. During the summer Jim had a job as salesman for National Biscuit Co. in Chicago, and also managed to see a few operations at the medical school hospitals. This fall he began work for his M.D. at Northwestern Medical School. He is engaged to Lael Hannon who is working in Chicago this year.

Giamati, Charles C., Jr. — 933 Forest St., Ann Arbor, Mich. Charles completed his Oberlin degree in summer study at the University of Michigan and this fall began work on his master's in physics there. "Oberlin has quite a contingent here! About 20 of us have our own rooting section for the football games."

Gibson, G. Morgan — 518 N. Van Buren St., Iowa City, Iowa. Morgan is a graduate student in English literature at the State University of Iowa. His marriage to Barbara Ann Browne, x'52, took place on August 31 at the First Presbyterian Church in Normal, Ill. Barbara is a junior at Iowa U.

JUNE WEDDING BELLS

*... rang for Mr. and Mrs. James
Ramsey (Sylvia Merrill, '50)*

Gilbert, Alan M. — 130 Woodland St., Oberlin, Ohio. Al spent July in the conservation laboratory at Leesville Lake, Ohio, run by Ohio State University. He's 1A and expects to be called soon, so has been doing temporary jobs in Oberlin during the fall.

Gohle, Arthur W. — 1418 Eastlawn St., Detroit, Mich. Art is a technical writer for Haig and Patterson, an industrial film company. (See next item for other news.)

Gohle, Mrs. Arthur W. (Patricia Callahan) — 1418 Eastlawn St., Detroit, Mich. Pat worked as a secretary at Shaw-Barton, Inc., in Coshocton, Ohio, from June until October. She and Art were married in the Presbyterian Church in Coshocton on Oct. 14 and she is now job hunting in Detroit.

Goldthwaite, Duncan — Room 71, Perkins Hall, Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass. Duncan had a summer job with the South Dakota State Geological Survey, working with Dr. George D. Hubbard, emeritus geology professor at Oberlin. This year he is a graduate student in geology at Harvard University.

Goodson, Virginia J. — Talladega College, Talladega, Ala. Ginger was a counsellor at Circle Pines Camp in Michigan during the summer. Her job at Talladega is in the Sessions Elementary School, where she has 13 pupils, ages 4-9 years. "The younger children do not come to school in the afternoon, leaving only nine students. I have two practice teachers each quarter. There are only two classes in our building, which leaves several rooms for special things such as science, library, quiet-room, auditorium. The playground is well equipped and has grass instead of gravel. On Saturday mornings the swimming pool is open to our students and they are given swimming instruction."

Gordon, Paul — 131 E. 93 St., New York 28, N. Y. (please forward) Paul is a student at the University of Chicago Medical School, but as yet we have no Chicago residence address for him.

Graham, Janet L. — 33 Hammersley Ave., Poughkeepsie, N. Y. In September Janet began work as a personnel assistant at the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation in Poughkeepsie. Her former roommate, Kit Shrader, is in New York City, so they have gotten together several week ends.

Graham, Mrs. Roger K. (Polly Jo Anderson) — 5606 Drexel Ave., Chicago, Ill. Polly and Roger, a 1950 graduate of M.I.T., were married on June 20 in the United Church of Bridgeport, Conn. Oberlin attendants included her sister, Marlowe, '51, maid of honor, and Jan Folk (now Mrs. Charles Windle), Hope Jensen, and Don Fowler, '54. Roger and Polly are both studying at the University of Chicago, Roger as a teaching assistant in chemistry and Polly studying for her master's degree in sociology.

Graves, John L. — 5765 Blackstone Ave., Chicago 37, Ill. John is a graduate student in biophysics at the University of Chicago, beginning work toward his Ph.D. degree.

Gregg, Peter A., '49 — 801 Lewis St., Laramie,

Wyo. Although Pete received his degree in '50, he has been enrolled at the University of Wyoming for graduate study for the past year and is continuing study there.

Griffith, K. Hope — 406 Jackson St., Greensboro, N. C. Hope is a secretary in the production planning department of Carter Fabrics Division at Greensboro.

Grubbs, Caroline H. — 111 Pleasant St., Windsor, Conn. No direct word from Caroline, but we understand that she is working in an office near home.

Grun, Mrs. John, Jr. (Elizabeth Jane Jones) — 94 Church St., New Brunswick, N. J. Liz' husband is a student at Rutgers University and since last February she has been a research assistant in the Bureau of Biological Research there.

Hannon, Lael M. — 11 E. Scott St., Chicago, Ill. Lael is working as a hostess at a Stonifers' restaurant. Her engagement to Jim Geyer was announced during the summer.

Harris, Patricia — 148 S. Professor St., Oberlin, Ohio. Pat has opened her own studio in Oberlin at 33 W. College St. She offers a commercial art service (lettering, posters, window decoration, etc.) and art classes for children.

Harrison, Richard C. — 744 Welsted St., Napoleon, Ohio. Dick's temporary job this summer seems to be unique — "I like to call it 'can handler' because that's just what it amounted to. I put tin cans onto a conveyor which in turn carried them to another part of the factory to be filled with Campbell's tomato juice. But killer frost set in last week, and the job has ended." Dick plans to head for Rhode Island soon and to get a job in the east.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT VALETT
(Shirley Bellman, '50)

... are living in Chicago where Bob is working toward his master's degree

Hart, Joan Ruth — 847 Exposition Blvd., Los Angeles 7, Calif. Joan studied at the University of California summer session and has begun work this fall on her M.D. degree at the University of Southern California.

Heald, Mark A. — 2784 Yale Station, New Haven, Conn. After spending the summer vacationing at home and in Ontario, Illinois and Montana, Mark has "settled down in New Haven as a graduate assistant in Physics at Yale University." He is assisting in two elementary physics labs and reading papers for two elementary and one intermediate recitation section each week.

Hempy, Frederick S. — 3137 Chadbourne Rd., Shaker Hts., Cleveland 20, Ohio. Fred spent July at the Oberlin College Geology Field Camp in Virginia and August working with Dr. Paul Sears in New Mexico. When he reported, he had just started looking for a job in geology, so that future plans were still unsettled.

Henderson, Bancroft C. — Box 357 Rogers Center, Bloomington, Ind. Ban studied at the University of Wisconsin summer session and then began work on his Ph.D. in government at Indiana University this fall. His engagement to Judith Holiday, '49, was announced this fall.

Henderson, Donald A. — Box 213, Strong Memorial Hospital, Rochester, N. Y. During

SUNNY SKIES

... and sunny smiles marked the wedding of Mr., '50, and Mrs.
Robert Burns (Annabelle Flitcraft, '49)

the summer Don was assistant program director at Camp Ohyesa, the Detroit, Mich., Y.M.C.A. camp, where he has worked for the past four summers. He is a student at the School of Medicine, University of Rochester. "The work is more stimulating than I had ever imagined it would be. I'm living very near the medical school in a private home with three other med students, one of whom is Al Fink, '49 ... Kay Bush, '48, and I became engaged last June and hope to be married next year."

Hendrickson, Robert — 273 Lora Ave., Youngstown 4, Ohio (home). No word from Bob since he graduated last February. However, he had planned to secure a position in the Youngstown area and we assume he is working there.

Hennings, Robert E. — 2536 Piedmont Ave., Berkeley 4, Calif. Bob "spent the summer loafing in Santa Barbara" and is now beginning study for his B.D. degree at the Pacific School of Religion, where Ken Johnson is also studying this year.

Heritage, Norman T. — 314 Blaine St., Elyria, Ohio. Norman's plans were still unsettled when he reported.

Hileman, Roy L. — Box 191, Phoenix, Ariz. Roy is studying at the American Institute of Foreign Trade in Phoenix. In August he was married to Vivian Inloes from his home town of Hamilton, Ohio.

Hill, Louise — The Experiment, Putney, Vt. In October Louise became director of admissions for the Experiment in International Living. "It's a small, very informal office right in the mountains. We have a most congenial group living together — do our own cooking and housekeeping. Proximity to Putney School makes possible many cultural interests. I've already gotten into some chamber music groups and an orchestra."

Hill, Richard R. — Virginia City Players, Virginia City, Mont. "Since graduation in February, I have managed to stagger work with fun. After a trip to Chicago and Northern Michigan in February, I sold men's furnishings at Sterling-Lindner-Davis Co. in Cleveland until Easter. From then until Commencement I was observed on the grounds of Oberlin College with either a rake, pick, shovel, or wheelbarrow. After a trip to New York City in June, I spent the rest of the summer acting with the Rabbit Run Theatre, a summer stock company, near Madison, Ohio, and there learned of the theatre group with which I am now."

"Virginia City, Mont., in the center of the vigilante county, has been transformed from a ghost town to a fascinating village of the 'Old West.' Along with the other attractions is a theater in which only 19th century dramas are produced. The past summer was the second season for this, the Old Stone Barn Playhouse.

ON SEPTEMBER 12, 1950

... Nancy Henninger, '50, and William Hoffman, Jr., were married in Ames, Iowa

This winter marks the first tour of the Virginia City Players, which will extend through Montana and surrounding states. The shows to be produced are 'Miriam's Crime or Innocent Sin,' 'Old Phil's Birthday or The Criminal Key,' 'Locked In With a Lady,' 'Box & Cox,' and several two-hour variety and cabaret shows.

"Since my arrival in the northwest, I have met only one Oberlin graduate, Mrs. Martin Tidball (Harriet S. Colburn, '31), who with her sister operates the Shuttle-Craft Guild, a weaving school as well as weaving business for retail and exhibition."

Hill, Sara E. — 2 Woodrow Ct., Hanover, N. H. Sally is teaching kindergarten (two sessions with 35 children in each) in Hanover. During the summer she was sailing instructor at Camp T-Ledge in Maine.

Hill, W. Merle — 516 Channing St., Cincinnati, Ohio. Merle and Dottie spent the spring and early summer travelling and working in Europe. His father's illness called him back to the States during the summer and he decided to do graduate study in German at the University of Cincinnati this year.

Hobby, Robert G. — Root House, Oberlin, Ohio. Since February Bob has been a graduate student in sociology at Oberlin.

Hoffman, Mrs. William H. (Nancy Kay Henninger) — 16 Maiden Lane, Raleigh, N. C. Nancy Kay had a summer job at Cherry Point Marine Corps Air Station in the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics special training program for college students. There she and Bill met. They were married on September 12 in the First Congregational Church, Ames, Iowa, since her family had moved from New Jersey to Iowa early in August. Bill is a senior in industrial engineering and Nancy has begun work on her master's degree in industrial psychology at North Carolina State College in Raleigh.

Holden, Lyman S. — 358 W. College St., Oberlin, Ohio. Lyman switched from pre-med to geography in his occupational plans and is completing a major in geography at Oberlin this year.

Holden, Marjorie C. — 358 W. College St., Oberlin, Ohio. Marjorie is completing an undergraduate major in botany at Oberlin.

Holmes, Francis W. — 137 Judd Falls Rd., Ithaca, N. Y. Francis has a graduate assistantship at Cornell University, assisting in research on the Dutch elm disease and studying plant pathology in the College of Agriculture.

Housman, H. Burton, Jr. — English Dept., Shiga University, Hikone, Japan. "During the past year I was accepted by the Methodist Board of Missions for a three-year appointment as a teacher of English in a mission school in Korea. The appointment still stands, though for the coming school year I am being assigned to Japan, hoping it will be possible to get to Korea later. I sail August 27 for Yokohama, having completed a six-weeks training and orientation course in Hartford, Conn., with 25 others who will be travelling to Japan this fall also. I will spend the first year teaching conversational English in Shiga University, a Japanese government university in Hikone, Japan. Two of us will be the only missionaries in this inland town of 60,000 people—so the incentive to learn Japanese as quickly as possible will be rather great!"

Howes, John F. — Rm. 540, 500 Riverside Dr., New York, N. Y. John had a summer job with the American Express Co., "managing tours through Denver, Salt Lake City, Las Vegas, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, and Seattle." He is studying at Columbia University in the field of East Asian history.

Hsueh, Mabelle — Box 223, Alice Lloyd Hall, Ann Arbor, Mich. "I went to Germany this summer and worked in a camp sponsored by the Friends. We were there to build a road for the German refugees who worked in a tool factory nearby. We worked seven hours a day with people from all over the world. Bill Johnson, '51, and Grace Thompson, '51, were doing much the same, although we weren't in the same camp.

"This year I am studying English (linguistics) at the University of Michigan and enjoying it very much. We have nearly a thousand students living in this dorm and eat cafeteria style most of the time, so we see the same people only occasionally."

Hubbell, Charles H. — '47 — 410 B Dormitory, Chapel Hill, N. C. Though Chuck received his degree in '50, he has not been on campus during the past year but has been a graduate student in mathematics at the University of North Carolina, where he is continuing study this year.

Huntley, Janet R. — 723 Church St., Ann Arbor, Mich. Janet is studying English literature at the University of Michigan and is living at home this year.

Husung, David L. — 101 Rowland Ave., Mansfield, Ohio (home). During the summer Dave was married to Elizabeth Van Egmond, a Pembroke College graduate. We've had no report this fall on their plans and location.

Illig, Mrs. Donald D. (Joylynn M. Mithaler) — 1416 Granger St., Ann Arbor, Mich. Until Jan. '46, completes his graduate study at the University of Michigan next February. Joy is working as a secretary to the geography department at the University.

James, Ralph C., Jr. — 4849 S. Greenwood Ave., Chicago 15, Ill. (please forward). Since last February Ralph has been working on his master's degree in economics at the University of Wisconsin. We're using his home address since he expected to shift his rooming place soon.

Jensen, Hope T. — 30 S. Washington St., Port Washington, N. Y. (please forward). Hope has a French government scholarship for study in Paris this year.

Johnson, Edward H. — 106 Beech St., Maywood, N. J. Ed began work in October as a claims adjuster for the Liberty Mutual Insurance Co. in Newark, N. J.

Johnson, Joyce E. — 74 Newton Ave., Jamestown, N. Y. (home). Joyce planned on graduate study this year, but we've had no word on where she is located.

Johnson, Kenneth E., '49 — 1426 Spruce St., Berkeley, Calif. Ken and Ellen Skinner (see next item) were married in June. They spent the summer as counsellors at Camp Adams in Mallala, Ore. This year Ken is continuing his theological study at the Pacific School of Religion in Berkeley.

Johnson, Mrs. Kenneth E. (Ellen R. Skinner) — 1426 Spruce St., Berkeley, Calif. (See above item). Ellen is teaching second grade in Oakland, Calif. Keeping house, teaching, and singing in the church choir make up a full schedule for her.

Johnson, Myrna Louise — 209 S. Summit St., Villa Park, Ill. Myrna spent the summer as playground instructor in Minneapolis, her home. This year she is teaching first grade in Villa Park, Ill., a suburb of Chicago.

Johnson, Paul R. — 122 Park Ave., Raleigh, N. C. Paul is studying agricultural economics at North Carolina State College, where he has an assistantship. During the summer he did field work, interviewing farmers and filling out schedules on marketing and farming practices for various studies.

Johnston, A. Seth — 2406 Adams Ave., Columbus, Ohio. Seth is completing a B.S. degree in agriculture at Ohio State University.

Johnston, Judith E., x — 3386 Kildare Rd., Cleveland Hts., Ohio. Judy spent the summer as water front director of the junior camp of Red Wing Day Camp in Novelty, Ohio. She is now doing clerical work at the American Optical Company in Cleveland, but hopes to return to Oberlin in February to complete the hours she needs for the degree.

Kammiller, Robert C. — R. 1, Elyria, Ohio. Bob is living at home and working at Schaefer Bros. Co. in Cleveland. However, he took his draft physical exam recently and is now waiting for classification, so future plans are unsettled.

Kaserman, Ann E. — 363 E. Washington St., Chagrin Falls, Ohio. During July, Ann worked at the State Hospital in Massillon, Ohio, but then shifted to a secretarial position with the Dow Chemical Co. in Cleveland. She is living at home in Chagrin Falls.

Kavenagh, W. Keith — 484 S. Drexel Ave., Columbus 9, Ohio. From April until August, Keith worked as a claims adjuster for the Aetna Casualty & Surety Co. in New York City. Deciding that he didn't want to be a claims adjuster permanently, he shifted to a management training job with the Continental Grain Co. — one of the three largest of its kind in the country — and has been sent to the Columbus, Ohio, grain elevators for basic training.

Keefe, Frederick L. — 316 Hodge Hall, Princeton, N. J. Fred and Carolyn had summer jobs at Camp With-A-Wind at Waymart, Pa. He is studying at Princeton Theological Seminary, planning on a B.D. degree with major in church history. In addition, he is working part-time for the Intervarsity Christian Fellowship.

Keefe, Mrs. Frederick L. (Carolyn Berglund Keefe) — 316 Hodge Hall, Princeton, N. J. While Fred is studying at Princeton, Carolyn is working full time for the Intervarsity Christian Fellowship.

Kern, Barbara Joan — 217 8th St., N.E., Massillon, Ohio. Barbara spent the summer as a counsellor at the Cleveland Girl Scout camp, Camp Julia Crowell, at West Richfield, Ohio. In September she began work as Y-Teen Program Director at the Y.W.C.A. in Massillon.

King, H. Wesley — 109 W. Franklin St., Jackson, Mich. Wes is an agent for American Airlines in Jackson, Mich. On Sept. 15 he was

THE CLASS OF '50

... held its first reunion at the July 9 wedding of Mr. x'50, and Mrs. Barrie Smith (Janet Smith, '50). Kneeling are Robert Love, Audrey McQuilkin, and Barbara Kern. Standing are: Pat Lewis, Alice Ward, Pauline Steele (non-Oberlin), Portia Peters, Vic Neverka, and Don LaMon

IT LOOKED LIKE A FAMILY AFFAIR

... when the Wilsons "convened" at the wedding of Mr., '50, and Mrs. Ian Wilson (Sydney Van Winkle, '50). Shown are Dr., '41, and Mrs. Gerald Wilson (Nancy Gauthrop, '43); Sydney and Ian; Dr., '39, and Mrs. Andrew Wilson (Margaret Baldwin, '38); and Mr., '42, and Mrs. Robert Chandler (Jean Wilson, '43) married to Barbara Dodge, '51. Barb has transferred to the University of Michigan to complete her college work.

Kinsey, Bruce M. — 1320 E. First St., Bloomington, Ind. (please forward). Bruce was inducted into the Army on Oct. 2, and has been sent to Fort Knox for basic training. He reports running into Dick Burket at Fort Knox — Dick also there for basic training.

Kirkpatrick, Grace Joan — 220 Locust St., Yellow Springs, Ohio. Grace spent the summer as a typist in the financial office at Lake Chautauqua, N. Y. In September she joined the staff of the Fels Research Institute at Yellow Springs, where she is an assistant in psychological research.

Kissane, H. Franklin — 1341 W. 30 St., Los Angeles 7, Calif. Lin and Betsy Roginson, '49, were married on August 26 at Betsy's home in Redlands, Calif. During the summer they both participated in a YM-YW sponsored Students-in-Industry project in Los Angeles, "learning much about industrial problems here." Lin is considering taking some work in education to meet California certificate requirements, but as yet future plans are still unsettled.

Knight, Robert P., Jr. — 230 Prospect St., New Haven, Conn. Bob is a first-year student at Yale Medical School, planning to practice psychiatry eventually. He reports about 20 Oberlinians attending Yale at present and that he is enjoying the work "more and more as time goes by." "I realize the value of the Yale Medical School system of study: minimum requirements, many electives, no exams that count except for those given at the end of the pre-clinical and clinical by the National Board of Medical Examiners (equivalent to the tests which all M.D.'s must take before they can practice)."

Kochlinger, Roger L. — 184 Dartmouth St., Rochester 7, N. Y. In July Roger became a "business and technical trainee" at the Eastman Kodak Co. "I feel very fortunate in being in a type of training program which allows one to work in various departments and thereby gain a perspective of the company . . . I am still amazed at the tremendous size and intricacies of this company."

Kohler, William A. — 84 Washington St., N. Tonawanda, N. Y. Bill spent the summer at the University of Buffalo, completing the additional hours needed for his Oberlin degree. When he reported, he had a temporary job at Remington Rand while he "waits for the Navy to decide the 'fate' of its Reservists."

Kroggel, Mrs. Donald (Sarah E. Elliott) — 1959 S. St. Clair St., Martinsville, Ind. On

June 10 Sally and Don were married at the First Methodist Church in Wahash, Ind. Don is attending law school at Indiana University and Sally teaching second grade in Martinsville.

Kropp, Richard V. — 302A Shaw Hall, Cambridge 38, Mass. Dick is studying at Harvard Law School. "The Harvard Graduate Center might well be called the Oberlin Alumni Settlement, for that is just what it appears to be. The Law School is certainly well stocked with members of the class of '50. I run into Jim Frach, John Barnett, Carter Donohoe, Bob Light and Hersh Shohan every day. From the class of '49 we have Harry Rosenberg and Bob Oppenheimer. I've also talked with Evelyn Clark, Pete Ebbott, and Marion Smith, have heard that Marna McMahon and Barb Fry live with Marion. Bobby Sellick is also here taking courses at Radcliffe across the way. So we really have a little alumni chapter all our own. As for the Law School itself, the classes are great thought provokers. I can see that legal education is going to be interesting as well as challenging once we really get into it."

LaGanke, William C. — Cite Universitaire, 15 Boulevard Jourdan, Paris 15c, France. Bill is teaching physical education and coaching basketball and baseball at the American Community School in Paris.

Lagemann, Marjorie A. — Anagnos Cottage, Perkins Institution, Watertown 72, Mass. After a summer as small craft director at Camp Four Echoes in Worley, Idaho, Woody headed for Massachusetts and a trainee position in work with the blind. She is teaching first grade at Perkins Institution and taking four hours of graduate work in education at Harvard.

"After camp was over, four of the counsellors took a trip up into Canada through Kootenay, Yoho, Banff and Waterton Lakes National Parks before coming back to the midwest via Glacier, Yellowstone, Grand Teton and Rocky Mountain National Parks and Salt Lake City. We brought our food from camp and cooked outdoors and also slept out every night in sleeping bags.

"I'm having a wonderful time at Perkins. I have eight alert, eager-to-learn youngsters who are hard to keep ahead of in learning to read Braille, which I am learning with them. Perkins is on a beautiful campus along the Charles River and has its own lake, orchards and many beautiful walks. I'll be glad to show the grounds to anyone who is interested and is in the Boston area."

Lancashire, Ben J. — 922 Lake Hollingsworth Dr., Lakeland, Fla., (please forward). Until the end of October, Ben was in the training program of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. in Akron. His draft call for physical exam came for early November and he decided to go home for a visit while waiting induction. He expects to be in service by early December, if not before. Ben's engagement to Sally Scott, '52, was announced in September.

Langner, David A., '49 — 118 Gladstone Rd., Lansdowne, Pa. Dave started a "special agent" training course with the Insurance Company of North America last February. The program includes working in one of the offices for several months, followed by special training classes at the home office in Philadelphia. "Having been in the training school now for about three months, I can report a very favorable organization for anyone considering the business of insurance for a career . . . The advanced course, of which I am now a member, lasts for about 12 weeks and offers a concentrated curriculum in that particular branch of insurance in which the individual is interested, in this case Fire. When school ends in December, I am to be sent to a branch Service Office in the field to study the practical aspects of the business. Then, when I am ready, I'll be sent on the road as a Senior Special Agent — Fire. For the benefit of those who are unfamiliar with the term 'Special Agent' as it applies to the insurance industry, it can be defined as 'a salaried company representative empowered by the Home Office with the authority to underwrite risks presented by the local sales agent to the company. His job can be likened to the goodwill ambassador in improving company-sales agent relations.'"

Langner, John C., '46 — 1435 Lakewood Ave., Lakewood 7, Ohio. Since March, Jack has been with the Cleveland Wholesalers, Inc., Stewart Warner distributors, as television service man.

Langsdorf, John J., x — 225 W. 86 St., New York, N. Y. (please forward). John was inducted into the Army on Sept. 27 and was stationed at Ft. Bragg, N. C.

LaRose, Paula C. — 5436 Centre Ave., Pittsburgh 32, Pa. Paula has a scholarship under the Illinois Public Welfare Department. The plan involved spending the summer working in the Division of Child Welfare office at Carbondale, Ill. "We learned the ropes of a public welfare agency and carried a few cases of our own. Region VII at Carbondale covers 19 counties so we really had to do some trekking back into the hills to see clients. I remember I got stuck with the car twice in one day after fording a couple of creeks and climbing some hills — only to find the people I was hunting not at home! . . . After the summer orientation period, the State of Illinois pays my tuition, fees, transportation and living expenses for a year of graduate school. So I'm registered at the University of Pittsburgh School of Social Work. After a year of school, I go back to Illinois and work for 15 months before going back for a second year of school." Paula is sharing an apartment with three other girls, one of them being Jo Neff.

LePonto's, Allison — Draper Cottage, Andover, Mass. After some graduate study during the summer at Western Reserve University, Al is coaching at Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., this year. However, he reports himself 1A, so he may be drafted by the time this appears.

Lewis, Patricia — 45 Crescent St., Cambridge 38, Mass. Pat spent the summer at home in Oberlin, taking some secretarial training at the School of Commerce. In September she began work as an audiometrist at the Eye and Ear Infirmary of Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston.

Lichtwardt, John R. — 5099 Westminster Pl., St. Louis 8, Mo. John is a first-year student at the Medical School of Washington University. He and Mercedes (see below) moved to St. Louis in July and he spent the summer working for the Retail Credit Co. there.

Lichtwardt, Mrs. John R. (Mercedes G. Singleton) — 5099 Westminster Pl., St. Louis 8, Mo. Since July, Mercedes has been a service representative for the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. "I'm finding my Oberlin education especially valuable in my job which demands understanding of others, since it is to a large extent a job of customer contact."

Light, Robert M. — 16 Hastings Hall, Cambridge 38, Mass. Bob is a student at Harvard Law School.

Lippy, William H. — 201 W. 11 St., Columbus, Ohio. Bill is studying at Ohio State Medical School.

Layton, Donald D., Jr. — R. 11, Box 88, Oklahoma City, Okla. Don spent the summer as a medical research technician in the department of pathology at the University of Oklahoma School of Medicine, where he is enrolled as a first-year medical student now. "During the last 15 days of the summer before medical school started, I took a 5500 mile trip through 13 western states with Sam Charache, '51, Lee Sonneborn, '51, and Martin Haurowitz, '51. We visited nearly every principal National Forest, and saw Phyllis Dodge in her new home in Portland, Ore."

Leland, Charles W. — c/o Dag Schjelderup-Ebbe, Eilert Sundtgate 11B, Oslo, Norway. "Since the end of July, I have been in Norway, long enough to come to love the land and its people and to learn a bit of the language, but not long enough to acquire a true Norwegian's taste for dark brown goat cheese and raw pickled herring. While here I am enjoying the hospitality of Dag Schjelderup-Ebbe ('46-'47), whom I met at Oberlin, and his family. Dag received his M.A. from the University of California last June and is now an assistant in music at the University of Oslo."

"During August we took a bicycle tour through parts of central and western Norway. During the day we had the incomparable scenery — mountains, lakes, forests, and fjords. Evenings we looked forward to meeting an interesting and often international group at the Youth Hostels where we stayed."

"For the many American students at the University of Oslo there are special courses in Norwegian language, literature, and institutions. I am also learning English literature. I hope to remain here during the present academic year but to take time out for a trip to Stockholm and Upsala next week and for a jaunt south to France and Italy during the long Christmas holidays."

Lahr, Charles H., Jr. — 312 W. 9 Ave., Columbus, Ohio. Chuck spent the summer as orderly at People's Hospital in Akron. This year he is rooming with Fred Colburn at Ohio State. "We are both anatomy majors in the graduate school. Classes have started and things are rougher than they ever were at Oberlin. However, I find the zoology and chemistry departments have given us excellent backgrounds for bio-chemistry and histology. . . . We've met a number of Oberlinians here — Jack Frost, '49, in dental school, Bill Lippy, John Miethe, Dick Strawsburg, '49, Bob Marshall, Jim Munger, '49, all in medical school, Seth Johnston, John Stephan, and Howie Curtis — do all Oberlin grads go to State?"

Lake, Nancy L. — 420 S. Stone Ave., LaGrange, Ill. "I spent most of the summer loafing and writing about jobs, also waited table for a while and took the high school census in my home town. I've been looking around the Chicago area, but would prefer to be in Madison, Wis., and am planning to look for a job there. If nothing develops, I'll return to Chicago and get a lab job here."

LaMon, Donald M. — 40 N. 17 St., East Orange, N. J. Don has shifted from psychology to music. He was a member of the Conservatory Opera Workshop course during July and spent August with the Mansfield (Ohio) Players, his first experience in straight dramatics. This year he is making his headquarters at home, and is auditioning for various organizations. He is to be Gaston in the New Jersey Opera Guild presentation of Victor Herbert's "Mademoiselle Modiste."

Love, Robert M. — 64 Illinois Ave., Youngstown, Ohio. Bob is working on the Youngstown Indicator, doing a bit of everything at present.

Lux, William K. — Landerwood Dr., Chagrin Falls, Ohio. Bill has an office job with the Towmotor Corp. of Cleveland.

McClendon, Sgt. Roy E. — 433rd Air Police Squadron, 433rd Air Base Group, Greenville Air Force Base, Greenville, S. C. Roy was in the Army reserves and was recalled to active duty. For the time being at least he is located at Greenville, S. C.

McConnell, John C. — 2371 E. 11 St., Lorain, Ohio. John is a salesman in the new car department of W. C. McConnell, Inc. On July 29 he was married to Virginia McCorsion, '49. The ceremony took place at the First Congregational Church in Westfield, N. J. Mrs. Edward Bowser (Constance Atwater, '49) was matron of honor and Bruce Waterhouse and Kenneth Cowan, x, were ushers. It was an occasion for an Oberlin reunion of Mr., '20 and Mrs. William C. Child (Rose Terborgh, '20), William C. Child, Jr., Mrs. Edwin S. Leonard (Carol Atwater, '42), Sue Raynor, '49, Alice Pusey, '48, Kate Pusey, '52, Marcia Shumaker, Margie Simons, Hope Griffith, William Waring, '49, and Mrs. Kenneth Cowan (Barbara Slocum, '47).

ROGER KOEHLINGER CAROL WESTERMAN THOMAS MCCORMICK ELIZABETH WINSLOW ROBERT LOVE

... business trainee with Eastman; grade school teacher in Puerto Rico; pianist-organist for radio station; recreation director in settlement school; newspaper reporter

McDonald, E. Frances — 127 Woodrow St., Wichita, Kansas. Frances is working in an office at home this fall and is planning later on to go to New York City.

McGraw, James C., x — 153 E. Lane Ave., Columbus, Ohio. Jim had a summer job as counsellor at Camp Sunshine, Mentor, Ky., which is directed by Bob Sandman, '49. This year he is studying at Ohio State, completing the hours needed for his degree.

MacMahon, Marna — 306 Ambassador Apts., Cambridge St., Cambridge, Mass. Marna was a counsellor at the Life Girls Camp in Sussex, N. J., during the summer. This year she is sharing an apartment with Barbara Fry and Marion Smith and has a position as housemother for the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children in Boston. "I'm to be in charge of ten little boys starting at the age of two and going up to around 12 or 13. As a housemother, my job will be to get the boys up at seven, dress them, have breakfast with them, and do the morning housework. I have either afternoon or evening duty then. In the afternoon it involves care of the younger children and in the evenings getting them to bed. . . . Children are brought to the home when neighbors and relatives complain that the parents are being cruel or neglecting them."

McMullen, Betty Ann — 10 E. Home Pl., Irvington-on-Hudson, N. Y. In June Betty started a job as secretary and research assistant at the Foundation for Economic Education in Irvington. "About once a week I go to the city to do some work on an elementary text in economics that Professor Fairchild of Harvard is writing with Foundation aid. The rest of the time I have a desk job answering letters. Once in a while I get a special assignment which keeps things from being dull. This fall I'm taking a course in statistics at Columbia."

McQuilkin, Audrey A. — 135 Morrison St., Struthers, Ohio. Audrey is teaching health education and is dean of girls at Struthers High School. They are completing a new gym and when it is finished, she'll also teach physical education. "Being dean of girls is something I wasn't planning to be, but it's an interesting experience. Right now I'm interviewing every girl in the school, grades 8-12, about 300 in all. Then I'll have a conference with any girl who is having trouble with one or more subjects, those who want to drop courses, want to quit school, or want help in making college or vocational plans. . . . Starting next week I am also going to be an assistant director at the Struthers Community Center. I expect to be teaching social dancing, chaperoning dances and roller skating, supervising basketball and such activities in the gym and also the snack bar. The Center is open every evening for the young people in town and I'll be able to get in some physical education activities."

McQuilkin, Donald P. — 123 W. 55 St., New York 19, N. Y. Don completed his degree with study at the University of Wisconsin summer session. This year he is combining a part time job as sportsmaster at St. Thomas Choir School in New York City with study in physical education at Teachers College, Columbia University. "Walt Muhlbach, '51, and I rode our bikes from Oberlin to Madison for summer school; took 5½ days to cover the 500 miles; camped out in parks on the way. We had a wonderful trip despite rain on three of the six days we were on the road. . . . Found there were some 24 other Oberlinians studying at the University of Wisconsin summer session."

McWharter, Royce V. — 225 Dunseith St., Pittsburgh 13, Pa. Royce spent the summer as a counsellor at Camp Nathan Hale, run by the Union Settlement of New York City. He is enrolled at the Pittsburgh School of Social Work for a master's degree in psychiatric social work.

Mack, Marilyn — Highland Terrace, Pleasantville, N. Y. Marilyn is at home this year, working as a business representative of the New York Bell Telephone Co. and taking a course in education at night school at Hunter College.

Mahood, Mary Elizabeth — 86 Durand Rd., Maplewood, N. J. Mary has spent the summer and fall travelling in Europe, but is returning home in mid-November. Her engagement to John Mong was announced this fall. They plan to be married early in 1951.

Marlatt, M. Harding — 199 W. College St., Oberlin, Ohio. Harding and Russ Watson have an apartment together in Oberlin. Until recently Harding was "taking life easy," but he is now working in the accounting department of the Bendix-Westinghouse plant in Elyria.

Marshall, Robert B. — 311 W. 10 Ave., Columbus 10, Ohio. Bob is a medical student at Ohio State University.

Martin, Margaret J. — 510 E. Seneca St., Ithaca, N. Y. Margaret is taking a "business" course at Ithaca College.

Masters, Mrs. Robert (Mary Jean Daly Masters, x) — 119 Westgate Dr., Westgate Manor, Akron 13, Ohio. Bob, '48, and Mary Jean were married in Waban, Mass., on June 28, 1949, with a number of Oberlinians present (see picture). Since then they have been living in Akron, where Bob is a traffic assistant with the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. Mary Jean attended the University of Akron first semester last year and commuted to Oberlin for the second semester. This fall she is attending Kent State University to complete the degree.

Maze, George H. — S. Fruit St., Peru, Ill. (home). George is 1A and reports plans are "just plain unsettled." George and Bob Atchison, '51, took an adventurous summer vacation, making an 830 mile, 9 weeks, trip from Jackson Hole, Wyo., to Lewiston, Idaho, down the Snake River. "The trip was made in two rubber boats, one a five-man, the other a seven-man boat. Each carried about 100 pounds of supplies and equipment in waterproof bags and lashed to the boats. The only time portage was necessary was around power dams. . . . The entire trip was recorded on film."

Mead, David L. — 4331 S. Wayne Ave., Ft. Wayne, Ind. In September Dave started work as an actuarial trainee in the group department of the Lincoln National Life Insurance Co. However, he was scheduled to report for his draft physical exam on Oct. 27 and may be (or soon will be) in service.

Meharg, H. Virginia — 1055 Sleepy Hollow Lane, Plainfield, N. J. Virginia spent the summer travelling in Europe and though we've had no direct word, we hear that she is studying psychology at Teachers College, Columbia University.

Mercer, Benjamin L.—2472 Overlook Rd., Cleveland Hts. 6, Ohio. Ben is working for the Fisher Body Division of General Motors Corp. "I started in July as a carloader helper, loading box cars in the shipping department, then was changed to sorting out 100 lb. bars which are used to hold car parts in place in a box car. Next I drove a towmotor moving equipment around the plant. Now I'm driving an Elwell-Parker low lift industrial truck in the receiving department. I expect to move to Labor Standards Department eventually."

"Took two quick trips this summer—the first with Al 'Bumps' LePontois from Cleveland to Boston to Woodstown, N. J. (for the Fliercraft-Burns wedding) and back to Cleveland—all in one week end; the second quick trip was a day's jaunt to Indianapolis with Bob Way and Jack Shelley for the Marge McLean-Bob Elbel wedding."

Metcalfe, John E.—414 W. 118 St., New York 27, N. Y. "During the past summer I worked as a research economist for the Far East Division of the Office of Foreign Agricultural Relations of the U.S. Department of Agriculture in Washington, D. C. This year I'm studying development economics at Columbia University—have a schedule with everything bunched together on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday."

Mietheke, John C.—784 Ebner Ave., Columbus 6, Ohio. After a summer in Cleveland while John studied chemistry at Western Reserve, he and Janet moved to Columbus Oct. 1. John is enrolled in the Ohio State Medical School.

Miller, Jack D.—West Ridge Rd., Elyria, Ohio (home). Jack has an assistantship in zoology at Western Reserve University. "The assistantship consists of 12 hours a week as lab assistant and 3 hours a week grading notebooks, quizzes, etc. I'm also taking 9 hours of work in invertebrate zoology, advanced genetics and evolution, and educational psychology. During the week I live in a private home at 2144 Cornell Rd., Cleveland. My schedule is unique in that I am finished each week at 9:00 a. m. on Friday, leaving me long week ends to spend at home and to visit Oberlin."

Miller, Wentworth E.—Apt. 11A, Badger, Wis. Wentworth is a graduate student in political science at the University of Wisconsin.

Mitchell, John D.—2722 Kilburn Ave., Rockford, Ill. John is a reporter on the Rockford Morning Star. "Mila, m'49, got back from Ireland about a month ago and we're still in the process of getting settled. In the past month we've seen Jim, '46, and Ann (Fassett) Sunshine, '47, who were on their way from Wisconsin to New York, where Jim is working on his master's degree in journalism at Columbia; John, '48, and Marian (Springer) Hopkins, '48, on their way to Minneapolis, where John is starting his doctorate in botany; and Cliff, '49, and Pat (Finley) Spindler, '48, on a trip to Wisconsin. The place here is always open to Oberlin visitors in town or on their way through!"

Mong, John R.—1526 New Hampshire Ave., N.W., Washington 6, D. C. John is a graduate student in international relations at American University. His engagement to Mary Mahood was announced recently.

Morgan, Wanda M.—R. 4, Box 3906, Carmichael, Calif. Wanda spent the summer at an International Student Seminar in Arizona. "where 28 of us from 18 different countries studied and lived together." She has a temporary job in Sacramento while waiting for a more permanent one in San Francisco.

Mott, Patricia—146 E. College St., Oberlin, Ohio. Pat is working as a junior engineering data clerk at the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. in Cleveland and is being trained by Ruth Berger Urban, '48. She's living in Oberlin an apartment almost across from Noble Cottage, and is a member of a car pool for commuting to Cleveland. She spent the summer with her family in Europe, being in or near Frankfurt, Germany, most of the time. "Met Mary Mahood and Betsy Low, '48, in Salzburg and Henry Kaufmann, '51, on a little train in Switzerland."

Moyer, Joan—6134 Kimbark Ave., Chicago, Ill. Joan is an assistant at the South Chicago Community Center, working with teen-aged boys and girls groups.

Mukai, Robert M.—318 B Dormitory, Chapel Hill, N. C. Bob spent the summer at his home in Hilo, Hawaii—"loafed all summer—played basketball, golf, baseball, went swimming, fishing, etc." This year he is a graduate student in zoology at the University of North Carolina.

Neff, Joan L.—5436 Centre Ave., Pittsburgh 6, Pa. Joan is a student in social group work at the Pittsburgh School of Social Work. "As is the case in most schools of social work, we have field work placements. This year the Pittsburgh school is branching out and my placement is one of the new ones—in the East End Christian Church, where I am Director of Youth Activities, including teen agers, college age group, and young adults. I'm enjoying it thoroughly." Jo is sharing an apartment with Paula LaRose and two other girls.

Nelson, Peter J.—25 Central Park West, New York 23, N. Y. (home) Pete is studying at the Yale Drama School, but we don't have a New Haven address for him yet.

Neumann, Bernardo—Chalet "Reina Sol," Guatemala City, Guatemala, C. A. Since August Bernardo has been helping in his father's business, Schacher Hnos. He plans a short visit to the U.S. in December and then expects to begin study of international law at the University of San Carlos in February, working toward his Ph.D. degree.

Nichols, F. Anne—3725 Macomb St., N.W., Washington, D. C. Anne is teaching third grade in Rockville, Md., a suburb of Washington.

Nichols, Nancy M.—International House, 509 Riverside Drive, New York, N. Y. Nancy has a graduate assistantship in chemistry at Columbia University.

Olson, C. Raymond—Quadrangle, Oberlin, Ohio. Ray is a first year student in the Oberlin Graduate School of Theology.

Palmer, William E.—Apt. 15E, 360 Central Park, W., New York 25, N. Y. During the summer Bill had a job with the St. John's Guild Floating Hospital, a New York City social agency. "I was working with handicapped children (cerebral palsy, polio, etc.), carrying those who couldn't walk on and off the ship, working with them on deck, etc. While on board I got drawn into a research project being carried on by several students from Teachers College. We were trying to determine whether more progress is made in personal and social adjustment by working with children individually or by working with them in a group. In the process I was sold on Teachers College—so here I am studying guidance and student personnel administration."

Parker, Victoria Ann—Virginia Manor Road, Muirkirk, Md. "I spent eight weeks in secretarial school this summer and am now working for the Department of Agriculture. My title is 'geographer,' but it involves doing a little bit of everything. Washington doesn't seem to be lacking in Oberlinians. By the end of June I think I had seen 16 and there have been more since."

Paulson, Belden H.—c/o Italian Service Mission, Palazzo Della Provincia, Stanza N. 16, Naples, Italy. Some 20 Oberlin students and graduates sailed for Europe on the Samaria on June 20. In the group were Paul Rusby, Bel Paulson and Jane Weed, all going to the volunteer work camp in Italy sponsored by the World Council of Churches. Bel writes: "Along with Peg Ross, whom we met in Paris, we attended a three-day work camp orientation program near Paris, then bicycled through the south central part of western Europe during July—Switzerland, Austria, Germany, France and Italy. Peg left us for a World Council of Churches work camp in Belgium, the rest of us remaining together for the Agape work camp in the mountains of northern Italy during August. From Agape we then bicycled south through Italy—Turin, Milan, Padua, Venice, Bologna, Florence, Perugia, Assisi, Rome—pedalling into Naples three weeks later. As volunteer social workers with the Italian Service Mission we assist in the distribution of relief goods and with a program of rehabilitation for a segment of one of the most war and poverty stricken populations of western Europe, the one million people of Naples."

Payne, Charles H.—160 E. College St., Oberlin, Ohio. During Elsie Sikkerbol's leave of absence this semester, Charles is teaching piano at the Conservatory of Music.

Peacock, Patricia L.—503 W. 121 St., New York 27, N. Y. Pat spent the summer in Europe and is now an assistant teacher at the West Side Day Nursery in New York City. She is sharing an apartment with Florence Conover. Pat's engagement to George Blackburn, x'51, was announced in August. George is at Rutgers University this year. As yet they have not set the wedding date.

Perry, Phyllis M.—770 Breckenridge St., Detroit 20, Mich. Phyll is in training to be a service representative with the Royal Oak Bell Telephone Co. She and Marilyn Stevens are rooming together.

Perusse, Lyle F.—201 Richards Hall, Harvard University, Cambridge 38, Mass. Lyle "took a vacation trip in the east immediately after graduation, visiting friends and seeing sights in Washington, New York, and Boston. The rest of the summer we spent in California—mostly loafing." This year he is a graduate student in the history of fine arts at Harvard University.

Peters, Portia E.—22 W. Territorial St., Battle Creek, Mich. "Jim Hanson, '49, and I announced our engagement in August. We are planning to be married next summer, but in the meantime I am teaching first grade in one of three elementary schools in Lakeview, Mich., and Jim is working on the editorial staff of the Defiance Crescent News in Defiance, Ohio. My work has been strenuous, but Lakeview is a wonderful place to be. There are four first grades in my building, so the teachers compare notes frequently..."

Pierce, Helen H.—111 Holland Rd., Brookline, Mass. After a summer as counsellor at Blazing Trail Camp, Denmark, Me., Helen is "trying out" social work with a part-time job (17 hours a week) supervising recreation of children of kindergarten age through ten years and some family case work at Hale House, a Boston settlement. In addition, she has a room and board job where she lives and may take some morning courses for social workers.

Polster, Morton A.—S12, Botany Lane, Oberlin, Ohio. Buck and Jean Parkes, '52, were married at Trinity Church, Toledo, Ohio, on Aug. 4. John Kander, '51, was best man, Margery Parkes, '49, maid of honor, and Tom Brennan and John Gutfreund, '51, ushers. This year Buck is a graduate student in economics at Oberlin and Jean is continuing her college work.

Pool, S. Renee, '49—993 Park Ave., New York 28, N. Y. Puck spent the summer at the University of Wisconsin, completing her degree. After her return to New York, she worked temporarily for "Park East" magazine and in early October began a job as assistant to the layout manager of "Newsweek" magazine.

GEORGE WILEY ANN KASERMAN RICHARD WHITEHOUSE DOROTHY CARNEGIE KARL SEEMANN

... football coach and teacher; secretary in Cleveland; solo cellist with symphony; student in field of osteopathy; teaching assistant in physics

Powley, Joan — International House, 1414 E. 59 St., Chicago 37, Ill. Joan spent the summer working for the Michigan Children's Aid Society in Flint, Mich., as a casework aid. This year she is a student at the School of Social Service Administration at the University of Chicago.

Purinton, Mark L., Jr. — 31 Peterborough St., Boston 15, Mass. Mark was married to Barbara Shippee in August and is a student at Tufts Medical School in Boston.

Rados, Miriam R. — 10 W. 93 St., New York, N. Y. Miriam spent the summer travelling in northern and central Italy. On her return to New York this fall, she did some secretarial study and has just begun work at the Carnegie Corporation of New York.

Ramsey, Mrs. James (Sylvia Merrill) — 147-07 Sanford Ave., Flushing, L. I., N. Y. Sammy and Jim were married at her home in Cleveland on June 17, with Margaret Martin and Robert Mukai as attendants. Jim is in the college training program of the New York Telephone Co. and Sammy is keeping house.

Reddin, Richard F. — 115 Waverly Pl., New York 11, N. Y. Dick spent the summer in Washington, D. C. The New York address was reported in October, but no word on his activities there.

Reed, G. Timothy — Apt. 9, 2097 E. Grand Blvd., Detroit 11, Mich. Tim had a summer job as stenographer at the Chesapeake & Ohio RR, then in September started work in the insurance and compensation office of the personnel department of Chevrolet Division of General Motors Corp.

Reynolds, James A. — 2645 Powell Ave., Columbus 9, Ohio. During September and October Jim has been working on a temporary job in the public relations firm of R. R. Howard & Associates in Columbus. "Until Nov. 7 I will be working night and day on a project to promote word-of-mouth campaigning on behalf of the entire Republican ticket. Plans after election day are unsettled."

Rice, Verna — 7206 Central Ave., Cleveland 4, Ohio (home). During the summer Verna was working at the University Hospitals in Cleveland, but we've had no word from her this fall.

Ridpath, William L., III — 724 Harper Ave., Drexel Hill, Pa. Since August 1, Bill has been a trainee in the merchandising training program of Strawbridge & Clothier, a Philadelphia department store. His engagement to Barbara Tindall was announced in June. They plan to be married next spring.

Ries, Gay D. — 4603 Weldon Rd., Wilmington, Del. Gay and Jim Davis are to be married on November 13 in Wilmington. The wedding party will include Mildred Graham, '51, bridesmaid, John Barnett, Alan Bruckheimer, and Gregory Drummond, x, ushers. After Nov. 13 her address will be — 4128 Third Road North, Apt. 3, Arlington, Va.

Ritchie, Helen B. — 67 Jefferson Rd., Princeton, N. J. (home). Helen is studying at the Washington School for Secretaries in New York City.

Rockey, Lee C. — 6148 Woodlawn Ave., Chicago, Ill. Since mid-July Lee has been in the retail training program of S. S. Kresge Co. He started out as a "stockman," and was promoted to "assistant manager" in October.

Rosenthal, Mrs. Vincent A. (Mary D. Owen) — 1500 E. 105 St., Cleveland 6, Ohio. Moe writes: "Since we moved to Cleveland, I'm just keeping house and trying to improve my cooking. We have a small apartment — it's noisy, with two street car tracks under the window and two very active fire stations for neighbors, but nice!" Vince, '49, is in the management training program at the Higbee Company.

Ross, Marilyn Jo — 2425 N. Park Blvd., Cleveland Hts., Ohio. Jo is teaching second grade at Roxboro School, Cleveland Hts. Her wedding to Leonard Webb is planned for December 23 at 4:30 p. m. at St. John's Episcopal Church Youngstown, Ohio. "We'll be very glad to see any of our Oberlin friends who can arrange to be there!"

Ross, Margaret Jane — Brigham Hall, Canandaigua, N. Y. (please forward). Peg spent the summer at a work camp of the World Council of Churches in Belgium. She planned to stay in Europe this winter, but we have had no report on where she is located.

Rusby, Paul G. — c/o Italian Service Mission, Palazzo Della Provincia, Stanza N. 16, Naples, Italy. Paul was one of the three '50 graduates at the work camp at Agape, Italy, who are continuing as volunteer social workers in Naples. (For further details, see the reports from Bel Paulson and Jane Weed.)

Sargent, Elizabeth D. — 3 Edgell Rd., New Haven, Conn. Betsy is now studying typing and shorthand as she's found them necessary tools for jobs in New Haven. She expects to finish the course by Christmas time and to get a job early in 1951.

Schmid, Charles E. — 314 N. 7 St., Allentown, Pa. Charles spent the summer in Rochester, staying with Dick Foster, '48, and holding a temporary job. This fall he is at home, waiting to go to the University of Vienna second semester. "I'd like to go around Christmas time so that I could stop in Paris before the second semester starts in January. I'd like

— Courtesy of Lancaster New Era

SOUTHWARD, HO!

... might have been the cry of Mr. '50, and Mrs. Theodore Danforth (Sue Kessler, x'51) as they prepared for a 6000 mile trip to Peru to get a degree in German literature from Vienna and hope to be able to study there at least a year or two."

Schrag, Morton A. — 3379 Bedford Ave., Brooklyn 10, N. Y. (home). No information available on Morton's plans for this year.

Schraub, Patricia J. — 6936 Edgevale Rd., Kansas City 5, Mo. Pat is living at home this year and is teaching second grade at Prairie School in Kansas City, Kansas.

Schueftan, Lutz — 504 W. 111 St., Apt. 12, New York 25, N. Y. Lutz spent the summer at home in Guatemala City, Guatemala, studying at the University of San Carlos. This year he is a graduate student in economics at Columbia University.

Scott, Donald C. — 126 S. Pleasant St., Oberlin, Ohio (please forward). Don has been doing temporary work in Oberlin this fall, waiting for his draft call. He is to be inducted on November 9.

Scott, James N. — c/o Art Center School, 5353 W. 3 St., Los Angeles 5, Calif. Jim and Marjorie (Strathmoen), x'52, spent the summer in Menlo Park, Calif., with his mother. Jim is attending the Art Center School for professional training in photography.

Scabright, John L. — 2211 Vance Ave., Wheeling, W. Va. (home). No word from John, but we know that he had planned to work in his father's contracting business and assume he is doing that.

Seaton, Wallace K. — 246 Euclid Ave., Toronto 3, Ont., Canada. Wally spent the summer as counsellor and instructor in the woodcraft camp of Culver Summer Schools, Culver, Ind. He is now enrolled at the University of Toronto as a graduate student in English.

Seemann, Karl W. — 114 Overlook Rd., Ithaca, N. Y. Karl is a teaching assistant in physics at Cornell University, working for his master's degree. "We have a strong Oberlin representation here — Mary Young, Francis Holmes, Jerry Howald, '49, and probably others. Cornell is really a big school with a small-school atmosphere, so the transition from Oberlin is not such an abrupt one after all."

Selleck, Roberta G. — 5 Longfellow Park, Cambridge 38, Mass. Bobby is a graduate student in international relations at Radcliffe College.

Shelley, Jack E. — 2955 Scarborough Rd., Cleveland Hts. 18, Ohio. From February to September, Jack worked as a production planner at the Cleveland Graphite Bronze Co. This fall he began study toward his LL.B. degree at the Law School of Western Reserve University.

Shohan, Herschel S. — 56 Wendell St., Cambridge, Mass. Hersch worked in the office of the Valley Color & Chemical Co. in New York City during the summer. This fall he joined the Oberlin contingent at Harvard Law School.

Shrader, Katharine W. — 306 W. 105 St.,

OBERLINIANS ATTENDING

... Morton Polyester's wedding were David Bean, '50; Roy McClendon, x'51; John Kander, '51; Mrs. Morton Polyester (Jean Parkes, '52); Morton Polyester, '50; John Gutfreund, '51; and Thomas Brennan, '51

LOOKING PROFESSIONAL

... are these Oberlinians at Ohio State Medical School. Shown are: (front) Jack Frost, '49; Richard Strawsburg, '49; and William Lippy, '50; (back) David Chesler, '49; James Munger, '49; Robert Marshall, '50; and John Miethke, '50

Apt. 5, New York 25, N. Y. Katrina spent the summer as a waitress in two summer resorts in New York state. In October, she began work in the personnel department of the Chase National Bank in New York City. In addition, she is taking a night course in shorthand at Columbia University.

Sibley, John L. — 105 Elm St., Oberlin, Ohio. John and Jule (Brown) '51, spent the summer travelling in Europe. This year Jule is completing her A.B. degree at Oberlin and John is a "copy boy" on the Cleveland Press, commuting from Oberlin.

Siddall, John B. — 139 W. 11 Ave., Columbus 1, Ohio. John and Muriel (Carleton, x), moved to Columbus last summer, where John completed his degree requirements at Ohio State summer session. This year he is continuing study at Ohio State, taking additional pre-medical courses. Muriel is working in an office in Columbus.

Sigworth, David E. — 1656 Summit St., Columbus, Ohio. Dave spent the summer working at the General Motors Corp. plant in Elyria, which had a number of Oberlinians on its payroll — Went Miller, Charlie Caton, Bud Yenne, Danny Lyons, '48, and others. This year he is a graduate student in modern European history at Ohio State University, which also is well supplied with Oberlin grads.

Simon, Wesley J. — 5916 Greene St., Philadelphia 44, Pa. Since February, Wes has been in the subscription promotion department of the Curtis Publishing Co. in Philadelphia. "Since Pat (Ellington, x), and I moved to Philly, we've found the place is a regular Oberlin hot-bed! The Samuel "Dick" Hagners (he's '49 and she's Liz Cunningham, '49), live only a few blocks from us, and the George Hagners, '42, a few doors from them. Dave Langner lives across town... We went to Bob Burns' and Annabelle Fliteraft's ('49) wedding over in New Jersey earlier in the summer and the Al Heilbruns ('48 and '49), paid us a visit on their way to Iowa City..."

Simons, Marjorie L. — 601 Leland Ave., South Bend, Ind. Marjorie spent the early part of the summer as swimming instructor at the Florence Harkness Summer Nursery, Willoughby, Ohio. Then in August she joined the staff of the River Park Branch Library in South Bend, Ind. There she is sharing a "five-room apartment with a girl who works at the South Bend Airport." On Oct. 7 Marj was maid of honor at Marcia Shumaker's wedding. "Here in South Bend, Oberlin is represented by Lilla Anderson Pickens, '49, Marie Walters Goodhue, '47, and Zita Mueller (gr. '48-'50). Marty Daniels Hurst, '49, is in Niles, Mich., all of 10 miles away."

Smith, Mrs. Barrie T. (Janet E. Smith) — 98 S. Bergen Place, Freeport, L. I., N. Y. Janet and Barrie, x, were married in Warren,

Ohio, on July 9, with Oberlin represented by Pat Lewis, Marilyn Strong, Audrey McQuilkin, Vicky Veverka, Barbara Kern, Portia Peters, Bob Love, and bridesmaid Alice Ward and usher Don LaMon — a 1950 reunion! "Barrie is in the oil transportation business with his father and I'm learning a little about it, both as wife and as occasional secretary, and finding it most interesting."

Smith, Eugene H. — Old Field South, Stony Brook, N. Y. "During the past summer I was a student at the Jacob's Pillow University of the Dance at Lee, Mass., under the direction of Ted Shawn. There a group of young and quite spirited people were engaged in the enthusiastic study of various types of dance — ballet, modern, and ethnic. I learned that trying to exert such intense control over one's muscles is often far more difficult than memorizing information for a bluebook! I did spend a wonderful and busy two months in the Berkshires, though, and was very glad that I had undertaken it. Incidentally, I saw several Oberlin "danceophiles," if I may use the word, who seemed to be as surprised to see me there as I was to see them!"

"At present, I am living at home, occupying myself with very temporary but remunerative employment. I plan to enter graduate school either next spring or fall for study toward a master's in English."

Smith, Louis M. — 1425 6th St., S.E., Minneapolis, Minn. Lou taught swimming in the Oberlin community recreation program, as well as waited table at the Inn and clerked in the Co-op during the summer. This year he is a graduate student in psychology at the University of Minnesota. His engagement to Marilyn Strong was announced during the summer.

Smith, Marion A. — 1737 Cambridge St., Cambridge, Mass. Marion "took a month-long trip with the family through the southwest to the Pacific coast and then had a summer job in a department store at home. This year I am working in the physical chemistry lab of the Harvard Medical School, doing assays for a research project on blood fractionation. The project is being carried on by Harvard for the government and the Red Cross."

"Barbara Fry, Marna MacMahon, and I have an apartment together here. We're finding that there are many Oberlin people around here — quite an Oberlin-in-Boston colony. And our 'welcome mat' is out for any others of you who may find yourselves near here this year."

Smith, Stanley W. — 224 W. Lorain St., Oberlin, Ohio. Stan is a graduate assistant in psychology at Oberlin College.

Smyrl, Joseph E. — 254 Highland Ave., Oak Ridge, Tenn. Joe spent the summer in Oberlin, commuting to Cleveland College while he completed his degree. In October he and Mary (Turner), '46, moved to Oak Ridge, where he is in the industrial recreation department of Carbide & Carbon Chemicals Corp.

Snedeker, Rodney G. — No. 11, Yale Divinity School, New Haven, Conn. Rod is a first year student at Yale Divinity School. "The school is tops. A few days ago the Oberlin boys here had a get together with Bob Rankin who was here to speak to a seminar on religion in higher education... My field work is operating two Gra-Y clubs in the New Haven area. At the moment I have about 20 boys and am looking forward to an exciting year with them."

Soller, Nancy E. — 51 Gorham Ave., Westport, Conn. Nancy is teaching second grade at the Bedford Elementary School in Westport. "The job's fine; I love Westport; am living in a private home with a wonderful family — I'm really very lucky I think!"

Spencer, Margaret — 1861 E. 89 St., Cleveland 6, Ohio. Since June, Kit has been working for the Continental Lithograph Corp., "opaquing negatives for movie posters." Her wedding to Arthur N. Cherry, x, will take place Dec. 9.

Spreng, Katharine E. — 10210 Edgewater Dr., Cleveland 2, Ohio. Kitty spent the summer in Europe with a tour of the Bureau of University Travel. She's a first-year student at the Western Reserve University Medical School.

Sproul, Margaret W. — Yeatman House, 2202 Delancey St., Philadelphia 46, Pa. Mig is a student at the Philadelphia School of Occupational Therapy. She also spent the summer in Europe, going over with her father for the World's Committee of the Y.M.C.A. meetings, and travelling in Switzerland, Denmark, Sweden, and France. "Peg Ross and I accidentally stumbled upon each other in the heart of Paris and so spent parts of three days together there."

Stafford, Samuel A. — 3406½ Marcus Ave., Newport Beach, Calif. Sam and Marjorie Wall, x's '51, were married on June 21 in Philadelphia, Pa. Their wedding trip took them across country to California, where they plan to make their home permanently. Sam is working as a salesman for the Kirby Co. of Santa Ana, Calif.

Stambaugh, David A., '49 — Scott Lane, Gambier, Ohio. Dave graduated in February but stayed on in Oberlin during the spring term, working temporarily in Elyria. During the summer he worked as a lithograph proofreader in Holyoke, Mass., while Haha (Harriet Heywood, '49), took education courses at Springfield College. This fall they moved to Gambier, where Dave is enrolled at Bexley Hall for study in theology and Haha is teaching fourth grade in the public schools.

OBERLIN TURNED OUT

... in full force for the wedding of Virginia McCorison, '49, and John McConnell, '50. Shown above (back): William Child, '50; Bruce Waterhouse, '50; William Waring, '49; Mrs. Marcia S. Weaver, '50; William C. Child, Sr., '20; Alice Pusey, '48; Susan Raynor, '49; Mrs. Catherine Pusey, x'21; Mrs. Christine H. O'Hara, x'26; and Mrs. Rose T. Child, '20. Front row: Mrs. Caroline A. Leonard, '42; Kenneth Cowan, x'50; Mrs. Barbara S. Cowan, '47; Marjorie Simons, '50; Hope Griffith, '50; Virginia and John; and Mrs. Constance A. Bowser, '49

Stephan, John D. — 91 W. Norwich Ave., Columbus, Ohio. John is completing pre-medical requirements at Ohio State University. On June 8 he married Phyllis Proctor (special '48-'49), who is Lorain County public health nurse. For this semester, Phyllis is commuting to Columbus for weekends.

Stevens, Mrs. Bobb (Shirley A. Chapman) — 1103 LeClair St., Swissvale, Pa. Shirley and Bobb, '45, were married on Sept. 2 in Baltimore. Bobb is working for the Westinghouse Corp. in Pittsburgh, but we've had no report on Shirley's present activities.

Stevens, Marilyn C. — 770 W. Breckenridge St., Ferndale 20, Mich. Marilyn is teaching kindergarten at the Starr School in Royal Oak, Mich. She is rooming with Phyl Perry.

Stillson, Albert C. — 517 Farnald Hall, Columbia University, New York 27, N. Y. After a summer job with the Eastman Kodak Co. in Rochester, Al is now a student in international relations at Columbia University.

Stine, Oscar C. — 1736 F St., N.W., Washington, D. C. Oscar is a first-year student in medical school at George Washington University.

Stocker, Lorne C., Jr. — 757 Broadway, Newark 4, N. J. (home). No word from Lorne on his plans, but we know he expected to look for a job as chemist in the east.

Stone, Elizabeth A. — Staff House, Pilgrim State Hospital, West Brentwood, N. Y. Lib is working in the recreational therapy department of Pilgrim State Hospital, one of the public mental hospitals in New York state. During the summer the work was primarily with large groups on a "playground setup," but during the winter it will be with smaller groups in gym classes. "Not only do you learn a lot of psychiatry first hand by working with doctors, nurses, attendants, social workers, therapists and patients, but you also learn a lot about yourself! Human behavior is put in a different perspective . . ."

Strong, Marilyn — 60 Willow St., Minneapolis, Minn. Cupe spent the summer in Oberlin as one of the swimming instructors in the community recreation program. In September she became an assistant in the health education department of the Minneapolis Y.W.C.A. Her engagement to Louis Smith was announced in August.

Stryker, Lee W. — 2031 E. 100 St., Cleveland 6, Ohio. In July, Lee began work on his master's degree in music at Western Reserve University. "I was lucky enough to be appointed manager of the Western Reserve University Orchestra for the year. I'm playing violin in the Bach concerts, then trombone beginning in November. I am studying trombone with Merritt Dittert of the Cleveland Orchestra. Joan is still singing at the Euclid Christian Church, which is directly across the street this year — rather than 45 miles away."

Studer, Richard T. — 1221-2 Second St., Parade Ground Unit, Champaign, Ill. Dick has a graduate assistantship in physical education at the University of Illinois.

Sutton, Nancy L. — 30 Cushing St., Providence, R. I. Nancy has a graduate assistantship in philosophy at Brown University. She is leading discussion sections of the distribution requirement philosophy courses and grades the papers for the Pembroke College section. Last summer she and Dorothy Hostetter, '51, were waitresses at Green Pond Hotel, Green Pond, N. J.

Swan, Jon C. — c/o Friends Service Unit, State Hospital, Clarinda, Iowa. "I am one of three members in a pioneer American Friends Service unit working at the state hospital in Clarinda. We are the first all-year round Friends unit that Iowa has seen and the first Quaker group to come to Clarinda . . . We find the work interesting and a challenge to imagination . . ."

Tabin, Morton S. — 10515 Euclid Ave., Cleveland 6, Ohio. Mort is working as a full time "research assistant" at Western Reserve University this year and has been accepted for the Medical School class entering in 1951.

Tedoff, Barbara L. — 211 Central Park, W., New York 24, N. Y. She took ballet lessons last spring and went to Europe for the summer. Her marriage to Arthur L. Phillips of New York City will take place on Nov. 9. See January issue for details.

Teeters, Robert D. — 230 Prospect St., New Haven, Conn. Bob is in the new conservation program of Yale Graduate School. "It's a two-year program leading to an M.S. in Conservation. I'm the lab assistant and am taking some engineering, limnology, ichthyology, soil science, advanced math and conservation. They manage to keep us busy! I'm rooming with Bob Knight. . . Bob Conover and I were out for the homecoming week end and had a big time."

Tewksbury, John L. — c/o W. T. Grant Co., 2645 Germantown Ave., Philadelphia, Pa. John has just completed the introductory training program for store managers with the W. T. Grant Co., his first assignment being in one of their large retail stores in Reading, Pa. "A trainee must be a jack-of-all-trades: sales, buying, warehousing, displays, advertising, personnel and office work. Before one can become an assistant manager, there are a number of research projects which must be completed. These involve store operations and require at least a year or more to complete." John was transferred to the Germantown store in October and expects to be there for several months.

Theobald, Erwin F. — 508 W. Market St., Minerva, Ohio. In March Erwin began working at the Canton, Ohio, plant of the Metropolitan Brick Co. He was transferred to the Minerva plant in July — "This is one of five plants owned by Metropolitan Brick Co. The plant in Minerva manufactures ceramic facing tile. I am in charge of all research, control, development and testing . . . Mona Quayle, '49, and I were married on June 17. We honeymooned in Michigan and moved to Minerva on the 4th of July. At present, Mona is not teaching but she is on the substitute list in two counties and may have a permanent job very soon. Meanwhile she's keeping busy with the house and cooking."

Thomas, P. Emory — Hertford College, Oxford, England. Emory sailed on the Ile de France in late September for the University of Oxford. He has a Rhodes Scholarship and will do graduate study in mathematics. He spent the summer with his fiancée, Esther Breckenridge of Ames, Iowa, working at Association Camp in the Rocky Mountain National Park in Colorado.

Thomas, Philip S. — 420 Greene House, East Quad, Ann Arbor, Mich. Phil had a summer job at home, working for the Advance Construction Co., in Hinsdale, Ill. He has joined the large Oberlin group at the University of Michigan, where he is working on his master's degree in economics. "John Wenrich and I are the two 'staff assistants' (counselors in Oberlin terms) on our floor and Glen Mellinger, '49, is a staff assistant on the floor below us."

Tindall, Barbara J. — 53 Cornet Stetson Rd., Seitate, Mass. "I spent three weeks in July on a wonderful trip by car around the West with my fiancé, Bill Ridpath, and his parents. We even stopped in Denver to see Clara McEnderfer, '51. We also ran into Sam Gallo in a museum at an Indian ruins called Mesa Verde in Colorado." Barbara is at home this year, working at the Gilchrist Co., a department store in Boston, where she is in training to be a personnel representative. She and Bill plan to be married next spring.

Totoiu, John — 350 Puritan Rd., West Palm Beach, Fla. John is "working in various departments as part of the executive management training program at Bardine's store in West Palm Beach. Bardine's is one of a group of four department stores with the main store in Miami. I expect soon to be transferred to the main store for further training. All three of us, Catherine, Rickie and myself, are well and enjoy this Florida climate."

Townsend, Silas H., '49 — 131 E. Wacker Dr., Chicago 1, Ill. Si received his degree in June, but was not on campus during 1949-50. We have had no report on his plans.

Trees, Sylvia L. — 1585 Robinwood St., Lakewood, Ohio. Sylvia studied elementary education at Western Reserve University summer session, and this year is teaching fourth and fifth grades at Lawn School in Cleveland.

Tresselt, Ann E., x — Box 26, Thurmont,

Md. Ann spent the summer at the University of Colorado, taking the eight hours needed for her degree. This fall she's been working on a seminar report needed to complete a course and when that is completed will receive her degree. "Right now I'm living at home, but plan to go out to Scottsbluff, Neb., and work starting about November first. Job plans are still not definite."

Treyz, Joseph H., Jr. — 11 Jay St., Binghamton, N. Y. (home). No word from Joe this fall. When he graduated in February, he planned to work in the Binghamton Public Library until fall and then go to library school.

Updegraff, Richard B. — 116 St. Paulus Rd., Ardmore, Pa. Dick had a summer job as ward attendant at Norristown State Hospital in Pennsylvania. He has begun work for his M.D. degree at the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine in Philadelphia.

Utley, Richard W. — 5756 Kimbark Ave., Chicago 37, Ill. Dick spent the summer working at the Canton, Ohio, Y.M.C.A., and then was married to Virginia Curtis on Aug. 13. (See next item for details.) Dick is studying for his B.D. degree in religious education at Chicago Theological Seminary. His field work assignment is with the South Chicago Community Center, working with the boys' club program. (Joan Moyer is also working at the South Chicago center.)

Utley, Mrs. Richard W. (Virginia G. Curtis) — 5756 Kimbark Ave., Chicago 37, Ill. Virginia and Dick were married on Aug. 13 at the First Presbyterian Church in Moorestown, N. J. She is the daughter of Mrs. Howard Curtis (Ethel Metcalf, x'23) and the late Dr. Curtis, '15. Her brother Howard gave her away, and the wedding party included Portia Peters, bridesmaid, and Jim Wentz, Bill Child, and Herb Rinehart, '51, ushers. A number of other Oberlinians were guests. This year Virginia is teaching first grade (30 pupils) at Lincoln School in Calumet City, a suburb of Chicago.

Valett, Mrs. Robert E. (Shirley Bellman) — 10501 S. Hale Ave., Chicago 43, Ill. Shirley and Bob were married on July 8 at St. Andrews Episcopal Church in College Park, Md., with Trudy Hess, '51, and Ruth Callomon as bridesmaids. Bob is boys' work secretary at the Beverly YMCA in Chicago and is working toward his master's degree in education at the University of Chicago. For two months, Shirley did general office work at a law firm in Chicago, but in late October she was fortunate in finding a job in her field of interest. She is teaching nursery school in the morning and supervising the program for primary age children in the afternoon at the South Chicago Community Center. In addition, she is taking one three-hour course in nursery school education at Roosevelt College.

Van Metre, Edward J. — Green Fields School, Tucson, Ariz. Ed is teaching history at Green Fields School for Boys.

Veverka, Bernice M. — 9504 Cardwell Ave., Cleveland 5, Ohio. "Up to the beginning of October, I worked at Babies and Children's Hospital of the University Hospitals as a trained assistant. During October I've been vacationing at home before beginning work November 1 at the Lewis Flight Propulsion Lab, N.A.C.A., here in Cleveland."

"Last month I met in person a boy with whom I've been corresponding since my freshman year at Ohio. He's a German student from Munich who recently won a year's scholarship to study at the University of Missouri. He spent a week with our family before going to Missouri where he'll study journalism and English literature. Our correspondence began when a group of students at the University of Munich requested a list of Oberlin students who were interested in corresponding with them. Little did I realize that four years later I'd be going down to Union Terminal to meet the student from Munich!"

Vienapuu, Herk — 1940 E. 89 St., Cleveland, Ohio. Herk is a student in the School of Architecture at Western Reserve University. His wife, Naima, is finishing her senior year at Oberlin, so Herk gets back to Oberlin for week ends.

Walker, Richard W. — 271 Buckingham Rd., Rocky River, Cleveland 16, Ohio (home). Dick is a first-year medical student at Western Reserve University.

Wang, James C. F. — Apt. 2A, 400 Riverside Dr., New York 25, N. Y. Jim is studying on the United Nations program at New York

University and expects to complete his master's degree next June. "My work is interesting but hard work. I have to spend at least two days a week at the UN headquarters at Flushing Meadow or Lake Success. Then I have lectures in the evenings. Most of my courses are seminar style — lots of discussion and debate."

Ward, Alice A. — 267 15th Ave., Columbus, Ohio. "I spent the summer at the Congregational Summer Assembly in northern Michigan the summer meeting place of many Oberlin graduates. Between swimming, sunning, hiking, and all the other sports available there, I did odd jobs such as working in the cherry canning factory, sorting cherries (6 p. m.-4 a. m.), waiting on table, and working in a gift shop. In July I also attended Jan and Barrie Smith's, x, wedding. Now I'm back in school again, working for a master's degree in history at Ohio State University. Just think, though, exams before Christmas, so no books to study during the holidays!"

Waterhouse, Bruce L. — 407 Hulton Rd., Oakmont, Pa. Since July Bruce has been a laboratory assistant in the Paint Division of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. plant at Springdale, Pa. "I have done three weeks or so of analytical work so far, but my main job is working in the trade sales lab, running down complaints and formulating and making up sample batches of paint. I've spent a number of evenings in Pittsburgh with Mr., x, and Mrs. Kenneth Cowan (Barbara Slocum, '47) — was best man at their wedding on June 24 and also in the wedding party of John McConnell and Virginia McCorison, '49, on July 29 in Westfield, N. J., at which some 20 Oberlin grads congregated."

Watson, Russell C. — 199 W. College St., Oberlin, Ohio. After graduation in February, Russ joined the executive training group at the Higbee Co. in Cleveland. This fall he and Harding Marlatt took an apartment in Oberlin, so Russ has joined the Cleveland commuters group.

Way, Robert F. — 2742 Rocklyn Rd., Shaker Hts., Ohio. Another member of the group at Western Reserve School of Medicine, working for his M.D.

Weaver, Mrs. Darrell A., Jr. (Marcia D. Shumaker) — Colegrove Rd., R. 5, Ithaca, N. Y. Marcia worked from July until the end of September as a recreation assistant at Pilgrim State Hospital (where Lib Stone is doing the same kind of work). She was married Oct. 7. Darrell is a senior at Ithaca College, Ithaca, N. Y., and Marcia is working in the treasurer's office at Cornell University. "Primarily duties consist of figuring the tax deductions for the employees and making out all the checks on a very complicated payroll machine. The work is interesting, though a little out of my line."

Webb, Leonard A., Jr. — 2245 Bellfield Rd., Cleveland Hts., Cleveland 6, Ohio. Lennie is a sales trainee with the Alling & Cory Co. (paper merchants) of Cleveland. His wedding to Marilyn Jo Ross is planned for Dec. 23 (see her report for details). "Several pews will be reserved for 'The White House Boys.'"

Weed, O. Jane — Casa Materna, Corso Garibaldi No. 35, Portici, Naples, Italy. Janie spent the summer in Europe, travelling in July and at a work camp near Turin, Italy in August. She is working now for the Italian Service Mission of Naples. "Sixty families are living in a barracks village and she is doing kindergarten work with poor children, girls' clubs, and English classes." (This information from her mother — no direct word yet from her.)

Wenrich, John C. — Room 400, Greene House, Ann Arbor, Mich. "I took a swell trip through the eastern states with Oberlin friends and then worked for a month in the office of a small manufacturer in Chicago. But I decided to continue my education and am enrolled for a master's degree in marketing in the graduate school of the University of Michigan. Phil Thomas and I are staff assistants on this floor of Greene Hall, a men's dorm."

Wentz, James H., Jr. — 95 College St., Amherst, Mass. Jim is a graduate assistant in physics at Amherst College, teaching the introductory laboratory work.

Westerman, Carol — Box 198, El Guacío, San Sebastian, Puerto Rico. Carol has been in Puerto Rico since July, "teaching English to 2nd, 4th, and 5th grades, arithmetic, art, physical education in the 4th grade, and doing community recreation and club programs at El Guacío, a mission project in San Sebastian." (For further details of her work, see page 3 of the magazine.)

Whitcomb, Mrs. John H. (Dorothy D. Bradley) — 7 Wigglesworth St., Boston, Mass. Dorothy and John, x, were married on July 15 at the First Presbyterian Church in Georgetown, Ky. Eleanor Derby was her only attendant. Other Oberlinians present included her mother, Mrs. Lewis P. Bradley (Lucile Stonebraker, '18), Audrey McQuilkin, and Doris Cunneen, x. John is a second year student at Harvard Medical School and Dorothy is doing adult recreation and teen-age club work at the Boston Y.W.C.A. "I'm busy with a job, keeping house, being a landlady to three students (we bought the house and rent out part of it) and painting our apartment."

White, E. Warner — 1103 E. Washington St., Ann Arbor, Mich. Warner spent the summer travelling in Europe, particularly in France and Germany. He is a graduate student in physics at the University of Michigan this year.

Wilder, David H. — Burton Hall, Oberlin, Ohio. Dave spent the summer as an attendant at Friends Hospital (a mental hospital) in Philadelphia. He is a graduate student in psychology at Oberlin.

Wiley, George T. — 1929 Ohio Ave., Youngstown, Ohio. George worked on his master's degree in history at Ohio State University during the summer term. While there he roomed with Seth Johnston and played golf with coaches Collins and Bibler. Now he is teaching history and coaching freshman football at Rayen School in Youngstown. He reports that his freshman football line averages close to 180 pounds. "Rayen School has several Oberlinians on the faculty and the entire organization, both students and faculty, have been very friendly and helpful."

Willmott, Donald E. — 909 E. Heath Ct., Willow Run, Mich. "I'm amazed and delighted to find so many Oberlin friends on campus at the University of Michigan. About a dozen of us are planning to sit together at football games." Don is a graduate student in sociology, working for his master's degree.

Willmott, Mrs. Donald E. (Elizabeth A. Herrmann) — 909 E. Heath Ct., Willow Run, Mich. Liz and Don were married on June 12 and spent the summer working at the University of Michigan Fresh Air Camp. While Don studies sociology, Liz is studying educational psychology (guidance and personnel) at the University of Michigan.

Wilson, Dale E. — 24220 Glenbrook Blvd., Euclid, Cleveland 17, Ohio (home). No information available on what Dale is doing, but we "guess" that he is working in Cleveland.

Wilson, Mrs. Dale E. (Anne B. Morrison) — 24220 Glenbrook Blvd., Euclid, Cleveland 17, Ohio. (See above.)

Wlson, Mrs. Ian D. (Sydney A. Van Winkle) — 1849 Alvason Rd., Cleveland 12, Ohio, "Rip" and Ian, x, were married at Covenant Baptist Church in Detroit, Mich., on June 24. Oberlinians present included Marilyn Jo Ross, maid of honor, Leonard Webb, Donald Loeffler, '49, Dr., '41, and Mrs. Gerald Wilson (Nancy Gawthrop, '43), Dr., '39, and Mrs. Andrew Wilson (Margaret Baldwin, '38), and Mr., '42, and Mrs. W. Robert Chaudler (Jean Wilson, '43). Ian is in his second year at Western Reserve University Medical School and Rip is a "permanent substitute" in the elementary grades in Maple Heights, Ohio, teaching wherever she is needed in kindergarten and grades 1-3.

Windle, Mrs. Charles D. (Jan E. Folk) — 900 Riverside Dr., New York, N. Y. "I was married in June to Chuck Windle, '49, and moved to New York. This summer I worked in a day camp while Chuck struggled through summer courses at Columbia. I am now a student at the New York School of Social Work, getting my field work training with tuberculosis cases."

Winslow, M. Elizabeth — Hindman Settlement School, Hindman, Ky. Betty is recreation director at Hindman Settlement School. "Each day of the week is entirely different — Mondays and Wednesdays I take my lunch in hand, climb into the Jeep (Jump Josie by name) and head out to the wilderness, turn off the hard-surfaced road and plow through muddy by-ways, then turn down into the creek-bed proper and feel overjoyed that it has a comparatively hard and safe bottom, bounce up some waterfalls and finally turn up onto a school ground. Here is the reward for my efforts: beaming faces and shining eyes, hands folded on the desks and feet flat on the floor, as the rural school children await the story they know will come first and anticipate the song session and play period which come afterward. I have been to four one-room schools so far, and six two-or-three-room schools. . . . One day a week I play and game with the eight grades of the school here in Hindman; one day I have five folk dancing classes composed of the bus students in the high school; Friday I have off. Three evenings a week I have beginning, intermediate and advanced folk dance classes, each composed of a third of the 57 high school settlement youngsters. Every Saturday evening I have a 'party' for them — i.e., they do the folk dances they already know. Two things I've started on my own — the first is a 15 minute music appreciation program once a week at the high school for all the students. I am starting out with Sousa marches, but even those will not be particularly appreciated — all they want is hill-billy string music. The second thing is a Sunday evening program whereby all the 57 settlement students come up to the recreation house to eat their lunches. Then we have a hymn sing and a worship service and end the program with games, stunts, and various activities. . . ."

Witzeman, Robert A. — 1666 Magnolia Dr., Cleveland 6, Ohio. Bob is studying at the Medical School of Western Reserve University.

ANOTHER JUNE WEDDING

... took place June 26, 1950, when Robert Galloway, '49, and Virginia Sawbill, '50, were married. In the wedding party were Al Fowler; Cliff Clark, x'46; Mr. T. R. Galloway; Bob and Virginia; Shirley Mitchell; Portia Peters, '50; and Nancy Newkirk, '50

Wolfe, Laurie J. — 1340 W. 65 St., Cleveland, Ohio. "Skipper" was named Oberlin-in-China representative last spring, but with the present conditions in the Far East it was decided that she should not go to China. She spent the summer in Chicago, doing general office work at the Immigrants' Protective League, and in September took a job as secretary to Dr. David E. Rolf, an ophthalmologist with offices in the Republic Building in Cleveland. During the summer her engagement to Bain Murray, '51, was announced. They plan to be married in February at Fairchild Chapel. In the meantime, Skipper and Donna Bender are sharing an apartment and "invite Oberlin transients to come sleep on our sofa."

Wonderly, Donald M. — 3006 Garfield Blvd., Lorain, Ohio. Don is a graduate student in psychology at Oberlin and is also holding a parttime job as caseworker for the Family Service Association in Lorain.

Wood, Mrs. Robert E. (Marilyn B. Riley) — 614 N. Sangamon St., Chicago 22, Ill. Marilyn and Bob, '49, were married on June 10. Marilyn is a sales assistant in a modern interior decorating firm, Baldwin Kingrey, Inc., and is enrolled for night school work in applied art and design at the Institute of Design. "Bob and I feel that at last we're engaged in constructive activities relating to our future goal (a community center of our own aimed at giving the layman needed creative outlets for his recreative time) and gaining important experience and skills. . . . We welcome visits from Oberlinians in or through Chicago at 'Woodshole' anytime."

Wright, Richard H. — 160 Woodland Ave., Oberlin, Ohio. Dick is working in the production electroplating department at the Brown-Lipe-Chapin Division of General Motors in Elyria, in training for an assignment in the development laboratory as an electroplating chemist. Joan (Boylan), '47, is continuing as secretary to Donald M. Love, Oberlin College Secretary.

Wyllie, James S. — 1918 Meadville St., Pittsburgh 14, Pa. (please forward). Jim worked during the summer on electrical construction work for the Reno Electric Co. in Pittsburgh. He was all set for graduate school in sociology, but was in the Army reserves and was recalled for active duty on Sept. 30. He was to be at Fort Eustis, Va., for refresher training, but we give his home address above as the sure way to reach him.

Yoder, Ingram C. — Iquique English College, Iquique, Chile. S. A. Ingram is one of 50 young people sent to Latin America on three year terms by the Methodist Mission Board. He spent the summer at Hartford (where Burt Houman was also studying) in a six weeks missionary training program and went to Chile in September. We've had no word since he reached there, but understand he was to be teaching English.

Young, Mary E. — 502 Dryden Rd., Ithaca, N. Y. "Pat" is a graduate student in American history at Cornell University. She has an assistantship which involves "taking attendance, grading papers, and conducting review sessions."

Young, William R. — 1666 Magnolia Dr., Cleveland 6, Ohio. Bill is a medical student at Western Reserve University.

Zornow, Harry B. — 827 Arch St., Ann Arbor, Mich. Harry is a graduate student in business administration at the University of Michigan, one of the many Oberlinians attending that University.

Conservatory of Music

Anderson, Robert E. — 227 N. Main St., Oberlin, Ohio. Bob is taking the six-year combined course and is completing his A.B. degree next June.

Bass, Seymour R. — 143 Baltusrol Way, Springfield, N. J. (please forward). "While playing with a small dance band in Baton Rouge, La., this summer, I watched the draft catch up with me. However, I decided to enlist in the Air Forces for four years and am at present playing bassoon in the band at the Lockland Air Force Base in San Antonio, Texas."

Bernbach, Barbara J. — 15 W. 81 St., New York 24, N. Y. Since February Barbara has been studying piano privately in New York.

Boardman, Earle M. — R. 3, Box 385, Greeley, Colo. Earle is teaching strings and conducting the orchestra in the public schools of Greeley, Colo., and his wife is teaching second grade.

Bowie, L. Elizabeth — 775 14th St., Boulder, Colo. Beth is a graduate assistant in piano at the University of Colorado, working for her master's degree in piano and doing extension teaching. Her pupils are university students, "either piano minors in the music school or students in other schools of the university."

Brennan, Walter J. — Apt. 3E, 1731 Harrison Ave., New York 53, N. Y. Walt is accompanist for Arthur Kent, baritone of the Metropolitan Opera, on a concert tour. They will head for the west coast in November.

Buckley, Wendell D. — (See Arts & Sciences news).

Burns, Betty A. — Mitchell College, Statesville, N. C. After a summer as music counsellor at Camp Pinecliffe in Maine, Betty is teaching violin, voice and theory at Mitchell College. "There are four teachers in the music department, all of us about the same age. (Louise Ankeny, '48, is teaching piano and organ.) On Oct. 5 we're giving a short program for the Women's Clubs; on Oct. 13, a full program for the town; another full program on the 17th; and a broadcast the following week. So we're going to be quite busy. . . . Henry Cook, Phil Gehring, Louise and I have gotten together once already and are planning another party soon."

Carstens, Howard C. — Kiskiminetas Springs School, Saltsburg, Pa. Howie had a summer job working at the Johnson O'Connor Research Foundation in New York City, doing personnel work, interviewing, and studying testing. This year he is teaching Freshman English, supervising music organizations, and working with tests and guidance at Kiski School.

Chalfant, Mrs. Paul (Marion G. Barnard) — 410 Topping Hill Rd., Westfield, N. J. (please forward). Marion and Paul, '49, were married at St. Paul's Church, Westfield, N. J., on Aug. 12. This fall Paul became a member of the Baltimore Symphony, but we've had no word on Marion's activities, nor their Baltimore address.

Cherry, James E. — R. 2, Albion, Pa. (please forward). Jim is 1A and expected to be inducted Nov. 1 when he wrote.

Clapp, Norma R. — 402 N. Broad St., Edenton, N. C. Norma is teaching piano in the public schools of Edenton, where she follows Dorothy Williams, '48, who has had the position for the past two years.

Connelly, Richard B. — 15 S. Pleasant St., Oberlin, Ohio. Dick spent the summer in New York City, studying with Edward Steuermann and Conrad Bos. This year he is working on his master of music degree in piano at the Oberlin Conservatory.

Cook, Henry M. — 142 N. Church St., Rocky Mount, N. C. Henry is organist and choirmaster at the Church of the Good Shepherd in Rocky Mount and is also teaching piano privately. "I enjoy the work, the church, and the town immensely. Anyone going south on U. S. 301 is invited to stop in; the church is right on the highway." Henry's engagement to Louise Ankeny, '48, was announced last spring.

Cooley, H. Patricia — 20070 Lichfield Rd., Detroit 21, Mich. Pat had a summer job as counsellor at Camp Sunshine in Mentor, Ky., where Bob Sandman, '49, is director. Now she is teaching vocal music in grades 1-8, in the Detroit public schools.

Cowger, R. Wright — 1930 10 Ave., Apt. B, Oakland 6, Calif. After graduating last February, Wright remained in Oberlin for the spring term as assistant in the public speaking department. After a summer session at Stanford University, he secured a position teaching instrumental music in four elementary schools in Oakland, Calif. However, he is 1A and expected to be called by Nov. 1.

Deahl, Robert W. — Burton Hall, Oberlin, Ohio. Bob is a graduate student in music history at the Oberlin Conservatory.

Dettman, Mrs. John (Eileen E. Smith) — 6501 Bartlett St., Pittsburgh, Pa. Eileen is teaching dance part-time at the Genevieve Jones Dance Studios in Pittsburgh. John is a graduate assistant in math at Carnegie Tech.

Ely, W. Stephen — 184 Montgomery Ave., New Concord, Ohio. Steve received his degree last February, but for the past year has been teaching humanities, history of music and history of art at Muskingum College.

Fishman, Mrs. Erwin (Lois Lyman) — 3 Convent St., Providence, R. I. While Erwin is studying at Brown University, Lois is beginning to work up a class of violin pupils. Since it takes time to develop the class, she is also holding a full-time job as cashier at Gladdings Department Store.

Forbes, A. Irving. '47 — Colebrook, N. H. Since 1947, Irving has been supervisor of music in grades 1-12 at Colebrook, but as his degree was awarded in 1950, we've included him here. His wife is Ellen Fuller, '47, and they have two sons, Alexander II, 2 years, and Benjamin, 9 months.

Gallagher, Robert C. — 298 E. College St., Oberlin, Ohio. Bob and Zoe Mazuk, x, were married on June 25 at the First Congregational Church, Battle Creek, Mich. His sister Mary, '51, was bridesmaid. This year both Zoe and Bob are studying at the Conservatory, Zoe finishing her B.M. degree and Bob as a graduate student in organ. In addition, he is continuing as organist and choir director at the Rocky River Methodist Church.

Gargulak, Richard G. — 79 N. Congress St., Athens, Ohio. Since last February, Dick has been a graduate assistant in violin at Ohio University, where he expects to complete his master's degree next June.

Gayters, Thomas A. — 118 E. Lorain St., Oberlin, Ohio. Tom has about 20 private pupils in brass and woodwinds in Lorain County, is playing in the Oberlin College Symphonic and Marching Bands, and in Jack Melick's dance band, and taking a course in history in the College — a schedule which is guaranteed to keep him busy!

Gehring, Philip K. — See College of Arts and Sciences news.

Gibson, Gordon R. — 19 College Pl., Oberlin, Ohio. Gordon is a graduate student in conducting at the Conservatory of Music.

Giesy, Mrs. Robert M., III (Mary Louise Hannum) — 494 E. Beaumont Rd., Columbus 2, Ohio. "Bob and I were married on June 25 by my father, assisted by his father, in the Presbyterian Church in Sand Springs, Okla. We had a perfect honeymoon through New Hampshire and Vermont and since have been getting settled in our Columbus home. We are both taking courses at the University — I am enrolled in the College of Arts and Sciences."

Glastras, Thomas G. — Box 122, Rodger's Center, Bloomington, Ind. Tom has a graduate assistantship in piano and is working for his master's degree in musicology at Indiana University.

ROBERT
BURNS

BARBARA
DUNTON

JON
SWAN

LAEL
HANNON

EMORY
THOMAS

... salesman in California; elementary teacher in private school; member of pioneer AFS unit; hostess in a Stouffers' restaurant; student on Rhodes Scholarship

Gordon, Arthur A.—10309 Empire Ave., Cleveland 8, Ohio. Since May Art has been manager and instructor at the Eddy Duchin Piano Studios in Cleveland.

Haley, William J., Jr.—1013 Mary Ellen St., Pampa, Texas. Since June, Bill has been teaching private piano lessons at the Tarpley Music Store in Pampa.

Hobson, E. Jane—22 E. Lorain St., Oberlin, Ohio. Jane spent the summer at home in Lawrence, Kansas, working as cashier of a theater. This year she is commuting to Elyria where she is assistant children's librarian at the Elyria Public Library. Her engagement to Bob Slaughter, '51, was announced in August. They plan to be married next June.

Hogg, F. Louise—307 Wilson Ave., Oil City, Pa. To qualify for a Pennsylvania teaching certificate, Louise spent six weeks at Slippery Rock State Teachers College summer school. She is teaching music education at Cranberry High School, Seneca, Pa.

Hungerford, Lenore B.—820 East Blvd., Charlotte, N. C. Lenore has two positions—playing trumpet in the Charlotte Symphony Orchestra and teaching instrumental music (winds) in nine public schools in Charlotte.

Hunziker, Beverly M.—39 Stiles St., Stratford, Conn. (home) Lee is starting a professional career in singing. She has been auditioning for various organizations this fall. One engagement reported is an appearance as soloist with the Connecticut Symphony Orchestra in Bridgeport, Conn., on April 4.

Hutton, J. Warren—959 Ackerman Ave., Syracuse 10, N. Y. Warren is a graduate student in music at Syracuse University. He's living at the same house as Dick Hudson, '49, who is also studying in the music department this year.

Ingalls, David M.—R. 5, Box 151, Warren, Ohio (please forward). In September, Dave started teaching instrumental music in the public schools in Newport News, Va., but in mid-October, the Navy recalled him to active duty, and he had to leave the job. As yet, we have not heard where he is stationed.

Intili, Dominic J.—160 E. College St., Oberlin, Ohio. Dom is a graduate student in piano at the Conservatory of Music.

Jaeger, Robert W.—36 Cedar Ave., Newport News, Va. Bob and Shirley spent the summer as handyman and counselor respectively at the Girl Scout Camp-Whip-Poor-Will Hills at Morrow, Ohio. This year he is teaching instrumental music at George Wythe Junior High School in Hampton, Va.

Jaeger, Mrs. Robert W. (Shirley Ann Keene)—36 Cedar Ave., Newport News, Va. Shirley is teaching sixth grade at Wythe Elementary School in Hampton, Va.

Johnson, David C.—23 W. 83 St., New York 24, N. Y. Last spring Dave studied in New York City and had a temporary job as organist at the Church of the Redeemer in Pelham. In September he became minister of music at Vernon Heights Congregational Church, Mount Vernon, N. Y. He is also enrolled for graduate study in music at Teachers College, Columbia University, where he hopes to complete his master's degree next August. (See next item for further news.)

Johnson, Mrs. David C. (Mary C. Fraley)—23 W. 83 St., New York 24, N. Y. Mary and Dave were married on Sept. 30 at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Alexandria, Va. Dean Robinson was organist. Mary has a scholarship for study in cello at Juilliard School of Music.

Keesey, Mrs. Robert (Eileen Moore Keesey)—25 College Pl., Oberlin, Ohio. "Bob and I are living in Oberlin where Bob is executive secretary of the Alumni Association. At the present time I am keeping house and have no occupational plans. We hope that all of our friends, when coming back to Oberlin, will pay us a visit."

Klan, Joseph A.—2023 Baringer Ave., Louisville, Ky. Joe is teaching instrumental music at J. M. Atherton High School in Louisville. "Most of my work is high school orchestra and ensemble, with additional string classes in the high school and lower grades."

Koren, Phyllis R.—32 Parkside Dr., Great Neck, N. Y. Phyl is teaching music in the elementary schools at Valley Stream, L. I., N. Y. "My job is wonderful and I love every minute of it. We're planning on a chorus, an orchestra,

KURT
SCHUSTER

JOAN
MOYER

WALLACE
SEATON

RUTH
CALLOMON

WILLIAM
RIDPATH

... starting graduate study in instrumental music education; assisting at South Chicago Community Center; doing graduate study at University of Toronto; working for National Bureau of Standards; training for merchandising in Pennsylvania and a band for each of the two schools as well as beginning brass, woodwind, violin and percussion classes. Fortunately, a very capable instrumental teacher is working with me."

Lee, Nathaniel—2210 Northumberland St., Richmond 22, Va. Nat is teaching vocal music at Maggie L. Walker High School in Richmond, and has two large choirs and a small vocal ensemble, plus two music appreciation classes.

Lendrim, Frank T.—Burton Hall, Oberlin, Ohio. Frank is taking a second music degree and is completing the Bachelor of Music Education degree at the Conservatory this year.

McCalmont, Donald W.—320 W. Genesee St., Flint, Mich. Don spent the summer teaching oboe at the New England Music Camp in Oakland, Me. This year he is teaching instrumental music and social studies at Zimmerman Junior High School in Flint and is playing oboe in the Flint Community Symphony Orchestra.

McCormick, Thomas W.—251 Tioga Trail, Willoughby, Ohio. Since last January, Tom has been pianist-organist at station WGAR in Cleveland.

Madison, Shirley A.—St. Mary's Hall, Fairbault, Minn. Shirley took nine hours of education courses at Huron College (S. D.) during the summer. She is teaching piano and music appreciation, is chapel organist and glee club accompanist at St. Mary's Hall. "I feel very fortunate in being a part of the faculty here. It's a lovely school and I like my work. Having access to all the advantages of the Twin Cities adds a further satisfaction. Next summer I plan to attend the University of Minnesota to secure more work in music education."

Marburger, Donald C.—North Country School, Lake Placid, N. Y. Don is teaching piano, improvisation, and rhythms at North Country School, a private school for grade school ages.

Marks, Patience A.—88 Washington Hwy., Snyder 21, N. Y. Pat is engaged to Richard A. Dybowski, also of Snyder, and plans to be married on April 7. She expects to spend the winter at home and to get a job in the Buffalo area.

Mochernuk, Roman P.—2835 Haddenfield Rd., Palmyra, N. J. (home). We've had no report on Roman's plans.

Mueller, John S.—2135 Glenwood Ave., Toledo 2, Ohio. Jack is organist at Collingwood Congregational Church and is also a student in English literature at Toledo University.

Newkerk, Nancy J.—176 N. Church St., Goshen, N. Y. Nancy spent the summer as counselor at Camp Townsend at Hunter Lake, N. Y. She is teaching vocal and instrumental music at Goshen Central School. "My job consists of music from kindergarten through sixth grade, a junior band and junior choruses, instrumental lessons, and two high school vocal ensembles. I love the work and it's keeping me pretty busy."

Niece, Lewis H., Jr.—DeGraff, Ohio. Lewis is teaching vocal and instrumental music at DeGraff, Ohio.

Payne, Charles H.—See College of Arts and Sciences list.

Pratt, Robert H.—526 W. Superior St., Alma, Mich. Bob is teaching junior high general music and glee clubs and senior high choir and ensemble in the Alma public schools. "We find Alma a friendly and busy city. We've located a comfortable house near the Alma College campus and are becoming involved in many of the community music activities."

Price, Mrs. Glenn A. (Charlotte Louise Jones)—D-67, Stadium Terrace, Champaign, Ill. Charlotte and Glenn were married on June 6 at the Second Presbyterian Church, Lexington, Ky., with Mary Fraley as maid of honor, David Johnson and Dean Robinson organists, and Mr. '41, and Mrs. Arnold Blackburn. Glenn is a student at the University of Illinois and Charlotte is organist and choir director at the Chapel of St. John The Divine in Champaign, Ill., and studying organ and German at the University.

Ralston, Robert D.—205 Myrtle Ave., Willard, Ohio. Bob was a counselor at Camp Pemigewasset in New Hampshire during the summer. He is teaching "all vocal music and orchestra in grades 5 through 12" at Willard.

Reiche, V. Frances—148 S. Professor St., Oberlin, Ohio. Fran is studying piano at the Conservatory of Music, working toward her master's degree.

Requa, Robert A.—250 W. 7 St., Erie, Pa. Since September, Bob has been organist and associate choir director of the Church of the Covenant in Erie. It's a church of about 2500 members, "with an organ very much like the chapel organ in Oberlin and a choir school involving seven choirs." But—Bob's draft physical is set for Nov. 10 and so the future is very uncertain.

Robinson, Dean W.—206 Semmes St., Alexander City, Ala. Since July Dean has been minister of music at the First Baptist Church of Alexander City. "I like the deep South very much. Gave an organ recital July 16 and am planning a joint concert of sacred music with the First Methodist Church on Oct. 17. At present I have four choirs."

Rubinstein, Lucille S.—1825 Pennington Rd., Philadelphia 31, Pa. During the spring and summer, Lu worked in an office in Philadelphia, but in September she took over the management of one of her brother's music shops, the M-R Shop in Wayne, Pa., so music is still an important part of her occupation.

Sanderson, D. Lou—1601 N. Stafford St., Arlington, Va. Lou is teaching music at Stratford Junior High School in Arlington. She has "8th and 9th grade girls' glee club, string class, orchestra, and two 7th grade general music classes."

Schlichting, Mary Kay—316 E. Locust St., Wilmington, Ohio. Mary Kay spent the summer as waterfront and music counselor at Ecole Champlain, a French speaking camp, in Vermont. This year she is teaching violin, orchestra, ear training, and music fundamentals at Wilmington College and is part-time violin teacher in the public schools of Wilmington.

Schuster, Kurt S.—1738 Quincey Ct., Willow Run, Mich. In July Kurt started work on his master's degree in instrumental music education at the University of Michigan. Ethel is working at the University Hospital and both of them have been busy this fall getting their apartment painted and redecorated.

Simonel, Emile J., Jr.—4320 Haverhill St., Detroit 24, Mich. (home). Emile is a graduate student in music at the University of Michigan and is playing viola in the Toledo Symphony Orchestra.

Smith, Elinor J. — 210 W. Monroe St., Aberdeen, Miss. Elinor is teaching piano in the public schools of Aberdeen.

Snodgrass, Margaret E. — 321 N.W. 8 St., Minot, N. Dak. Margaret is instructor in piano at North Dakota State Teachers College in Minot. She has 48 students from second grade through college.

Sterenberg, Jacque — Silver Creek, Neb. Jacque is teaching vocal and instrumental music and 11th and 12th grade English in the public schools at Silver Creek.

Stern, Milton — 3115 Brighton 4th St., Brooklyn 35, N. Y. Milton began study in July toward his master of arts in music at Columbia University. He expects to finish it in the summer of '51. This fall he won the Steuermann Scholarship at the Philadelphia Conservatory of Music for piano lessons for 1950-51 with Mr. Steuermann.

Sutch, Mrs. Harold E. (Betsy Niskonen Sutch) — 309 Rice Ave., Girard, Pa. Betsy is teaching vocal music in grades 1-6 at Millcreek Township Schools, Erie, Pa. "I have around 2000 students and only manage to see them all once every two weeks. I outline work for the classroom teachers to do between visits, so I spend a lot of time at the typewriter and the ditto machine. . . . My husband has a job very close to our home and we should be in our new house by the time the Magazine comes out. We'd love to see any Oberlinians — anyone coming down Route 20 between Cleveland and Erie would be most welcome."

Sutch, Richard L. — 6727 Erie St., Sylvania, Ohio. Dick is teaching vocal music at Burnham High School in Sylvania.

Sutton, Mrs. Charles L. (Jacqueline E. Ferrell) — 500 E. Madison St., Gibsonburg Ohio. Since last January, Jackie has been teaching elementary music in the Gibsonburg public schools. On June 24 she married Charles Sutton, a Duquesne University graduate, who teaches the high school music at Gibsonburg.

Temple, Wendell A. — Box 27, Florida A. & M. College, Tallahassee, Fla. Wendell is instructor in piano at Florida A. & M. College.

Thomas, Janet R. — c/o Mrs. Laubenthal, R. 1, North Olmsted, Ohio. Janet is teaching vocal music in two Lorain County schools — Eaton and Columbia. Her engagement to Richard Myers, a pre-med senior at Ohio Wesleyan, has been announced.

Tucker, Irene J. — 206 Brown St., Appalachia, Va. Irene is teaching music in Big Stone Gap and Appalachia, Va. "The towns are about two miles apart and there are some 1500 children in each school. In one school I have 26 rooms, grades 1-7, and all but the 6th and 7th grades get music twice a week for 20 minutes. In the other school I have grades 1-6 and am starting a band which will meet after school; next semester I'll also have a high school glee club. . . . I am really up in the hills. There are about 4500 people in each town but there are about 20 coal mines near by and the miners' children come into town for school. I have a few violin students and am training majorettes for the band teacher in the town where I don't have the band. . . . I am the first music teacher since the depression and the children are very enthusiastic. I'm kept busy but like it!"

Wade, Dorothy L. — 243 N. Washington St., Gettysburg, Pa. Dorothy is organist-choir director of the Westminster Presbyterian Church in Harrisburg and is also working part-time in the theological seminary library in Gettysburg. On November 9 she will marry Robert Beckstrand in the First Methodist Church, Elmira, N. Y. The ceremony will be performed by Bob's father, Rev. O. G. Beckstrand. Mrs. Fred Keefe (Carolyn Berglund Keefe) will be an attendant and Richard Updegraff an usher. Bob is studying at Lutheran Theological Seminary in Gettysburg.

Webber, George H. — 2500 Montana St., El Paso, Texas. George graduated in February and spent the spring and summer terms in graduate study in music education at the University of Michigan, completing more than half of the work towards his M.M. degree. This year he is teaching string classes in three grade schools in El Paso. "I am enjoying my work here. The string program in El Paso is new and there seems to be a lot of interest. I am keeping busy! Besides having to date 140 string students whom I see three times a week, I am playing in the El Paso Symphony and am getting in a great deal of string quartet work. We are tentatively planning several quartet concerts soon."

Wells, Don A. '48 — 204 Center St., Ithaca, N. Y. Don is instructor in double-reeds (oboe, bassoon, woodwind ensembles and classes) at Ithaca College. "Oberlin seems to be taking over Ithaca College — besides myself, Virginia Ross, '34, and Martha Kelsey, '43, joined the faculty this fall. We had a little session at the opening faculty reception and talked about Oberlin. . . ."

Whitaker, Mrs. Thomas R. (Dorothy V. Barnes). '49 — 608 Orange St., New Haven, Conn. Dot received her degree in February and during the second semester was assistant in the children's room of the Elyria, Ohio, Public Library. She and Tom, '49, were married in June and since July 1, she has been an assistant in the reserve book room of the Yale University Library. Tom is working for his Ph.D. in English at Yale.

Whitehouse, Richard L. — 305 W. 9 Ct., Birmingham, Ala. Dick is solo cellist with the Birmingham Civic Symphony and is also teaching cello part-time at the Birmingham Conservatory of Music.

Williams, John E. — 1133 E. Ann St., Ann Arbor, Mich. Since last February, John has been a graduate student in organ at the University of Michigan. He expects to complete his master's degree in February, '51.

Zeitchick, Roslyn A. — 327 Central Park, W. New York 25, N. Y. Roslyn is planning on a professional singing career and is in process of trying out for jobs in television, stage, and radio.

MASTER OF ARTS

Aronson, Hillard J. — 850 Sumner Ave., Springfield 8, Mass. (home). We haven't heard from Hal and have located no one in Oberlin who knows what he is doing.

Biagiotti, Guy A. — 103 Forest St., Oberlin, Ohio. Guy is a special graduate student at Oberlin, taking calculus and bacteriology and doing research in physiology.

Chambers, V. Lois — YWCA, 401 Broadway, Tacoma 3, Wash. Lois is Teen-age Program Director at the Tacoma YWCA. "My job is fascinating and lots of fun. The Y here is well-equipped and beautifully situated on the edge of Commencement Bay, part of Puget Sound. . . . I hope to have an apartment in another month, but am living in a pleasant room right now."

Chao, Isabel Y. — 2 Tsao Chang Chin Tiao, Peking, China. Isabel sailed for home in late August and should have reached her home in Peking early in October. We've had no word from her since she left San Francisco.

Dietrich, Mary Alice — Dept. of Biology, Simmons College, Boston 15, Mass. Mary Alice is teaching general biology at Simmons College.

Femon, Bonnie M. — Friendship Jr. College, Rock Hill, S. C. Bonnie spent the spring and summer visiting her family in Oakland, Calif. This year she is teaching beginning botany and zoology and hygiene at Friendship Junior College. "Rock Hill is a town of about 25,000, and is 70 miles north of Columbia and 27 miles south of Charlotte, N. C."

Foster, Richard J. '49 — 528 Elm St., Ann Arbor, Mich. Dick has a teaching fellowship in English (teaching freshman English) and is working on his Ph.D. in that field at the University of Michigan. He's rooming with Chuck Caton, and reports an Oberlin "colony" at Michigan this year.

Hamilton, H. Chloe, '48 — 2745 Girard Ave., Evanston, Ill. (please forward). Chloe has a Fulbright grant for study of the history of art and is enrolled this year at the Ecole du Louvre and at the Sorbonne in Paris. She also plans to continue research on the subject of her master's thesis — the Armory Show.

Heilbrun, Alfred B., Jr., '49 — 1020 Kirkwood Ave., Iowa City, Iowa. After Al and Marian Kirkpatrick, '49, were married in June, they spent the summer as counselors at Camp Arcadia in Casco, Maine. Al is continuing study of psychology, working for his Ph.D. in clinical psychology at the State University of Iowa, where he is under a four-year V.A. training program. Marian has changed from music education to secretarial work for an orthopedic surgeon at Mercy Hospital in Iowa City. "On the way to Iowa City we visited Ed Johnson in Maywood, N. I. Wes and Pat Simon in Philadelphia, and Dick, '49, and Liz Cunningham Hagner, '49. Out here we've seen Howard McFann, m. Dottie White, '49, and Mahlon Balderston, '49."

Hempling, Harold G. — 225 Halsey St., Princeton, N. J. Harold is a graduate assistant in physiology at Princeton University, starting work toward his Ph.D. degree. He and Claire "have a small place in a housing project."

Hookins, John S., '48 — 3321 Third Ave., S., Minneapolis, Minn. John was in Oberlin during the summer and organized the Atlantic Union Committee chapter. He's working along the same lines in Minneapolis, where he is studying forestry and botany at the University of Minnesota. Marian (Springer), '48, is studying shorthand and plans to get an office job.

Jelliffe, Mrs. R. A. (Rebecca Rio Jelliffe) — Central Philippine College, Iloilo City, P. I. Dr. Jelliffe is teaching English this year at Central Philippine College as a Fulbright professor. This happens to be Becky's alma mater. We've had no direct report but hear that they are enjoying the year in the Philippines.

Lewis, David J. — 910 Galena St., Janesville, Wis. Since April, Dave has been Boys' Work and Program Secretary at the Janesville YMCA. He and Kay have a son, Peter Morgan, born on April 1.

Lyons, J. Daniel, '48 — 1109 W. University Ave., Urbana, Ill. Dan worked at the General Motors plant in Elyria during the summer and moved to Urbana in September. He is assisting in the beginning lab in psychology and is starting work on his Ph.D. in that field. The Lyons have one child.

McFann, Howard H. — Dent. of Psychology, State University of Iowa, Iowa City, Iowa. Howard and Adele moved to Iowa City during the summer. He's started work on his Ph.D. in psychology and has a research assistantship at the State University of Iowa.

Miller, Mrs. Kent (Joanne G. Tucker) — 1764 Field St., Detroit, Mich. Joanne was enrolled at Oberlin during 1948-49, but finished her thesis and received her master's degree in 1950. Last year she studied education at Wayne University in Detroit. She is teaching history and English at the junior high school in Grosse Pointe, Mich.

Randolph, Juletta D. — Art Dept., Florida A. & M. College, Tallahassee, Fla. Juletta is instructor in public school art, principles of design and composition at Florida A. & M. College. "The school here is beautiful and modern and the area lovely. I still miss all my friends, but Oberlin is well represented here."

Riley, Edward E., Jr. — 1228 Harden St., Columbia 16, S. C. Ed is teaching histology and general biology at Benedict College in Columbia.

Riley, George E. — Prairie View College, Prairie View, Texas. George is teaching embryology and bacteriology at Prairie View College.

Sammel, Edward A. — 426 N. Raymond Ave., Pasadena, Calif. (please forward). Ed and Pat are field representatives in the American Friends Service Committee Indian program. Since April

MAKING NEWS

... at Harvard was all part of unpacking for Richard Kropp, '50. See class notes under John Barnett

1 they have "travelled about 12,000 miles, mostly in Arizona and New Mexico. Transportation — jeep; living accommodations — trailer and sleeping bags. We're in love with Indians and the Southwest and hope to stay out here in some kind of reservation work."

Schultz, Werner W. — R. 5, Warren, Ohio. Werner did the course work for his degree several years ago but finished the thesis and received his degree in June. We have no information on his present occupation.

Thompson, Bradford — 217 S. Clemens Ave., Lansing, Mich. Brad has begun work on his Ph.D. in chemistry at Michigan State College, where he has a half-time assistantship, present duties being to supervise labs, grade exams, etc. Brad and Jane have a "one-room apartment about half-way between downtown Lansing and the campus at East Lansing." Jane had taken a state civil service exam for typists and was waiting for an office job when they reported.

MASTER OF MUSIC

Beaty, David L., '47 — Shorter College, Rome, Ga. Since Sept., 1949, Dave has been teaching piano at Shorter College, a school for girls.

Kaplan, David L. — Reynolds, Ill. Dave and Harriet spent the summer as counselors at Camp Whip-Poor-Will Hills at Morrow, Ohio. He is teaching music in the public schools of Reynolds and is playing in the Tri-City Symphony.

Simons, Florence F., '46 — Box 572, Baylor Sta., Belton, Texas. This is Flo's third year as instructor in organ and theory at Mary Hardin-Baylor College. "I have also taken the position of specialist teacher in music supervision for Bell County Schools on a part-time basis. When I'm free at the College, I take off for 'parts unknown' in the county. So far I love it — particularly since it necessitates my having a car! Belton is the county seat, so my work starts and ends here each day."

MASTER OF MUSIC EDUCATION

Everson, Maynard W., '41 — 225 N. 8 St., Cambridge, Ohio. Maynard is teaching vocal music in junior and senior high schools and directing the high school orchestra at Cambridge. "We have sold our house trailer and were fortunate to get a five-room apartment a stone's throw from the schools. I am kept busy with the school work, private voice pupils, and directing a church choir and a community mixed chorus which is planning to sing the Messiah at Christmas time. We have visited John Kendall, '39, and his wife at New Concord. John is teaching at Muskingum College and directs the Cambridge String Choir."

Hawley, Glenn F. — R. 4, Box 469, Golden, Colo. Glenn is teaching instrumental music in the Golden public schools.

Johnston, Richard C. — 184 S. Hampton St., Columbus 13, Ohio. Dick was on campus during 1946-47 but completed his thesis and received the degree last June. Last year he was assistant director of the Columbus Boy Choir. This year he is combining two jobs — minister of music at the Broad Street Presbyterian Church and director of the Columbus Girlchoir.

The Graduate School of Theology

BACHELOR OF DIVINITY

Compton, Rev. Lewis P. — 12711 Racine Ave., Detroit 5, Mich. Mr. Compton is minister of the Messiah Methodist Church in Detroit.

Cox, Rev. Merton M. — Cygnet, Ohio. Mr. Cox is minister of the Methodist Church in Cygnet.

Crowell, Rev. Walter B. — 106 Foote St., Union City, Mich. Since June Mr. Crowell has been pastor of the First Congregational Church of Union City.

Davis, Rev. R. Allen — 2524 Spring Arbor Rd., Jackson, Mich. Mr. Davis is pastor of a "high potential" Congregational church in Jackson — a church recently established in a growing neighborhood.

Fleming, Rev. John W. — 228 N. Professor St., Oberlin, Ohio. Mr. Fleming is continuing his study at the School of Theology, working for his master of sacred theology degree.

Mattern, Rev. Chalmers A. — Lyons Church of Christ, Lyons, Ohio. For several years Mr. Mattern has been minister of the Lyons Church of Christ, but early in 1951 he will go to Findlay, Ohio, as minister of the Central Christian Church.

Newton, Rev. J. Marshall — R. 10, Minneapolis 16, Minn. Mr. Newton was minister of the Methodist Church in Elmore, Ohio, until September, when he became minister of a rural church near Minneapolis.

Olson, Rev. Oscar W., Jr. — 112 W. 5 St., Clare, Mich. Since July Mr. Olson has been minister of the Clare Congregational Church. At his installation service on Oct. 5, Dr. L. A. Owen preached the sermon and Richard Allan Davis, t, and Walter B. Crowell, t, took part. The Olsons have one daughter, Ingrid Jeanne.

Poppe, Rev. Hans M. — 210 E. 6 St., Russell, Kansas. In September, Mr. Poppe became pastor of the First Congregational Church of Russell. "We are located in the heart of the Kansas oil and wheat producing area. The church has a $50,000 expansion program under way." Hans and Ruth have a daughter, Tanis Miriam, born July 28.

Reeder, Rev. Frank E. — Elkhart, Iowa. Mr. Reeder is pastor of the Church of Christ in Elkhart.

Reeves, Rev. William I. — 7B, 2122 E. 100 St., Cleveland 6, Ohio. Mr. Reeves did supply work during the summer, but at last report had not made definite plans for a regular pastorate.

Spencer, Rev. Charles M. — 24 Ormidale Terrace, Edinburgh, Scotland. Mr. Spencer sailed in September for a year of study in Edinburgh, Scotland, and reports that he is well begun on his graduate study in theology at New College, University of Edinburgh.

Thompson, Rev. Harold L. — 2516 Thomas Ave., Dallas 4, Texas. Mr. Thompson is division secretary of the American Bible Society, covering the south-western area of Kansas, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, and Texas.

Thompson, Rev. E. Louvane — R. 2, Amherst, Ohio. Mr. Thompson is continuing as pastor of the Henrietta Methodist Church.

MASTER OF ARTS

Ting, Simon — 1026 Sanchez Ext., Manila, Philippine Islands. Mr. Ting is Dean of Students in Chia-Nan Chinese School of the Chinese Church and is contributing editor for "Living Water" Quarterly, a religious journal published in Chinese.

MASTER OF SACRED THEOLOGY

Heimbeck, Rev. A. Willard — 336 E. Tulane Rd., Columbus 2, Ohio. Mr. Heimbeck is continuing as pastor of the Crestview Presbyterian Church in Columbus. In addition, this year he is teaching a course in introductory philosophy on Thursday evenings at Franklin University, the YMCA junior college in Columbus.

Jones, Rev. Major J. — 1003 Palmetto Ave., Atlanta, Ga. Since 1947, Mr. Jones has been executive secretary of the board of education in Atlanta and central Alabama conferences of the Methodist Church.

McAvoy, Rev. Hubert J. W. — 92 McNaughton St., Galt, Ont., Canada. Mr. McAvoy is minister of the United Church of Canada at Galt and is also studying at Emmanuel College in Toronto.

For Christmas

Send the Victor Album of Oberlin Songs

THREE
NON-BREAKABLE RECORDINGS
OF YOUR FAVORITE OBERLIN
SONGS PERFORMED BY OBERLIN STUDENTS

$4.42 Each in Ohio
$4.30 Each Outside Ohio

Send Order With

Check or Money Order To:

OBERLIN SONGS
c/o ALUMNI ASSOCIATION
MEN'S BUILDING
OBERLIN, OHIO

The Girls' Collegiate School of Claremont, California

Thorough college preparation and general courses: art, music, drama. Small classes. Healthful outdoor life. Tennis . . . Riding . . . Swimming

Write for Information

MARY A. EDWARDS . . . Oberlin
MURIEL SALT . . . Univ. of Toronto
1102 Amherst Ave., Claremont, Cal.
Meadowlark School for Grades 2-6

IVES and SMITH

Rexall Drugs

A Prescription Drug Store

Since 1904

TELEPHONE 80

Dudley A. Wood

Florist

Florist Telegraph Delivery

Oberlin Inn Bldg.

Tel. 61

THE T. O. MURPHY CO.

PLUMBING AND HEATING
CONTRACTORS

OBERLIN, OHIO

Sterling

Lindner

Davis

CLEVELAND, OHIO

nce again

S-L-D invites you to enjoy a Cleveland Christmas tradition

THE STERLING TREE

Our famous tree is robed in radiance for another holiday season. Our bigger-than-ever Santaland on the Street Floor of Sterling Court is a child's dream-come-true of Christmas enchantment. And throughout our store an array of gifts for everyone makes S-L-D Cleveland's most fabulous one-stop, gift shopping center. Come soon, you will understand why this year as always . . .

a gift from S-L-D means more.